Bishop John P. Newman, D.D., LL.D.

(Abridged from the obituary read before the New York Conference, April, 1900.)

JOHN PHILIP NEWMAN was born in Leonard Street, New York city, September 1, 1826, and passed to immortality from Saratoga Springs, July 5, 1899. He came of good German ancestry—his name being originally spelled N-e-u-m-a-n-n—and possessed many of the best characteristics of that magnificent race which wrested its home land from the German Ocean and its liberties from the unspeakable tyranny of Alva and Philip II. His mother was born in Baltimore, Md., of French ancestry. His parents were intelligent, thrifty, and pious. They attended the Dutch Church, and in it he was reared. He entered school at an early age. His father died when he was a lad of eight. Not long before his death he rode from Murray Hill to Second Street Church. While driving down Second Avenue and crossing Seventh Street, he said: "There is the place where a stranger said to me one evening, 'Young man, God wants your heart!' Two weeks later, in another part of the city, and about the same time of day, this same tall, delicate-looking man handed me a paper, and was gone like a specter. On the paper was written, 'Young man, God wants your heart!'" Two weeks after this, when passing the old Norfolk Street Church, he went in and a Christian woman led him to the altar and to Jesus. At once he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church.

When he was nineteen his steps were turned toward Cazenovia Seminary. He entered with avidity upon his studies, but was compelled to teach a part of the time to pay his way. He surprised his teachers by asking them to pray with him when he began his student life. Invitations came to supply pulpits, and usually revivals followed his ministrations when he could tarry for a few days or weeks. In a certain neighborhood where he had labored for three weeks, many confessing Christ, a brother proposed that a collection be taken for the young preacher. Thirty-eight pennies were passed over to him with the remark, "This will help you some." "Is it possible," thought he, "that this is the measure of secular remuneration I am to receive from the people for my spiritual services?" He was discouraged. "I will not give my life to the ministry, but to my country," he said. His horse was turned toward West Point. "I will be a soldier, and serve my country." He had not gone far when a farmer met him and said, "Are you the young man who has been holding meetings in the adjoining town?" "Yes." "Well, we want you here. You must begin right away." He did begin right away, and many professed conversion. He was a beautiful singer, a vehement and mighty exhorter, in those early days. He was turned aside from seeking a college training, presiding elders who needed a supply persuading him to enter the work at once. One of his early stations was at Fort Plain Seminary, where Dr. James E. Latimer was principal. From this successful teacher he derived much inspiration, and a mutual friendship of no ordinary kind continued through their lives.

Admitted on trial in the Oneida Conference when twenty-two years of age, he served successively Perryville, Canastota, Hamilton, Cherry Valley, and Fort Plain. Transferred to the Troy Conference in 1856, he was stationed at Amsterdam, and later at Garrettson Church in Albany. His preaching attracted the people of all denominations, and his church was crowded. When thirty-two years of age he was transferred to the New York Conference, and stationed at Bedford Street in New York city. Washington Square also enjoyed his ministrations as preacher and pastor. In both of these pastorates he was preeminently successful, crowded congregations waiting on his ministry. In 1859 he traveled through Europe and Asia, and wrote From Dan to Beersheba, a book now in the Conference course of study. Bishop Ames, that sagacious ecclesiastical statesman, in 1864 sent him to New Orleans to organize our work in the Gulf States. In this difficult field his ability, heroism, patriotism, and loyalty to the Church became conspicuous. Here he was minister, founder and editor of the Southwestern Christian Advocate, establishing an asylum for orphans and founding a university. Here also he gained that powerful influence over "our brothers in black" which never was lost. He was sent to Washington in 1869 to establish the Metropolitan Church. His fame as a preacher and patriot preceded him to Washington, where it became national. He served that church for three terms, and was four times elected to the chaplaincy of the United States Senate. Here his pulpit became the dominant center of religious appeal to a large body of congressmen, senators, and government officials. The friendship that had arisen between President Grant and himself culminated on Mount McGregor, where the dying warrior received the sacrament of Christian baptism from Dr. Newman's hands. General Grant's funeral panegyric was also pronounced by him, and he rode with uncovered head for hours in the great procession to Grant's tomb.

When it was learned that he purposed making a tour around the world, in 1873, President Grant appointed him inspector of consulates. His reports are said to be most valuable for completeness, knowledge, and authority. He was a delegate in 1881 to the Ecumenical Conference in London. Here he read an essay on "Scriptural Holiness." This production, it is said, "marked the highest plane attained by him as a writer." It made a profound impression. "Imbued with the theme, impressed by the grandeur of the occasion, and thrilled by the knowledge that where he stood Wesley had preached Christian perfection, his noble appearance and a voice modulated by an influence higher and deeper than art made a presentation not to be forgotten." He was a member of the General Conference in 1868, 1876, and 1880. In 1880 he was elected a member of the Archæological Society of London. He received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Rochester University, and Doctor of Laws from Grant Memorial University. He was a member of the Cape May Commission to compose the difficulties between the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and our own Church. He was acting pastor of the Madison Avenue Congregational Church, New York city, for two years, but his love for Methodism would not allow him to leave the Church. The years spent here he believed to be as fruitful of blessing as any in his ministry.

He was not a member of the General Conference in 1888, but such was his brilliant record of service that on the fourteenth ballot, by a more than two thirds vote, he was chosen a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He had a unique and striking presence. Like one of the pillars of Hiram, he was of great height and symmetry, and "upon the top of the pillars was lily work." Strength and beauty were happily blended in him. He was a hard worker. A layman with whom he boarded fifty years ago predicted, "Brother Newman will succeed, for he is pious and studious." Cecil said of Sir Walter Raleigh, "I know that he can toil terribly." Newman would not have been what he was unless he had "toiled terribly." Hence came the style so impressive, the voice so persuasive, and the wide range of knowledge. He was outspoken. He did not watch the weather-vane of popular opinion before deciding to speak. It may be safely assumed that the men with whom he associated in Washington took him by measurement as a peer, and not by sufferance as a convenience. Such courtliness as his never went fawning at the White House or Senate chamber. He was distinguished as a world-wide traveler. He had sailed all seas and familiarized himself with all peoples. Among his published works are, From Dan to Beersheba, The Thrones and Palaces of Babylon and Nineveh, Christianity Triumphant, America for Americans, The Supremacy of Law, and St. John, the Prisoner of Patmos. Several of these books have had a wide sale; they all bear the stamp of his genius and felicity as a writer. On his last book, which is entitled Conversations with Christ, he was working up to within a few weeks of his departure. He had much of the forensic power of Demosthenes, united with the rhetorical finish of Cicero. He combined the erudition of a Gladstone with the grace of a Chesterfield. Those who heard his opening sermon at the Ecumenical Conference in Washington in 1891 will never forget the discourse. His hearers all felt that there was another "man sent from God, whose name was John." The venerated Dr. William Arthur, at the close of the sermon, took him by the hand, his eyes filled with tears, and said with emotion, "'Now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace: for mine eyes have seen thy salvation.'" He was a true patriot, always found on the side of truth and righteousness. He loved his country, and believed in the people. His influence with public men was remarkable. His personal appeal to one of the most widely known public officials instantly induced him to abandon his dissipated life. His agency in securing the public profession of the Christian faith by a Chief Justice of the United States has been frequently told. He honored the Church, and not a few who bear national honors respect Methodism because he interpreted it to them. There was no commanding moral issue that lacked his championship. He often said, "I am a man of the world." He understood man, and looked out on the phenomena of life with a wisdom acquired by long study and profound observation. He combined in a rare degree the qualities of student, orator, bishop, and man of affairs. His written works were sufficient to distinguish him; his orations were the productions of a cultured genius; his sermons exhibited a great preacher and an ecclesiastical statesman; and his achievements in the North and South were remarkable for their insight.

He was a living exponent of Emerson's "over-soul," and had a genius for making friends. He loved Methodist preachers, and was given to loving ministries and sweet charities. Many a poor preacher will remember him only to bless him. He gave to Drew Theological Seminary $25,000, half of his estate, the interest of which was to be used in assisting struggling students. He called such his "boys," who would preach the Gospel long after he had passed to higher service. He gave to Lincoln University, Nebraska, $2,000; to Grant University, $1,000; to Cazenovia Seminary and Troy Conference Academy, $1,000 each. He gave $3,500 to one church, $1,000 to another, and large amounts for other Church purposes. Elevation did not spoil him. He was the same true brother, and never felt ashamed to be called a Methodist preacher. A friend says: "I shall never forget a month or more spent with him in a trip to the Rocky Mountains, just after the closing of his pastorate in the Congregational Church in New York city. We visited many cities, attending several conventions, and meeting many. As the opportunity offered he would say, 'Come, let us go to the class meeting.' Here he uncovered his heart. A testimony given by him in Denver at one of these meetings, on the all-night prayers of Jesus when alone with the Father, concluding with a personal application, thrilled the people, and is as fresh in my memory as though given this morning. . . . His moral grandeur towered above earthly measurements. Was there ever a minister who better than he could read the Holy Scriptures, giving the sense, and then leading in family prayer, talking to God, and talking to God so that the family felt as though they had attended divine service? He was my guest for a week, more than a year ago. One forenoon we read carefully the twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth, and seventeenth chapters of John's gospel. He developed the thought of the personal faith and feelings of Jesus as shadowed forth by his coming 'decease.' Those were holy hours. The emphasis still lingers that he put on the words, 'Now is my soul troubled; and what shall I say?' 'Shall I say, "Father, save me from this hour?" No, I will not say that.' Then he went on in his own quiet, beautiful way, saying that every follower of Jesus must in some sense, and in some experiences, lead a life of solitariness, a life of loneliness, a life of suffering; that death was not a wall, but a door leading straight to the 'house of many mansions;' therefore the heart should never be 'troubled.' That there was a delicate though unexpressed application of his thought to himself, then weak and broken, I felt and believed. It was a relief to say, 'Bishop, if you had to live your life over, would you make any considerable change?' His answer came slowly, with full emphasis, 'I would be less ambitious, and seek to be a better man.'"

He believed in the Bible as the word of God. He believed in its prophecies and promises, in the miracles of the book, and not simply in the one great miracle of the resurrection of our Lord. He believed in the Old and the New Testaments, and that one is the interpreter of the other. He believed that a profound sense of sin has dropped out of modern society, and that much of the higher criticism has its origin in a lack of the knowledge of what Henry Drummond calls "the power, the stain, and the guilt of sin." He tried to show that law, government, society, education, art, ethical culture, charity, song—all desirable in their way—could not wrench a sinner away from his sins, but that Christ, and Christ crucified, was the wisdom of God and the power of God, that he, and he only, is the world's Saviour. There was no Scripture that he more delighted to emphasize than Christ's own words, "I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance." At high noon on July 5 the soul of John Philip Newman "crossed the bar" and met its Pilot "face to face." The bells that tolled his funeral, as Bishop Warren has said, were heard around the world.

OBITUARIES.

New York Conference.

James Yeomans Bates, D.D., was born in Andes, N. Y., May 31, 1831, and died in Morris Heights, in the city of New York, May 12, 1899. His ancestors were Scotch, and of the Presbyterian faith. From them he inherited those sterling qualities which gave such stability to his character. When about seventeen his aunt, who had broken from the traditions of her Presbyterian family and had become a Methodist, took him to a camp meeting held near Downsville, Delaware County. Under the fervent preaching and appeals his heart was touched. He yielded himself to his convictions, and was blessedly converted. Almost immediately there followed a persuasion that he was called to the ministry. Within a short time he entered the New York Conference Seminary at Charlotteville, where he quickly took first rank as a public speaker, and especially as a debater. His manly character was recognized throughout the school, then numbering nearly a thousand pupils. On March 14, 1855, he married Miss Amanda Dann, of Downsville, N. Y., who still survives him. In May, 1855, he was admitted to the New York Conference. The record of his appointments is as follows: Tyringham, Mellenville, Stockport and Claverack, East Chatham and Red Rock, Pine's Bridge, St. Paul's, Peekskill; Matteawan, St. James, Kingston; Rondout, Newburgh District, Memorial, White Plains; Sing Sing, St. Paul's, Tarrytown; Dobbs Ferry, Tremont, Church of the Saviour, New York; Tuckahoe, Morris Heights, New York. Nature endowed him with a fine personal presence. Early in life his hair began to turn gray, which gave him a dignity beyond his years—a quality that deepened as his years grew upon him. To this was added a countenance of great benignity, which made men feel that behind it was a true and kindly soul. He was a preacher of a high order. His sermons were the product of careful study and a high sense of his exalted responsibility. In every charge the truth, as he preached it, made many conspicuous conquests and the spiritual life of good people was greatly deepened. In pastoral labors he was abundant, and in every charge he served his name is "like ointment poured forth." In the Conference and in the local churches few important committees or delicate trusts were thought complete without his presence or membership. Every charge he served felt the touch of his wisdom. New church edifices were built, new parsonages supplanted old ones, and old ones were radically changed for the better. Through his untiring efforts the church at Claverack was built when the task seemed well-nigh impossible. East Chatham is indebted to him for its parsonage. St. Paul's, Peekskill, a credit to Methodism, was built and dedicated during his pastorate. At North Tarrytown the lot on which the present parsonage stands was purchased under his guidance, and the house then standing upon it was remodeled. At Matteawan a house was bought and reconstructed for the pastor's home. His last work of this kind was the erection of the parsonage at Morris Heights. His skill in raising money for such purposes was almost phenomenal, and was largely the result of his manly character, which everywhere won the confidence of the community. He was a fine type of Methodist preacher who did his work without complaint, won souls to his Master, built up the cause at every point where he touched it, and walked in garments unspotted from the world. In his character were combined devotion, sagacity, and efficiency, interwoven with a modesty as beautiful as it is rare. He was a member of the General Conference of 1876. Syracuse University conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1897. The closing of his life was sudden and startling. He had returned to Morris Heights, at about ten o'clock in the evening, from a social visit with friends in town. Soon after retiring he was stricken with death, and departed to his eternal home before midnight of May 12. An unfinished sermon lay upon the table of his study. Its text was significant, "Received up into glory." No words could more fittingly express the judgment of his brethren as to what the sudden call meant for him. Where else could such a man be received but "into glory?" His body rests in the beautiful Wyltwich Cemetery in the city of Kingston.

Thomas Kay Lodge was born in Almondbury, Yorkshire, England, December 1, 1819. He was of Methodist ancestry. Some of the early preachers held regular services at the home of his grandmother. Before he was nineteen he was soundly converted and enrolled as a member of "the society." He early received a local preacher's license, was placed on "the plan," and began to preach every Sabbath. In 1842 he came to America, and was heartily received in the city of Poughkeepsie. His zeal and ability were readily recognized, and the presiding elder sent him to the Canaan Circuit. At the New York Conference of 1843 he was received on trial, and appointed to Richmond and Stockbridge. In 1844 he served Norfolk; in 1845, Glenham. In 1846 he was at North East, and in 1847-48 at Montgomery. About 1849 he was transferred to the Troy Conference, and labored most acceptably there for two years. In 1852 he returned to the New York Conference and was stationed in Hudson during that and the following year. Afterward he was pastor in Catskill and Sandy Plains, Dutchess, New Castle, Peekskill, Twenty-fourth Street, New York; St. John's, in the same city; Dobbs Ferry, Morrisania, Matteawan, Washington Heights, Twenty-fourth Street, New York, for the second time; Washington Heights again; First Church, White Plains; Woodlawn, Grace Church, Perry Street, Franklin Street. In 1889-91 he was pastor at Ardsley. In 1892, after a full half century's faithful service in the itinerancy, besides the earlier labors performed across the sea, he was voted a superannuated relation. He never lost his love for his calling, and almost with his dying breath was longing for other opportunities to proclaim the unsearchable riches of Christ. On March 4, 1846, he married Miss Marinda A. Pettee, in Richmond, Mass. Three daughters were permitted to minister to their father and mother until their days on the earth were numbered. His widow survived him but about ten months. Side by side their bodies lie in the cemetery at Peekskill awaiting the resurrection. He was among the most amiable of men. He was a preacher of excellent ability, and always was listened to with profit as he unfolded the word of God. He left his charges better than he found them, if industry could accomplish the result. While ever seeking the highest interests of those committed to his care, he gave special attention to the material needs of his appointments. If a new church or parsonage was essential, or an old debt was in the way of prosperity, he was not sparing in the effort to promote the work of God in these ways; and his success, sometimes, was quite beyond what seemed possible. Many hearts beat with gratitude for these self-sacrificing efforts; and his crown of rejoicing will be well studded with stars because of many turned from sin to righteousness. On Tuesday, May 2, 1899, he fell asleep in Jesus at his temporary home in the city of New York.

Russel S. Scott was born in Dry Brook, N. Y., January 29, 1810, and died in Margaretville, N. Y., May 9, 1899. He was the only son of stanch Methodist parents, who were among the eight persons that constituted the first Methodist Episcopal church of Delaware County, N. Y., organized in 1800. His father was a local preacher, and served in that capacity for upward of twenty years. He was converted at nineteen, and the same year was received into the church. In 1833 he married Miss Julia Cluni, who died in 1890. Their son is a leading official in the church of Margaretville. He early felt called to the ministry, and prepared for that work by making use of such educational advantages as his means would permit. In 1838 he received a license to preach, and in 1840 joined the New York Conference, and was appointed to the Windham Circuit. His other appointments were as follows: Coeymans, Deposit, Kortright, Charlotte, Gilboa, Middletown, Jefferson, Andes and Bovina. These appointments were then entirely different from what they are at the present. All were circuits. And those, too, were the days of the horse and saddlebags. When our brother was appointed to the Deposit Circuit the charge comprised no less than twenty preaching places, and measured about sixty miles from one end to the other, thus involving a journey of one hundred and twenty miles around, which must be covered every four weeks. This same territory is now presided over by no less than eleven preachers, stationed on as many separate charges. In the light of these facts our brother stands with those who are styled the "heroes of the saddlebags." While on the Deposit Circuit he contracted the illness that prematurely ended his active ministerial life. In December, 1844, when the streams were high and full of ice, it became necessary for him to ford the Delaware in order to reach a stated appointment. His horse succeeded in crossing only by swimming, and he could not save himself from the chilling waters, and was drenched to the waist. Thus he contracted a cold which left him with lung troubles, on account of which he was compelled to ask for a supernumerary relation in 1855. He never again regained strength to enter the active work, and in 1861 was enrolled among the superannuates. Till his death, though always feeble, his zeal for the propagation of the Gospel kept him busy preaching whenever his health would permit; and to his efforts are largely due the founding of Methodism in the villages of Dry Brook and Arkville. He was firm in his convictions, preeminently scriptural, forcible in utterance, and judicious in his administrations. Many times the Spirit's power sealed his labors in the ingathering of precious souls. All of his appointments were such as called for hard work, but offered small financial returns; yet no preacher ever more willingly obeyed the call of the Church or went more gladly to labor for the Lord. His funeral was held in the church of Margaretville, where he had long been a faithful and welcome attendant. A large congregation came to drop a tear upon the bier of this most faithful minister and respected citizen. His spirit has gone to the God who gave it.

John LeGrand Ketcham was born of Christian parents, highly esteemed members of the Bedford Street Church, New York city, August 1, 1835. His father, John Ketcham, was for many years a class leader and member of the official board. In the public schools John received his early education. When nearly sixteen, while attending revival services in a Baptist church near by, he was happily converted, and soon after united with the Church of his parents. In his young manhood, being impressed that he must preach, he studiously prepared to obey, was licensed, and commenced his lifework at Brook Haven, L. I., under the presiding elder. Here, in April, 1865, he married Miss Maria Louise Brown, of Bellport. In 1868 he was received as a probationer in the New York Conference and stationed at Alligerville, and successively at Shokan, Downsville, Cairo, Ashland, High Hill, Gilboa, Charlotteville and South Wooster, Charlotteville, Glasco, Arena, and Olive. His fields of labor yielded a very meager support for his family of eight children; but however large the deficiency at the end of the year, he balanced the account with the statement to his officials that they had paid all they could for the services rendered. His communion with God in prayer was constant. In his study his hardest battles were fought; frequently whole nights were spent in prayerful preparation for the pulpit. Alone he wrestled with Greek and Hebrew until they became so familiar that the Scripture lessons at the family devotions and frequently in the pulpit were read from the original. To the sanctuary he always carried beaten oil. As a preacher from Sabbath to Sabbath he had but few superiors in his Conference. Humility was with him a cardinal virtue; the very lowest estimate he always placed upon his abilities and work. His benevolence was remarkable for one of his scanty means; appeals of want were never refused, even to the giving of the last loaf. The Five Points Mission and other similar institutions were long the recipients of his benevolence. One of his last acts was a contribution to the Porto Rico sufferers through The Christian Advocate. Never would he permit his name to be attached to the gift, but frequently a request for prayer in his behalf was added. No woman was more tender-hearted; no pang of hunger could induce him to take the life of a bird or other animal to appease it. On the Conference floor his voice was never heard in debate, but in some obscure corner he was an attentive listener. He ruled well his household. One of the daughters said, "Children never had a better father." His oft-repeated desire to depart without a lingering sickness was realized. On September 26, 1899, while on a visit to a former charge, and when reposing preparatory to preaching in the evening, with no serious premonitions, in a moment he was not, for God had taken him. So still was the approach of the great conqueror that his wife on entering the room found him, as she supposed, in peaceful slumber, but on approaching the couch was appalled to find that without the change of a feature he had passed into his last sleep. His funeral was largely attended in Olive, where he was pastor, and his body was borne to rest by weeping parishioners, who sorrowed most that they should no more see his face and hear his voice.

Edmund Lewis was born in Woodstock, N. Y., on November 6, 1835. His great-great-grandfather was a soldier in the Revolution, and was killed at Bunker Hill. His parents were prominent Methodists. He was converted when he was eighteen. At that time he was a school-teacher. Soon after uniting with the Church he entered Charlotteville Seminary. In 1859 he joined the New York Conference. In 1863 he was ordained an elder, and immediately located for the purpose of attending the Concord Institute in New Hampshire. While pursuing his studies there he served two charges in the New Hampshire Conference. In 1866 he was readmitted to the New York Conference. His ministerial record is as follows: Mongaup Valley, Bloomingburg; 1863, located; 1864, New Hampshire Conference, Hampton, Derry; 1866, New York Conference, New Paltz, Phillipsport, Fishkill Landing, Bedford, Katonah, Redding Church, Poughkeepsie; Goshen, Catskill, Rhinebeck, Cold Spring, Hudson, Wappinger's Falls, Thirty-fifth Street, New York; Ardsley and Wood Hill. After this long forty years of labor he fell asleep in the beautiful parsonage at Ardsley, on the evening of November 25, 1899. His funeral was held in the church at Ardsley, where he preached his last sermon, holding in his hand a withered leaf and quoting the words, "We all do fade as a leaf." He married in 1866 Miss Anna M. Requa, of Peekskill, N. Y. This wife and three children preceded him to the eternal home. In 1893 he married Mrs. Jennie Walsh Davidson, who survives him. He leaves two sons. His brother, B. N. Lewis, is an honored member of the New York Conference. He was a good man and true, and had marked success in all his charges. Though he had been on his last charge but eight months, he was very highly esteemed. He ranked far above the average in intellect, and of his piety and devotion there was no question. He served on the Conference Claimants Committee for many years, and was chairman of that committee at the last Conference. Often when a very difficult problem was before the committee he would suggest that all kneel down and pray for the aid of the Holy Spirit. When his last illness came he seemed to fully realize that his work was done. He faced death calmly, and gave directions about his affairs as though he were preparing to go on a pleasant journey.

Charles Haight Reynolds was born in Monticello, N. Y., February 22, 1842, and died in Golden's Bridge, N. Y., December 8, 1899. He was converted on the Mongaup Valley Charge in October, 1859. He attended school at Monticello Academy, and joined the New York Conference in 1866. On February 21, 1867, at Monticello, he married Miss Sarah Frances Van Inwegen, who survives with three sons and three daughters. After entering the ministry he took lessons in Latin, Greek, and Hebrew, and became very skillful in reading the Bible in the original, being also an exceedingly careful student in theology and general literature. He was an industrious, sweet-spirited, devout, modest, and hard-working man of God. Multitudes rise up to call him blessed, and to say with special emphasis that he was a good preacher, a faithful pastor, and in every sense an honest man. His fields of labor were as follows: Cannonsville, Pike Pond, Cannonsville, second time; Bridgeville and Sandburg, Woodstock, Phillipsport, Croton and Boscobel, Golden's Bridge and Cross River, Asbury, Tarrytown; Hancock, Pine Plains, Falls Village, Conn., Philmont, Highland, Golden's Bridge, second time. He fell asleep so quickly and unexpectedly that there are no last messages to record, but he has left to the Conference and his sorrowing family the legacy of a blameless life.

Ezra Brown Peirce was born in Fairfield, N. Y., December 22, 1831, and died in Copake, March 24, 1900. While yet a boy the family moved to Lorain County, O. He was converted at the age of thirteen, and during his entire life was a devout Christian. He was educated at the Fairfield and Charlotteville Seminaries, and was for some time a teacher in the Hudson River Institute, at Claverack. He united with the New York Conference in 1858, and filled the following appointments: Norfolk and Goshen, Milan, Croton, Davenport, Franklin, Jefferson, Bloomville, Bloomingburg, Eddyville, High Hills, Spencertown and Harlemville, Palenville and Asbury, Wing Station, Copake, Mount Zion, Pleasant Valley, Esopus; 1899, superannuated. He then purchased a cottage in Copake, where he had served a pastorate of five years, and a glad welcome was given him by the people. His sojourn in his little home was brief, the Saviour in his infinite wisdom soon transferring him to the house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. He married on August 15, 1860, Miss Adelaide Sparks, who, with two sons, survives him. He was simple in his tastes and open in his character. He did not covet high positions, but cheerfully accepted his appointments, and with consecration labored and prayed for abundant fruitage. He was thoroughly unselfish. To his family, to the Church, and to the community he gave himself, in imitation of his Master. He belonged to the common people. "We watched him;" "We feared he was overdoing;" "He worked for us, not for himself," are some of the testimonies borne by those who knew him best. As a preacher he faithfully presented the essential and practical truths of the Gospel. He never forgot his high calling in Christ Jesus, but made full proof of his ministry. In his last months he spent much time in prayer, and some of his public petitions are said to have been marvelous in power. His last sickness was brief but very painful. In the midst of his greatest suffering, when near the river, he looked up, and said, "Jesus is even more precious to me in sickness than in health." So he passed from earth to the palace of angels and God.

Northern New York Conference.

John N. Brown was born near Rutland, Vt., July 9, 1815. He married Eliza Ann Steadman, of Stokes, N. Y., January 1, 1845, who died in November, 1899. They are survived by one son and one daughter. He was educated in the public schools of Rutland, Vt., and studied in a theological seminary. He was licensed to exhort at Sheldon, Vt., at twenty-two, and eighteen months later received his license to preach. In 1839 he supplied the Luzerne Circuit; in 1840 the Wallingford Circuit; in 1841 he was returned to Luzerne Circuit; in 1842 he supplied at Cleveland, N. Y. In 1843 he joined the Black River Conference, and was successively appointed to Durhamville, Williamstown, Gouverneur and Edwards, Louisville and Massena, Chateaugay, Hammond, Edwards, Champion, Sandy Creek, Washingtonville, Vermilion, Brewerton, Trenton, Norway, Salmon River, Vienna, Collamer, Gilbert's Mills, Durhamville, Brocketts, Starkville, Cedar Lake, Ava, New London, Little Lakes. In 1880 he became superannuated and settled at Oneida, where he lived till about three years before his death, when he went to Utica and entered the Home for Aged Men and Couples. There he died September 29, 1899. He was honored by his Church and all who knew him. He rests from his labors, and his works follow him.

Aaron Johnson Cowles was born February 20, 1832, in Napoli, N. Y. When the call to preach came he "conferred not with flesh and blood," and counted everything loss for the ministry of Christ. The Holy Ghost made his heart flame like a furnace, and for twenty-one years he spent himself with a lavish hand. God both indorsed and endowed him. He was tenderness itself, had thorough business methods, was an ideal pastor, and his convictions, especially on temperance, were trumpet-tongued. His ministry had rarest fragrance. He never looked out for the chief places in the synagogue, but was consumed with the zeal of God's house. He was licensed to exhort August 6, 1866, and to preach April 13, 1867. He joined the Black River Conference in 1868. His appointments were: Parish, Mohawk, South Street, Utica; Carthage, Gouverneur, Sandy Creek, Ogdensburg. Here ended his active ministry. For ten years he was on the retired list. In 1892 he made his permanent residence in North Tonawanda, N. Y. Three years ago came a paralytic stroke, followed by partial recovery. His last absence from home was to enjoy a prayer meeting at the church. Soon after this the stroke came which signaled the end. When he came to the parting of the ways on September 30, 1899, his going was peaceful and blessed. A widow and daughter remain to mourn with many others the loss of this good man.

Othniel Holmes was born in Marcellus, N. Y., June 14, 1823, and died in Cedar Rapids, Ia., November 4, 1899. On Christmas Day, 1838, under the preaching of his father, in the village of Camden, he was converted. His college course was taken in Wesleyan University. After graduating with honors he taught in Falley Seminary, at Jordan, and at Naugatuck, Conn. In 1854 he was received on trial in the old Black River Conference, in the same church where he was converted a little over fifteen years before. He had no easy charges, and asked for no preferment. He went where he was sent, to do his best for God and the Church. His successive appointments were: Trenton, Cape Vincent, Ohio, New Bremen, Mannsville, De Kalb, Buck's Bridge, Waddington, De Kalb, second time; Richville, Edwards, Russell, Steuben, Trenton, Vernon, Cold Brook and Russia, Starkville and Van Hornsville, Norway and Gray. In 1889 he retired from active service, and because of impaired health removed to Iowa. In the second year of his ministry he married Miss Mary Ann Scott, at Rome, N. Y., who survives him with two children. He was always a studious man. Familiar with the languages in which the Holy Scriptures were first written, it was his delight to seek out the deeper meanings in God's word. He was pure-minded, unambitious for place, wise in administration, tender of the erring, courteous to all. He was an earnest and scholarly preacher of the word. About three weeks before his end came he planned a visit to his son in Cedar Rapids. There he grew gradually worse, and passed away in the full assurance of faith. His life was a benediction; his memory is precious; he sleeps the sleep of the just.

Adma G. Markham was born in West Turin, N. Y., August 23, 1835. He was converted at eighteen, while a student in Whitesboro Seminary. He graduated in 1858, and entered Hamilton College, but was not able to complete the course. He was licensed to exhort September 1, 1858, at Lee Center, and to preach April 7, 1860. He joined the old Black River Conference in 1860. He married Carrie D. Nesbit, at Lee, N. Y., nearly forty years ago. With great acceptability he served the following charges: Waddington, Morristown, Hammond, De Kalb, Antwerp, Madrid, Richfield Springs, Westmoreland, Turin, St. Johnsville, East Hamilton, Sauquoit, Oriskany Falls, Cherry Valley, and Depauville. He was a sunlit, joyous Christian, such as the world greatly needs. God was pleased to bless his labors with a gracious revival on almost every charge. In 1899 he was sent to Depauville, where the parsonage was greatly improved. He gave to the Church all his energies with a glad heart, until pneumonia unexpectedly terminated his labors February 8, 1900. W. F. Markham, of the Northern New York Conference, is his brother. He was "a man full of faith and of the Holy Ghost."

Orra Squire was born in Richmond, N. Y., April 5, 1807, and died April 15, 1900, in Greencastle, Ind. After leaving the common school he attended the Middlebury Academy in Genesee County, and subsequently completed his education at Cazenovia Seminary, supporting himself by teaching while pursuing his studies. He was early converted and united with the Church, having been led to do this under the preaching of the talented Dr. Dempster. Afterward, feeling called to enter the ministry, he made strenuous efforts to fit himself for the work. He was licensed to exhort in 1828 at Rochester, N. Y., and to preach at Hannibalville, N. Y., in 1831. He joined the Oneida Conference in 1834. His several appointments were: Malone, Canton, Theresa, Cape Vincent, De Kalb, Gouverneur, Clayton, Lee, North Manlius, Williamstown, Mexico, Clay, Hannibal, Palermo, Huron, Ohio Mission, Middleville, Fairfield, Frankfort, and Ilion. In 1860 he became superannuated, and continued in this relation till his decease. In 1837 he married Erretta Wheeler, at Boonville, N. Y. One son, Hon. W. C. Squire, and three daughters remain. In 1860 he removed to Clyde, O., and resided there till 1893, when he removed to Greencastle, Ind., and spent his time in the homes of his daughters. He was a good man and a good preacher; he possessed a sweet spirit; he was earnest, painstaking, and wholly devoted to his work. During his last few years he became almost blind, but was ever cheerful under his disabilities. In fact, his life was one long, sweet sermon. He died, without a struggle, on Easter Sunday.

Philadelphia Conference.

George S. Broadbent was born in Rock Hill, Pa., December 12, 1839, and died in Cheltenham, Pa., September 25, 1899. He was converted when fourteen years of age, and immediately joined the Church at Morgantown, Pa. At sixteen he taught school near his home. At eighteen he made his first public address at what is now Spring City. Exhorter's and local preacher's licenses were given to him by the Quarterly Conference of Evansburg. In 1861 he was employed on the Monroe Circuit, and in 1862 as a supply on Tannersville Circuit. He then entered Dickinson Seminary, and subsequently Dickinson College, from which he graduated with honor in 1867. In 1863 he enlisted in the service of his country, and continued therein about two months. His clean life, his manliness, and his fidelity to duty won the admiration of all. Admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference in 1867, he was successively stationed at Cressona, Bethlehem, Ridge Avenue, Roxboro; Downingtown, Hestonville, Pottstown, Eleventh Street, Philadelphia; Cookman Church, Philadelphia; Tacony, South Easton, Pen Argyl, Conshohocken, Ridge Avenue, Roxboro, second time); and Cheltenham. In all these charges he was honored of God, loved by the people, and secured many seals to his ministry. Failing health led him to seek rest abroad, but all in vain. He returned home hopefully, but his earthly mission closed in September. His life was one grand endeavor to please God. If position came, he accepted it as of God and recognized it as an opportunity for greater good. He looked at Christ with longing aspirations to be like him; he looked with such intensity that the impress of the divine was upon him. Anointed with a holy anointing and sealed by the Spirit, he marched in the grand procession of the saintly, counting not his life dear unto himself. His preaching was the outgrowth of a conviction of the divinity of the Lord, and that salvation could only come through him. A wife and six children survive. Thus lived and died as good a man as ever breathed in this world. He looks into the face of his God and joins the chorus of the redeemed.

Abel Howard was born December 3, 1824, in Ashton-under-Lyne, Lancashire, England, where in early life he labored in a cotton factory. His parents were devout Methodists. At fourteen he was converted and became a member of the Church. In his twentieth year he landed in America, and secured a position as bookkeeper in Pottsville. In less than a year his high moral character and superior educational qualifications led the citizens to persuade him to become a teacher of the public school. As a local preacher he frequently discoursed with such acceptability that the Church called him to larger labor. When the presiding elder approached him on the subject his reply was, "If the Church needs my service she shall have it." In 1852 he joined the Philadelphia Conference, and was assigned to Brandywine Circuit, only relaxing his labors when, after twenty-eight years, failing health compelled him to ask for a supernumerary relation. He served the following appointments: Oxford, Strasburg, Cochranville, Morrisville, Wiconisco, Mount Joy, Dauphin, Darby, Still Pond, Millersburg, Harmer Hill, Milestown, Central, Roxboro; Crozierville, Epworth, South Chester, and Port Carbon. In 1880, having taken a supernumerary relation, he moved to South Chester, serving Epworth and Darby until 1884, when he became superannuated. He was an instructive and impressive preacher. Many whom he led to Christ will share in the resurrection of the just, and be his crown of rejoicing in the presence of the Lord. He possessed qualities of mind and heart worthy of loving remembrance. In 1861 he married Charlotte Houghendoubler, of Mount Joy, who died in triumph July 21, 1889. For a year or more previous to his departure he suffered at times great pain. While passing through these ordeals resignation and Christian fortitude marked his bearing. On July 21, 1899, while his daughter, Lottie Howard, his only near relative this side of the Atlantic, tearfully watched the ebbing tide of life, he passed to his rest.

Richard Kaines was born in London, England, August 3, 1846, his father being a minister and for twenty years the chaplain of a London hospital. One of his brothers was the author of various standard scientific works, and another a prominent member of the United Methodist body. He came to the United States in 1869, and soon afterward joined the Philadelphia Conference, having already, as a local preacher, served several charges in England with great acceptability. His successive appointments were: Llewellyn, Tremont, Bainbridge, Hummelstown, Charlestown, Oxford, Tobyhanna, Port Carbon, Dauphin, Girardville, and Lykens. In 1874 he married Miss Susan Umholston, of Tremont, who, with two children, remains. For some weeks before his death he knew that the messenger was at the door, but kept the secret lest it might pain the family he so tenderly loved. A sweet serenity settled upon him, and for five weeks before his death he lived in an atmosphere of heavenly bliss, repeatedly breaking forth in hymns of joy. On October 7, 1899, he passed to his reward. The Roman Catholic priest in Lykens was his friend, and visited him during his sickness, with the other ministers in the town. The latter also participated in his funeral services. He was an ardent student, a wise expounder of the truth, a devoted servant of Jesus Christ, a faithful pastor, and an honored citizen.

Samuel T. Kemble was born in Paschalville, Philadelphia, March 5, 1836, and died in Palmyra, N. J., on the anniversary of his birth, March 5, 1900. He was well born. His father was an acceptable and intelligent local preacher. He was converted, in his boyhood, at Cochranville, and united with the Church at that place. In 1857 he was colporteur of the Methodist Episcopal Tract Society of the Philadelphia Conference, and accomplished great good in this work. The same year he united by letter with the Fifth Street Church, Philadelphia. On November 27, 1858, he received license to preach by the Fifth Street Quarterly Conference, and in 1859 was received on trial in the Philadelphia Conference. He served the following charges: New Castle, Montgomery Square, Birdsboro, Lykens and Wiconisco, Dauphin, Middletown, Bethlehem, Hatboro, Sanctuary, Milestown, Chestnut Hill, Orthodox, Frankford; Front Street, Philadelphia; Holmesburg, Bristol, Tasker, Woodland Avenue, and Wesley. In these charges he was eminently successful as a soul-winner. Under his wise leadership and tireless labors the congregations were always increased, benevolences advanced, and the church left more healthy and vigorous as the result of his pastorate. He excelled as a careful financier. The beautiful and commodious church at Bethlehem was built under his supervision; also the parsonages at Milestown and Chestnut Hill. As a preacher he was clear, strong, scriptural, and entertaining. Sometimes he would enliven his sermon with song, and often, under his magnetic presentations of the truth, his congregations were melted to tears or lifted to rapture. Few excelled him in revival work, and few men have ever toiled more faithfully in the pastorate. On November 6, 1862, he married Miss Sophie Baker, of Philadelphia, who, with three sons, remains. One of them is C. S. Kemble, of the Newark Conference. He had no fear of death when he came to look it in the face. His health was firm till within ten days of his departure. He had gathered round him the comforts of a home which he hoped to enjoy for years. There was, however, no word of murmuring. He was fully ready. Peacefully he passed from earth to heaven.

John F. Meredith was born in Greensboro, Md., June 27, 1827, and died in Darby, Pa., January 29, 1900. His education was received in the public schools, in an academy, and under the direction of a private teacher. He was converted in his sixteenth year in Lee's Chapel, Denton Circuit, Maryland, and immediately united with the Church. He was licensed to exhort and to preach in 1850, and the same year was sent as a supply to Schuylkill Haven. He joined the Philadelphia Conference in 1851, and successively served Tremont, Phœnixville Circuit, Pottstown, Oak Street, Norristown; Port Carbon, Waynesburg, Minersville, chaplain in the United States Army, St. Peter's, Reading; Ebenezer, Reading; Front Street, Lykens, Stroudsburg, Tamaqua, Hancock Street, Philadelphia; Richmond; the Northwest District; Memorial, Philadelphia; Shenandoah, Snyder Avenue, Philadelphia; and Darby. He gave himself fully to his work, and secured the respect of those with whom he was associated. Believing in the radicalism of the Gospel, he was a pronounced prohibitionist and abolitionist. He never compromised or made concessions to the enemy of right. His strict adherence to the principles he espoused sometimes brought him into antagonism with those of contrary mind, but he courageously contended for the right. As a preacher he was clear, earnest, and instructive. As a savior of men he could not be content unless he had success in his work, and often his labors were crowned with gracious revivals. His last sickness covered about two weeks, and his death was a surprise, for he was thought to be on the way to recovery. But he was ready to die. No one who knew him doubts that a human spirit washed in Jesus's blood went home to God when he died. He has left a wife, two daughters, and three sons. A brave soldier has conquered his last foe and taken the spoils of victory.

Mahlon Hicks Sisty was born in Salem, Pa., December 17, 1815, and died in Dunellen, N. J., February 7, 1900. When fourteen years of age he was converted and united with the Church at Berwick, Pa. At fifteen he entered upon the career of a printer, working in the office of his brother, then editor and proprietor of the Mauch Chunk Courier. In 1838 he resigned his position, and, heeding what he regarded as the call of God, became junior preacher on the Bustleton Charge. In 1839 he joined the Philadelphia Conference, and was appointed junior preacher on the Doylestown and Allentown Mission. He then successively served Wesley Chapel and Fairmount, Philadelphia; Cherry Valley Circuit, Richmond Circuit, Germantown, Lehman's Chapel, Stroudsburg, Newtown, Bristol, First Church, Norristown; Broad Street, Philadelphia; Front Street, Siloam, Philadelphia; Canadensis, New Castle, Del.; Lebanon, Siloam, second time; Scott Church, Darby, Front Street, second time; Aramingo, Yardley, Langhorne, Emilie and Fallsington. In 1885 his relation was changed to that of supernumerary, and in 1888, at his own request, he was made superannuated. During the years of his noneffective relation he resided at Langhorne until 1894, when he moved to Dunellen, N. J. His fields required a large expenditure of vital energy for their successful cultivation. Yet he possessed the gifts and graces which made him eminently successful through his long career. His energy was unflagging and his zeal intense. He had a passion for souls, and was an evangelist of more than ordinary ability. Thousands of souls were brought to the knowledge of salvation through his ministry. Simpson Grove Camp Meeting was established largely through his influence and energy, and has been honored of God in the conversion of hundreds of precious souls. During his retirement from the active ministry he was at times a great sufferer. Nervous exhaustion, attended with vertigo, prevented correspondence with his brethren, and his home, chosen for family and economic considerations, was so remote from the scenes of his earlier years that he could not frequently visit them. Yet he maintained a cheerful, trusting spirit. Christ was all and in all to him, and he rejoiced in the blessed hope of happiness beyond this vale of sorrow and sin. On the morning of February 7 he was without pain or any special indication of weakness, such as he had experienced for months, when in an instant the weary wheels of life stood still. A widow, two sons, and three daughters represent the surviving family. Absent from the body, he is present with his Lord.

John Thompson was born in Chichester, Pa., October 26, 1823. His parents were members of the Village Green Church, in which the mother was greatly respected for her earnest piety. During his early youth he labored upon the farm. He was, however, ambitious, and determined to prepare himself for the profession of teaching. By incessant toil he acquired the rudiments of an English education, and before his majority was appointed a public school teacher in his native county. He was converted on March 8, 1842, and united with the Church in Chester. In September, 1848, he was licensed to preach by the Chester Quarterly Conference. From this time he felt constrained to devote himself wholly to the ministry, and was assigned to Strasburg Circuit, where he labored successfully during the remainder of the Conference year. In 1849 he joined the Philadelphia Conference. On December 7, 1852, he married Miss Elizabeth C. Seal, of New London, Pa., who, with three daughters, remains. For twenty years he served with great faithfulness in the effective ministry. His appointments were: Delaware City, Cochranville, Oxford, Cohocksink, Philadelphia; North Philadelphia City Mission, Rising Sun, Hancock Street, Philadelphia; Oak Street, Norristown; and Central, Broad Street, St. Stephen's and Frankford, Philadelphia. At Oxford and St. Stephen's church edifices were built. In nearly all his churches debts were paid, revivals enjoyed, believers edified, and permanent progress made. Everywhere he was honored and loved. In 1869 he was compelled by temporary loss of voice to take a supernumerary relation. This was one of the severest trials of his life. But with entire resignation to the divine will, he laid down his sickle in midfield. After one year spent in Baltimore he was appointed dean of the Peirce School of Business in Philadelphia, and in this position, and as a lecturer on the staff of that institution, he remained until within three years of his death. He was also connected for many years with the management of the Christian Standard, of Philadelphia. He conducted a department of that journal devoted to the encouragement of the higher spiritual life, and his numerous contributions to it were as refreshing as the waters of a mountain spring. In 1867 he identified himself with the men who organized the "National Association for the Promotion of Holiness," and labored with them in the memorable summer meetings which they held for several years. He was the founder of the Mountain Lake Park Camp Meeting in Garrett County, Md., and for eighteen years personally conducted its religious services. And from his cottage on that beautiful ground his ripened and jubilant spirit ascended to heaven, August 3, 1899. Throughout his Conference and elsewhere he never wearied in assisting his brethren in revival meetings. His personal loveliness and his sweet enforcements of spiritual truth always gave him access to the hearts of men, and thousands of souls were through him made trophies of grace. His whole ministry was one triumphant campaign of salvation. For fifty years he was the St. John of his Conference. He had no enemies. Throughout his long life he was a consistent illustration of the highest graces of the Gospel ministry. His venerable form, his frank, kindly, yet always dignified manner, his sincere and sympathetic interest in men, and his unobtrusive but self-evident and positive piety won the affection of all. His preaching was direct and evangelical, his personal faith was immovable. He was a man of prayer, and had but one ideal. He walked with God, a radiant, triumphant soul, and the beauty of the Lord was upon him. When threatened with the loss of sight, during his latest years, he smilingly said, "I will be a happy blind man." As he wasted under the disease that demanded his life his spirit felt no fear. For months he suffered constantly, and at times severely, but his faith remained invincible. His sickroom was an antechamber of heaven, where God was present with his servant. Six weeks before his death he was removed to Mountain Lake Park. There the heavenly treasure more than filled the earthen vessel. In the noonday of the summer, embosomed in its friendly foliage, and surrounded by those whom he loved best, his soul heard the divine summons, and he became a saint immortal. The interment was in Woodlands Cemetery, Philadelphia.

Jacob Todd, D.D., was born in Cokesbury, N. J., October 22, 1838, and died in Philadelphia, Pa., Sabbath morning, May 28, 1899. At fourteen his family removed to Easton, Pa. His parents were of sterling worth and deep piety. Being the eldest son, he had to begin at an early age to work, but, being of a studious turn of mind, always found time for reading. Thus between hard work and hard study he passed his first twenty years, having, in the meantime, completed the course in the public schools of Easton. His conversion took place in his twentieth year in Easton. He at once united with the Church and began to be active in Christian work. Within a year after his conversion he was licensed to exhort. A few months later he became a supply on the Tannersville Circuit. Here he had three churches, and walked ten miles each Sabbath through the Pocono Mountains. This was to him a year of wonderful development and experience. At the end of the year he was admitted on probation in the Philadelphia Conference and appointed to Newtown Circuit. Here he attracted the attention of Bishop Simpson, who advised him to secure a college education. He therefore entered Dickinson College in 1863, completing the four years' course in three years. His course in college was one succession of triumphs. During a great revival he was the chosen and respected leader of the students. He filled the pulpit of the Lutheran church in Carlisle during a vacancy in the pastorate, and was invited to become their permanent pastor at a large salary. Graduating in a class of sixteen, he stood second. Ten years after graduation his alma mater conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity. After his graduation, in 1866, he was appointed to St. James Church, Olney, where he remained two years. In November, 1866, he married Miss Mary

D. Ellinger, of Newtown. After two years at Olney he was appointed to Fifth Street, Philadelphia. In 1871 he was transferred to the Wilmington Conference and stationed at Grace Church, Wilmington, where he remained two years. The first year was signalized by the canceling of a debt of nearly $45,000 on that church edifice. In 1873 he was retransferred to the Philadelphia Conference and appointed to Trinity Church, Philadelphia. In 1876 he was appointed to St. Stephen's Church, Germantown. Part of this year was spent in foreign travel. He next served Spring Garden Street, and then the Green Street Church. During this latter pastorate a debt of $15,000 remaining upon the property was liquidated. In 1883 he was transferred to the Newark Conference and stationed at St. Paul's, Newark. After an interval of thirteen years he was again appointed to Grace Church, Wilmington. After five years he was again transferred to the Philadelphia Conference, to serve Trinity Church, Philadelphia. At the close of a full pastorate he was again appointed to the Green Street Church in 1896. Although disease was slowly fastening itself upon him during more than three years of this pastorate, yet he was able, most of the time, to preach once a Sabbath, having an assistant to take the other work. A week before he died Bishop Foss prayed at his bedside, and repeated a part of the first chapter of 1 Peter. This was so sweet to him that, after the bishop had gone, he asked for the rereading of the chapter. With an unwavering faith in the Gospel he fell asleep in Jesus. He had, perhaps, an unparalleled record—that to three churches he was called the second time, giving to them more than twenty-one years of his life; and also in that more than twenty years of his ministry in Philadelphia were spent in virtually the same community. These facts speak volumes of his ability as a preacher and his acceptability as a man. A careful writer affirms that he had more ardent admirers and fewer critics than, perhaps, any other member of the Conference in his generation. In 1880 he was a member of the General Conference, and again in 1888. At the latter Conference he read the memoir of Bishop Simpson. In 1878 he went as fraternal delegate to the Canadian Methodist Church. In 1881 he was a delegate to the Ecumenical Conference in London, and also to the second Ecumenical Conference in Washington in 1891. His early sermons and addresses were marked by their affluence of brilliant rhetoric. One who heard him in that period of his life characterized his address as a cataract of eloquence. In his mature manhood his sermons and addresses exhibited him as a man of high intellectuality. Yet so clear and luminous was his language that even a child would be attracted by it. All his gifts and talents and wealth of learning were unreservedly consecrated to Christ. He exalted the pastorate, and could conceive of nothing higher than to be a herald of the Gospel. As a man, a brother, and a friend he was everything that could be desired. He had special charms which made his society a delight. Physically strong, intellectually majestic, religiously pure, his life and character will not soon be forgotten.

Robert Cooper Wood was born in Mantua Creek, N. J., May 9, 1840. He was converted March 6, 1855. Seven years later he was licensed to exhort, and in 1868 was licensed to preach. He was admitted to the Philadelphia Conference in 1869. On September 20, 1873, he married Miss Martha J. Wright, of Elkton, Md. His appointments were as follows: Village Green, Fulton, Kennett Square, Delaware Water Gap, Lumberville and Lahaska, Raubsville, Bird-in-Hand, Dauphin, Mount Nebo, Gilberton, Cedarville, East Stroudsburg, Mount Hope, Lansford, Hopewell and Hibernia. He was a man of singular purity and uprightness of character. His amiable disposition bound the hearts of the churches to him. His faith in God never wavered, and his testimonies always had in them notes of triumph. His ministry was characterized by conscientious pastoral supervision, edifying preaching, and faithful administration, and was marked by gracious revivals. On Easter morning, 1899, he was eager to deliver his message to his congregation. A hymn was sung, a lesson read, and when about to kneel in prayer he sank to the floor. He soon revived, but about 5 P. M. entered the heavenly life.

Elwood Craven Yerkes was born in Moreland Township, Pa., June 4, 1852, and died in Philadelphia, June 14, 1899. He was converted in his fifteenth year, in the Hatboro Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1872 he served the Attleboro Circuit as a supply. He entered the Philadelphia Conference in 1873, and filled the following appointments: Evansburg, Kennett Square, Upland, Jenkintown, Jarrettown, Georgetown and Gap, Millersburg, Belmont, Philadelphia; St. Paul's, Lancaster; Coatesville, Pen Argyl, Catasauqua, Messiah, Philadelphia. On November 19, 1873, he married Miss Abigail L. Hepburn. He was a man of pure motive, strong convictions, and unfailing courage. Thoroughly consecrated to the work of the Master, he counted it all joy to do and suffer the will of God. He was an exceptional pastor and a good preacher. In all his charges he commended by his example the truth he preached. His devotion to his work, with his deep piety and pure life, gained for him many jewels from all the walks of life. God permitted him to die in the harness. His passing away was beautiful in the faith he displayed. "No night in heaven" was the topic of the last sermon he preached. He is early crowned.

St. Louis Conference.

Jacob Miller was born in Bellefonte, Pa., December 11, 1826, and died at the home of his son near Kelleyville, Ind. Ter., April 16, 1899. When young he moved from Pennsylvania to Wisconsin. He was converted and joined the Church at Mount Vernon, Ia., in his twenty-eighth year. He obtained the greater part of his education at Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Ia., and Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ill. He entered the West Wisconsin Conference in 1859, and until impaired health and advanced age compelled him to stop from the work he was always at his post. In 1878 he became a member of the St. Louis Conference, in which he served the following charges: Oronogo, Buffalo, Marionville, Golden City, Mountain Grove, and Ava. Failing in health, he took a superannuated relation in 1892. On June 5, 1860, he married Lucretia E. Deniston, at Cadiz, Wis. Three daughters and one son are still living. He was unpretentious in manner and claims, was deeply pious, and served hard fields without complaint. He died in hope of a blessed immortality.

Cyrus Brough was born near Stahlstown, Pa., March 20, 1847, where he grew to manhood. He received from his Presbyterian father and his Methodist mother that firmness, fervor, and gentleness which were the distinguishing characteristics of his life. His spiritual birth was on February 5, 1870, and he was a spiritual child of the most sweeping revival that ever visited his native place. He united with the Church February 6, 1870. He secured his education in the public schools of his native place and at Scio, O., where he graduated in June, 1875. An exhorter's license was granted him February 4, 1875, and a local preacher's license at Harlem Springs, O., in June of the same year. From June, 1875, till September, 1877, he supplied under the presiding elder of the Steubenville District of the East Ohio Conference. In March, 1878, he united with the St. Louis Conference. His pastoral record is as follows: Carondelet, Sullivan, St. Louis, Water Tower, High Point, Dresden, Carondelet again, Crystal City, Graniteville, Cuba, East Joplin, Jasper, Conway. Because of failing health he was granted a superannuated relation in March, 1896. From that time he lived in St. Louis and conducted a fire insurance agency. He was a member of the Quarterly Conference of the Carondelet Church, beloved by all and deeply interested in the work of the Church. He married February 16, 1881, Miss Annie B. Barnum, of St. Louis. His death, which occurred May 8, 1899, was triumphant. To his pastor he said, "It is clear all along the line. I am resting by faith in Christ as my Saviour." He was a saintly soul, a wise counselor, a faithful friend. He was also a clear and fervent preacher, a diligent pastor, and a man of the noblest ideals.

William M. Beatty was born in Lewistown, Pa., July 6, 1848, and died in Marshall, Mo., of typhoid fever, September 17, 1899. He was converted and united with the Church at fourteen. Nearly twenty-five years ago he married Miss Nannie Greer, who survives him. He first studied to fit himself for a missionary to Africa, but failing health caused him to abandon this purpose. Next he entered business life in Pittsburg, Pa., where his health again failed. While in Pittsburg he paid special attention to young men. Of such he organized a large Bible class which he taught for eight years, regarding it ever after as one of the most important and profitable efforts of his life. After being duly licensed as exhorter and local preacher he joined the St. Louis Conference in 1887. He served the following charges: Eminence, Hartville, Mountain Grove, Mount Carmel, Springfield, Hume and Foster, Daily Chapel, Springfield; Windsor and Leeton, Marshall. When he was last appointed the people were discouraged and it looked as if the field might have to be abandoned. But he soon grasped the situation, and with much enthusiasm he laid plans for a new church, which was completed in about a year, at a cost of $11,000. But the effort proved too great for his frail body, and his spirit left it for one of the many mansions. His final illness lasted about a week, the sufferer being much of the time unconscious. In a lucid moment he said, "I have trusted Him here, and I can trust Him hereafter."

Henry M. Hackney was born August 22, 1849, in Oakfield, O., and died in Ashland, Neb., December 3, 1899. At nineteen he moved to Boscobel, Wis., and began the study of law. He graduated in the law school at Madison, Wis., and was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of the State at the age of twenty-one. He practiced law three years. In April, 1871, he married Miss Hattie Muffley. He was converted in a meeting held by his father in 1871. He at once felt it his duty to preach, gave up his law practice, and prepared to enter the ministry. He was admitted into the West Wisconsin Conference in 1875 and was stationed at Plainfield, then at Merrillan. Thence he was transferred to Santa Fe, N. Mex., and took charge of the English church. Here he was also appointed chaplain of the staff of Governor Sheldon. From Santa Fe he was transferred to the St. Louis Conference, and was stationed successively at Rich Hill, Independence, Appleton City, Clinton, Joplin, Kansas City, and Holden. At this last place he was taken sick, and asked for a supernumerary relation. He sought the best medical skill and the aid of Hot Springs, but to no avail. Though a great sufferer in body, he had a hope in Christ that girded him about as he went down to death. He was a man of pleasing address, a good speaker, a popular pastor, and one from whom there could reasonably have been expected many years of efficient service. But God ordered otherwise, and he faded as the untimely leaf.

Florida Conference.

Israel Moody was born in Camden County, Ga., November 29, 1843. He came to Florida in 1866, and was married to Julia C. Moody, December 24, 1867. He joined the Church in Alachua County. Having received a call to preach, he was given a local preacher's license, and served the church at New Bell. Having prepared for the ministry at Cookman Institute, he was appointed to Lone Star as his first charge. His second appointment was Wrightsville, where he built a church. His third appointment was Hibernia, whence he went to Sanderson, and there built a church. His next appointments were Lake City, Waldo, and New Smyrna. At the latter place he built a church. He was next sent to Tarpon Springs and Twin Lake. At the Conference of 1897, on account of poor health, he felt compelled to retire from active service, and received a supernumerary relation. He lingered for three years, being first taken with head troubles and growing worse until, on November 7, 1899, after four days of paralysis and unconsciousness, he fell asleep in Jesus.

Mississippi Conference.

Alfred B. Logan was admitted on trial in the Mississippi Conference in 1889. He served the following appointments faithfully and acceptably: Lauderdale, Shubuta Circuit, Enterprise Circuit, Shubuta, and Hattiesburg, where he died December 5, 1899. Before he passed away he said: "Tell all the brethren to meet me in heaven." He was a good preacher and an earnest worker, and was well beloved by all who knew him.

Henry M. Craft joined the Church in 1895 at Natchez, Miss. He served as a supply under the presiding elder until 1899, at Vicksburg. He was admitted on trial in the Mississippi Conference in 1899, and was assigned to the Clinton Circuit, where he grew sick. After four or five months of suffering he passed from labor to reward in the full triumphs of faith.

East Maine Conference.

Charles E. Springer was born in Lincoln, Me., and died in his cottage on the Northport Camp Ground, September 18, 1899. When in his eighteenth year, during the great revival in Gardiner, he was soundly converted, and in due time was baptized and received into the Church. He soon felt that God was calling him to the ministry, and at once entered upon preparatory study at the Litchfield Academy and Kent's Hill Seminary. In 1858 he offered himself for the work of the ministry, and spent a year as a supply under the presiding elder. In 1859 he was received as a probationer in the East Maine Conference, and successively served Montville, Orrington, Patten, Lincoln, Mattawamkeag and Winn, Dexter, Vassalboro, Wiscasset, Newport, Winterport, Pittsfield, and Clinton. In 1883 he was transferred to the Maine Conference, and was successively assigned to Oakland, Winthrop, Hallowell, Mechanic Falls, Livermore Falls, and Bowdoinham. In 1897 he was transferred back by request to the East Maine Conference, and was stationed at Newport, where twenty years before he closed a successful pastorate of three years. Here he was cordially received, and as usual was successful. The Church property was improved, and a revival resulted. In the midst of his abundant labors his health began to fail, but there was no apprehension of danger until late in the spring, when his condition became alarming, and he repaired to Northport. With characteristic cheerfulness he committed his case to God, and met his summons with composure. His end was peaceful. He was one of the truest and best of men —the very soul of honor and honesty. On all his charges he proved himself a man of God. He was a good preacher, was gifted in prayer and exhortation, and was a faithful pastor and sweet singer. In his early ministry he married Miss Rebecca Ayer, of Bangor. Measured by the standards of Christ, his was a great life. His reward is sure, not only in the hundreds of hearts he helped heavenward, but also in the approbation of his Lord.

Gustavus B. Chadwick was born in China, Me., July 24, 1832, and died in Damariscotta, Me., March 4, 1900. He was converted at the age of twenty, and at once joined the Church. He entered the East Maine Conference Seminary in 1853, and continued his studies there for three years, except as he came out in the winter months to teach. He finished his preparatory course at Waterville, Me., and entered Wesleyan University in 1857. After two years at the university he returned to Bucksport Seminary as a teacher of Latin and Greek, which position he held with acceptability for one year and one term. His intention was to return to finish his college course, but the civil war broke out, and in August, 1864, he enlisted in the navy, and served until no longer needed. During his absence his father died. On his return he assumed the care, not only of his mother and sisters, but of several small children of a brother. No boy ever cared more tenderly for a widowed mother. He was supervisor of schools in his native town for some years, and served as selectman for five consecutive years, in several of which he was chairman of the board. Soon after his mother's death he responded to the call of the Master, and entered the ministry. For a number of years he took work under the presiding elder. In 1879 he joined the East Maine Conference, and had a marked degree of success on all of his charges. They were the following: Washington, Randolph, Cushing, Georgetown, Damariscotta, Belfast, Ellsworth, Union. At the Conference of 1897, on account of poor health, he received a supernumerary relation. During that year there was no improvement in his health, and at the next Conference he reluctantly asked for a superannuated relation, and settled in Damariscotta, one of his former charges, where he remained until his death. He was a good man and true. In intellect he was above the average, and of his devotion to his Master's work there was no question. In his face could be seen the sunshine of his soul. Socially he was the essence of brotherliness—gentle, kind, and utterly void of vanity or self-seeking. His fellowship with Christ became closer and closer as he neared the crossing. None knew him but to love him. A widow and one son survive him.

Mark Siprelle was born in Newburg, Me., November 14, 1850, and died April 24, 1899. On May 6, 1874, he married Helena M. Hill, of Newburg, Me. To them were born two sons and one daughter, who, with the wife and mother, survive. He was soundly converted in the spring of 1883, in a revival meeting at Monticello. He at once began to work for sinners, and went out to hold meetings with other young men in the neighborhood. He was licensed to preach for two years, and then joined the East Maine Conference in 1888, and successively served the following charges with acceptability: Haynesville, Mapleton, Vanceboro, Lincoln and Mattawamkeag, Easton, and Mapleton the second time. One who knew him well says in a private letter: "His conversion was the next thing to miraculous, and when he gave his heart to God he made no reserve. He was all and only for Jesus." In his preaching he aimed straight at sin and sinners, and many gave heed to the message and were converted. His zeal was manifest in all he did, and whatever he did he did with all his might. He feared nothing but to do wrong. His heart was always warm, and he had a tender feeling for the suffering wherever he met them. He dearly loved the Church of his choice, and to advance her interests counted no work too hard or sacrifice too great. The charges he served were poor, and want often knocked at his door, but his faith never faltered. He talked with God at such times as a child talks trustingly with its mother. Many will rise to call him blessed in the great reckoning day.

William L. Brown was born in Union, Me., October 11, 1835, and died in Hampden, Me., January 18, 1900. He was educated in the schools near the home of his parents. He taught successfully for eleven terms—nine in two districts. He served efficiently on the school committee in three of his pastoral charges. The studious habits of his school life were continued to the last. He married, January 8, 1860, Miss Abbie H. Cotton, of Nobleboro, Me., who, with three children, survives him. He was converted at sixteen in a class meeting held in his father's home, his brother being the class leader, and in due time united with the Church. He began holding meetings in private homes and schoolhouses when nineteen years old. His call to the ministry was recognized, and he was given a license to preach. In 1857 he was employed by the presiding elder in the church at Washington. He was received on trial in the East Maine Conference in 1858. He served with usefulness the churches in Washington, Damariscotta Mills, Camden, Bremen and Round Pond, Searsmont, Rockport, Sheepscot, Belfast, Union Street, Bangor; Orono, Milltown, Waldoboro, East Boothbay, Clinton, Newport, Corinth and Hampden. He was a member of the General Conference of 1896. A sudden and fatal illness seized him January 4, 1900, when returning from a religious meeting, and in two weeks he joined the redeemed host above. His pastoral work was systematically performed. His preaching was always thoughtful and often eloquent, appealing to the intelligence, conscience, and sensibilities of his hearers. He walked with God, and thus came in holy triumph to the close of life.

Lexington Conference.

Jesse Mundy passed triumphantly to his heavenly reward at his home in Princeton, Ky., October 27, 1899. He was admitted to membership in the Lexington Conference in 1876. His ministerial labors were principally, if not wholly, performed in the rural portions of the Conference, and were attended with signal success in the salvation of souls. For a man of his opportunities he was a remarkable preacher and singer, and the people heard him gladly. As he stood on the brink of death, and while the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was being administered to him, he said, "Tell the brethren that I am ready to meet that God of whom I have so often preached and sung." He leaves a wife and several children to mourn their loss. He was a faithful and honored servant of the Church.

New Hampshire Conference.

James Thurston was born in Buxton, Me., March 12, 1816, and died in Dover, N. H., September 15, 1899. He was of humble origin. In 1818 his parents moved to Danville, Me. Here he was converted, March 14, 1832, and the same year was received into the Church. At seventeen he entered the Maine Wesleyan Seminary, where he remained nearly three years. After this he taught school for a while. He was licensed to preach in 1836. In 1838 he joined the Maine Conference. During his ten years in that Conference he was appointed as follows: Brookfield Circuit, East Machias, Lubec, Gray Circuit, Camden, Belfast. His appointments in the New Hampshire Conference, to which he was transferred in 1848, were as follows: Portsmouth, Newmarket, Suncook, Salmon Falls, Greenland, the Dover District (by nominal transfer), Brick Chapel, Bangor; Me.; (retransferred) Newport, Amesbury, the Claremont District, Bristol, Dover. He was supernumerary from 1871 to 1878. He supplied at Union in 1873, and at East Rochester in 1876. He was made effective in 1879, and was stationed at Epping, 1879–81. He became supernumerary in 1882; in 1887 he superannuated, and so remained until his decease. He was a man of great versatility. He could speak with delightful pertinency on occasions of every sort; he was an able press correspondent; he had the poet's imagination and felicity of expression; he could furnish the purest wit and keenest satire. But to preach was his greatest delight. He was supremely devoted to God and his service. In many places his ministry was very fruitful. As a preacher his thought was original, clear, and vigorous. When his great, warm heart was deeply moved his appeals were wonderfully persuasive. He was a wise counselor and an able administrator, being especially helpful to young men. He married, November 4, 1840, at Lubec, Me., Clara A. Flint, who died at Dover, March 28, 1890, leaving an adopted daughter. On November 23, 1891, he married Miss Sarah S. Nason, who survives him. He was a delegate to the General Conferences of 1856 and 1864. In 1885, and again in 1889, he was a representative to the State Legislature, and twice—in 1875 and 1876—he was elected chaplain of that body. In 1889 he was a member of the New Hampshire Constitutional Convention, and was the chaplain of that body. In 1896 there was held, at St. John's Church, Dover, a celebration of his eightieth birthday. Prominent clergymen and laymen of different denominations from all parts of the State were present, and vied with each other in doing him honor. His end was peaceful. He was sick about two weeks, and conscious nearly to the last. With words of glorious hope he turned his face to the weary pilgrim's rest. At the request of the mayor of Dover places of business were closed on the afternoon of his funeral, and there was a sense of grief in all the city. One of God's noblemen thus went to his grave. No one has ever fallen in his Conference more universally mourned.

Thomas Alfred Dorion was born March 8, 1849, in St. Andrews, Quebec, and died in Manchester, March 30, 1900. On his father's side he was descended from a French Huguenot family. They were Methodists. One uncle, Joseph A. Dorion, became a member of the Montreal Conference in 1855, and was the first French Methodist minister in the French work in America. He spent nearly forty years of his life in Canada. At Hull, in 1878, he was converted, and in April of that year was received into the Church. He was licensed to exhort and preach the same year. In 1882 he joined the Montreal Conference as a probationer, and was ordained in 1883. Till 1887 he served in that Conference. The next two years he was in the French mission work at Ware, Mass. In 1889 he began his labors in Manchester, N. H., and there continued till his death. His eleven years in that place were well filled. He visited his fellow-countrymen to talk and pray with them; he wrote tracts or books in defense of the faith, translated such works from the English as might help his people, and followed his favorite trade as a printer. Late at night the light in his study or composing room was burning brightly, showing that he was still at work. During his last ten years he published an average of half a million pages of tracts a year, thus issuing five million pages of French literature after coming to Manchester. Among his most important publications are: History of the Lives of the Popes, Romanism and the Gospel, The Beast, a Study in the Apocalypse, Translation of the Methodist Catechism, and a Translation of the Methodist Discipline. He was also at work on an Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge. He was the founder of the only French Sunday school paper in America, which circulated in the United States, France, and Canada. His only son is just beginning his ministry in the New Hampshire Conference. He was a useful citizen, an earnest Christian, a gifted writer, an able preacher, a successful missionary.

Joseph H. Brown was born in New Hampton, N. H., December 19, 1833, and died in Concord, N. H., March 16, 1900. At fifteen he was converted and immediately united with the Freewill Baptist Church. In January, 1858, he was licensed to preach by that denomination, and in 1862 was ordained elder in that Church. After serving as a pastor and agent of the Bible Society until 1870, he was received into the New Hampshire Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church and was placed in charge of Rumney. His later appointments were: Lisbon, Franklin Falls, Jefferson, Stark, First Church, Manchester; North Haverhill, Sandwich Center, Marlboro. In 1889 he became superannuated, but supplied East Lempster and South Acworth in 1891, and Webster, 1892. In addition to common school advantages, he attended for four years the New Hampton Literary and Biblical Institution at New Hampton, N. H. While a preacher of the Gospel, he was also a man of affairs. He was a member of the New Hampshire Legislature from Hill in 1870. He was a workful member of the school committees in Bridgewater, Hill, Lisbon, Jefferson, and Stark. A charter member of the Winnipesaukee Lake Camp Meeting Association, he was its secretary the first five years of its existence and a member of its executive committee twelve years. For ten years he was a member of the executive committee of the White Mountain Camp Meeting Association. In 1872 he was elected a trustee of the New Hampshire Conference, and ten years later of the New Hampshire Conference Seminary, which positions he held until the end. In 1887 he was appointed a justice of the peace for five years. As a preacher he was plain, direct, often pathetic, always deeply in earnest, and sound in doctrine. He loved pastoral work, and gladly bore the burdens of those ministrations so exhausting to body and heart. He was a man of sterling integrity and deep piety. On May 1, 1862, he married Miss Hattie N. Huse, who, with one daughter, survives. In November, 1899, ill health forced him to give up all active work and to seek recuperation in Concord, N. H. All the skill of the physician, aided by affection's most assiduous attention, proved of no avail. Surrounded by those he loved the best, he gently passed away to be with God.

P. Mason Frost, son of the Rev. Pickney Frost, of the Vermont Conference, was born in Derby, Vt., in 1840. He married Hattie J. Cooper, of Athens, Vt., September 14, 1873. He successively preached at Athens, Proctorsville, Putney, West Fairlee, Windsor, Nashua, N. H.; Lebanon, Littleton, First Church, Haverhill, Mass.; Newport, N. H. He died very suddenly in Haverhill, Mass., Nov. 6, 1899, where he had lived in feeble health after his retirement from the active ministry. He was a faithful pastor, a thoughtful and earnest preacher. Difficulties did not discourage him. He had the ability to bring things to pass. For the last years of his ministry he labored in silence under severe physical disabilities. He rests in his Lord.

New England Southern Conf.

Richard Burn was born in Gunnislake, County of Cornwall, England, November 5, 1839, and died in Marion, Mass., October 9, 1899. His education was begun in the schools of his native place. His first employment was in the mines. He was blessed with pious parents, and while yet a youth experienced a change of heart at a revival service to which he went, with some thoughtless companions, to make sport. With other converts he soon began to hold meetings and exhort the people to come to Christ. He came to this country in 1870. In 1871 he took work under the presiding elder in the Newark Conference, and supplied charges in New City, Godwinville, and Fort Lee. He joined the New England Southern Conference in 1875, and was successively stationed at Truro, East Falmouth, Nantucket, Berkley, Bourne, East Bridgewater, Warehouse Point, Arnold's Mills, and Marion. At Marion his pastorate was cut short by failing health. His gentle spirit made the people everywhere his friends. A pastor who followed him in two churches says: "His work remains, and will remain for many years to come. The many good things I have heard about him would fill a book." The universal characterization of him by the people he served is, "He was a good man." One remarked, "He was a cheerful, sunny Christian, and made religion inviting to all who witnessed his daily life." He made good use of his gift of song, and was a good preacher. He married in New City, April 22, 1877, Miss Amelia D. Anner. On August 4, 1896, he preached his last sermon on the Yarmouth camp ground. On the following Sunday morning, at his home in Marion, he was stricken with paralysis. From that time until his death, in October, 1899, he was an invalid. Most sweetly did he bear his three years of helplessness. Then came the summons of the Master.

Henry W. Conant was born in Mansfield, Conn., January 14, 1825. At the age of fifteen he accepted Christ and united with the Church in his native town. Ten years later he was licensed to exhort in the same church. On January 25, 1851, he was granted license as a local preacher by the Quarterly Conference of Willimantic, Conn., and in the following spring he was placed by the presiding elder in pastoral charge of Bolton, Conn. In 1852 he joined the Providence Conference. For seventeen years he continued in the active pastorate, serving successively the following churches: Bolton, Scotland, Somers, Warehouse Point, East Haddam, Putnam, Sachem Street, Norwich; Main Street, Norwich; Uncasville, and Millville. In all these fields he proved a faithful minister, and his efforts were owned in the salvation of men. He was an ardent advocate of the cause of temperance, and took an active part in various movements for its promotion. In 1852–53 he engaged in the campaign which secured the "Maine law." In several of the great secret societies for temperance effort he acquired high honors in both State and national organizations. He was one of the founders of the Connecticut Temperance Union, of which the Hon. William A. Buckingham, the patriotic war governor of that State, was the first president. During his ministry in Norwich the New London County Temperance Union was formed, and for two years he acted as its agent in addition to his pastoral duties. Upon the formation of the Rhode Island Temperance Union, in 1867, he began to speak in its behalf, and in 1868 relinquished his pastoral relations, and thenceforth for nineteen years devoted his energies to the great reform, under the auspices of this organization. He was on the committee of arrangements for the International Temperance Conference at the Centennial Exposition in 1876, and was assigned a paper on finance, which was published in the centennial volume. For a time he was one of the vice presidents of the National Society for the Promotion of Temperance. In the struggle for a prohibitory law in Rhode Island from 1868 to 1874, and again in the campaign fo reconstitutional prohibition in that State from 1880 to 1886, he was a tireless and fearless worker. Once he was brutally assaulted in the street near his home, but never faltered in his devotion to the cause. From 1880 till his decease he was a director of the Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society. For a time he was a public school agent, and hundreds of pupils took the pledge at his invitation. In 1888 he retired from active work, taking a supernumerary relation, which in 1899 was changed to that of superannuate. For several years he was in impaired health. A little more than a year before his death he seemed very near the end, and with all composure made his arrangements for departure. He rallied, however, and lingered till November 30, 1899, when he passed peacefully to his reward. He married, September 28, 1845, Miss Mary Hutchins, at Willimantic, Conn., who died in January, 1899. Two children survive. His memory is cherished.

John F. Sheffield was born in North Stonington, Conn., January 8, 1823. Upon the paternal side his ancestors could be traced back to the Normans, through Edmund Sheffield, who came over to England with William the Conqueror. On his mother's side his ancestors were originally French. His father was an earnest Christian and a local preacher. He was converted at a camp meeting in Marlboro, Conn., August 27, 1841. He became a probationer October 27, 1841, and joined in full connection March 10, 1843. He was appointed class leader when he joined the Church, received an exhorter's license August 26, 1845, and was licensed to preach June 7, 1846, by the Quarterly Conference at South Deerfield, Mass., where he supplied. His education, received from the common schools of his native town, was supplemented by a three years' course at Wilbraham, Mass., but through feeble health he was obliged to deprive himself of a college course. He spent several years in teaching and preaching when circumstances would allow. He joined the Providence Conference in 1848, the same year that his father was ordained local elder. On April 25, 1847, he married Miss Charlotte D. Howard, of Enfield, Conn., who died February 2, 1875. On April 27, 1876, he married Mrs. Mary S. Ray, who survives him. Through failing health he took a supernumerary relation in 1885, and a superannuated relation in 1890. During the most of the last decade he lived in Danielson, Conn. A few of these years he was deprived of his sight. He was a most devout and conscientious Christian, and pronounced in his convictions. He was studious, and made the Bible his chief text-book. He prepared over seventeen hundred sermons during his life, and witnessed many conversions. As a conversationalist he was intensely interesting. His final illness was exceedingly brief. He had been in failing health for years, but no one anticipated so sudden a departure. In the afternoon preceding his death he expressed to his pastor the conviction that he would not live long. Among other things he said: "Tell the people that my ideal of the Christian ministry is the same now as it ever has been. Tell them, also, that my standard of a Christian life has not been lowered in the least. I have made blunders, but, on the whole, have tried to be true to God, and feel that I have done right, and am ready to leave my record with God." He ate supper as usual, retired, and soon was taken with a suffocating sensation, which the usual remedies did not relieve. He said, "I am dying," left his thanks to friends for their kindnesses and his regards to relatives, said, "Blessed Jesus," and in a little while was not, his death taking place on the evening of March 8, 1900.

Maine Conference.

Daniel B. Randall, D.D., was born in Hardwick, Vt., July 18, 1807, and died at Old Orchard, Me., September 8, 1899. In 1810 his parents moved to Danville, where his boyhood days were spent. At fifteen he was apprenticed to a blacksmith, but was not physically equal to the task, and was sent to school. At eighteen he began the study of law, his mind being always of a legal cast. When nineteen he attended a Methodist camp meeting and was converted, and though his grandfather, the famous Elder Benjamin Randall, was a founder of the Free Baptist Church, and he had been accustomed to attend the Congregational Church, he joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. He soon felt called to the ministry, and on July 4, 1827, received a license to exhort. In November he was sent, with two others, by the presiding elder to Landaff Circuit, N. H. The circuit embraced ten towns. There was an extensive revival, resulting in the conversion of about four hundred. He received for his services that year $17.40. He joined the New England Conference in 1828, and was at once transferred to the Maine Conference, and appointed to Augusta, but was soon transferred to Fairfield. Later he was again appointed to Augusta, and also to Fairfield. He also filled such appointments as Pine Street, Portland; Biddeford, Gardiner, Hallowell, Lewiston, Auburn, Skowhegan, and Saccarappa. He served six years as presiding elder, and four times was a member of the General Conference, including 1844. In the same eventful year he was appointed financial agent of the Maine Wesleyan Seminary at Kent's Hill, which was then in a bankrupt condition. In this work he was eminently successful, and it was put upon a sure financial basis. For forty years he was an exceedingly efficient trustee of this institution. He served as secretary of his Conference, and was a tower of strength in the body even till the close of his life. Though tall in stature and of a striking personality, he always had a tendency to pulmonary trouble, and suffered numerous critical sicknesses and several surgical operations, all of which he bore with Christian fortitude. His ministry was very fruitful in the salvation of sinners and the edification of believers. On special occasions he would preach with great eloquence and power. In the antislavery agitation and the temperance reform he was a wise counselor. It was fitting that at Neal Dow's public funeral he should offer the prayer. He wrote both for the religious and secular press. His style was clear and forcible. In 1893 he published a statistical history of the Maine Conference, a book of two hundred and thirty-three pages, packed with facts and figures—a monument of industry. After his superannuation he served repeatedly as chaplain of the House of Representatives at Augusta. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him by Bates College in 1891. In 1832 he married Hannah Odell, of Conway, N. H. She died in 1838. His second wife was Mary Gower, of Industry, Me., and for his third wife he married Mrs. Clark, who died two years ago. Four children survive him. He was hospitable and social, a splendid debater, and a fine conversationalist. Conservative concerning doctrinal statements, he was progressive in methods and applications of truth. He was mighty in prayer. When he died the most conspicuous figure in Maine Methodism disappeared. His interment was in Portland's beautiful Evergreen Cemetery, where repose the ashes of such preachers as Payson, such statesmen as Fessenden, and such reformers as Neal Dow. Of such companionship and association he was worthy.

Joseph Mooar was born in Lewiston, Me., April 17, 1823, and died in Hyde Park, Mass., December 23, 1899. Converted at a camp meeting in September, 1830, he was received into the Church at Wilton in 1834, licensed to exhort in 1841, licensed as a local preacher in 1848, and admitted to the Maine Conference in 1855. His successive appointments were: Industry, North Paris, Rumford, Phillips, Madison, Vienna, Farmington Falls, North Wayne, West Phillips, and South Auburn. In 1876 he became supernumerary, and in 1878 was superannuated. He married, June 21, 1838, Miss Polly Dresser, who died January 21, 1842. He married Miss Elizabeth Lawrence, February 1, 1844, who died December 11, 1888. He was a Christian gentleman, and was held in high esteem by all acquainted with him. He was an earnest preacher and a faithful pastor. During the last weeks of his life he was conscious that his end was drawing near, and made all the plans for his funeral service. A kind and good man has gone to his eternal reward.

Newark Conference.

Daniel Richmond Lowrie, D.D., was born in Paisley, Scotland, September 8, 1834, and died August 17, 1899. He was of Scotch Presbyterian descent, and came to the United States in 1846. He took up his abode in Brooklyn, N. Y., and connected himself with the Sunday school of the Church of the Pilgrims, of which Dr. Storrs was pastor. Four years later he removed to Newark, N. J., where he met Miss Helen Smith, who persuaded him to give his heart to God at the age of twenty-one. Later he made her his bride. He then united with the Clinton Street Church in Newark, which gave to Methodism nine prominent preachers. The survivors of this notable class met in this church as the guests of Dr. Lowrie just two months before he died, and their old teacher met with them. Before entering the ministry he studied for two years in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York city; but yielding at length to God's call, he gave his life to the itinerant ministry. In 1861 he supplied at Parsippany and Whippany. At the Conference of 1862 he made his first report, and the Minutes tell of fifty-four probationers for that year. In 1863 he united with the Newark Conference, and was appointed for a third year to Parsippany. He thus became the first preacher in Newark Conference to enter upon the pastorate for a third year. He served his full term, and maintained this record throughout his entire ministry, excepting when lifted to be presiding elder. During his ministry of thirty-nine years he filled the following appointments: Parsippany and Whippany, Belleville, Emory, Jersey City; Cross Street, Paterson; St. Paul's, Jersey City; Haverstraw, Hoboken, Bloomfield, Roseville, Jersey City District, Emory, Jersey City, again; Market Street, Paterson. Twenty years of his ministry were spent in Jersey City. In many of his appointments his success was phenomenal. This was notably the case in both his pastorates at Emory Church, Jersey City; especially his first term there, when he had several hundred conversions and doubled the attendance in the Sunday school. At Cross Street, Paterson, his report shows two hundred and three probationers for one year, while a single year's report for St. Paul's, Jersey City, shows three hundred and forty-one probationers, and over five hundred for the three years. At Hoboken he also had extensive revivals. For the last thirteen years he was a manager of the Missionary Society. He was elected a trustee of the Newark Conference Camp Meeting Association from 1880, and for eight years was the president of the association. For thirty consecutive years he led the young people's meeting at Camp Tabor, and in the summer of 1899 he was the leader of the young people's meeting at Ocean Grove. Twice he was a delegate to the General Conference. He was tall and well proportioned, graceful and winning in his ways. His presence was a charm in the social circle, and his sympathetic nature was a magnet to draw and to hold. As a preacher he was sound, evangelical, and practical. His sermons were replete with illustration, and were pathetic appeals to the heart. His pulpit efforts were supplemented by wonderful skill in revival work and in conducting social meetings; in this he was a master. He was a sweet singer; this, combined with his cheerful temperament and his persuasive ways, enabled him to charm young people and win them to Christ. Thus did he secure many trophies for the Master in every church and Sunday school over which he presided, and in the wider circles of Camp Tabor and Ocean Grove. Withal he was a very skillful organizer, and was gifted with rare tact in getting his young people to work. This skill in organization was very manifest in his management of Camp Tabor. As a presiding elder he showed marked executive ability, and commanded the esteem of both preachers and laymen. He loved his brethren in the Conference as he loved no other class of men on earth, and at the time of his death few, if any, enjoyed a greater popularity. The sincerity of his love was never more manifest than on the day he died. When he was first stricken, and thought the end was immediately at hand, he said: "Give my love to all my brethren in the ministry, and tell them I have loved them, especially those in the smaller appointments, for I have most sympathy for them; and tell them I have tried to help them, and that I have worked with them right up to the very last." On November 12, 1898, his wife preceded him to the eternal home. In the midst of his labors he was taken to his reward ere his eye was dim or his natural force abated. He left behind him a daughter, Laura Annie. The day before he died was a busy one. He had left Ocean Grove the night before to attend a meeting at Mount Tabor in the interest of the Twentieth Century Movement, of which he was one of the Newark Conference commissioners. On Wednesday morning he met with the preachers on the ground and planned for the spiritual interests of the camp meeting. He presided during the day at the preaching service in the auditorium, and conducted the young people's meeting at six o'clock. After the evening sermon he delivered a memorable address, and with great pathos referred to the sainted dead who had been associated with Camp Tabor's early history, illustrating his remarks by referring to a visit he had once made to the top of Ben Nevis. He eloquently described the glorious scene he witnessed from the lofty summit, whence he viewed the lochs and streams and hills and vales of his own bonnie Scotland. "But," said he, "those sublime sights were as nothing compared to the glorious scenes my departed friends are now beholding from the everlasting hills of heaven." Little did he think that before the morrow's sun went down he, too, would be beholding those sublimer scenes. He went from this preaching service to a meeting of the trustees of Mount Tabor, and was reelected to an office whose duties he was never permitted to fulfill. This meeting occupied his attention until midnight. The next morning, which was his coronation day, he made no complaint of sickness. After breakfast he was suddenly stricken with angina pectoris. He thought the end had come, and said, "It may be the end has come, but if it has, it is all right, it is all right." It was sublime to witness how well the Gospel he had believed in and preached so many years served him in the critical hour. When one said, "It ought to be told, to your everlasting credit, that you stood on the brink of eternity and looked death in the face without flinching," he replied, "It was nothing but the grace of God that enabled me to do it." During the morning and early afternoon there were no alarming symptoms until his second attack. He had rested comfortably after his physician had prescribed for him, talking freely about the affairs of the Conference, his own personal matters, and his plans for the camp meeting. About five minutes before he died, as he felt the pain returning, he said, "How hard it would be if I had to be seeking Christ now." These were his last words, as he was instantly cut down without a farewell to the one dearest to him on earth—his only daughter—who was by his side. And so his spirit ascended from the top of his beloved Tabor to gaze upon sublimer scenes in the celestial world. His death occasioned great sorrow at Camp Tabor. In his funeral discourse Bishop FitzGerald said: "During July thousands of young people heard him at Ocean Grove, and when the news of his death was received there a shadow deep and dark fell upon the multitudes, the effect of which sorrow I have never before seen." Memorial services were held at Camp Tabor and Ocean Grove, at which a number of ministers and laymen participated. Nearly one hundred ministers were present at his funeral in the Market Street Church, Paterson. The spacious edifice was entirely inadequate to give even standing room to the people; numbers remained in the vestibule, and crowds were in the street, unable to get inside the doors. He was laid to rest in the beautiful cemetery at Bloomfield, beside his wife, who had preceded him by only nine short months. At the grave the services were conducted by Dr. A. E. Ballard, who had promised him on the very morning he died, before he was stricken, that he would meet him at that identical spot on the very day of the funeral. Both had buried their wives there, and it was at their graves they planned to meet. Dr. Ballard was there to keep his promise, but Dr. Lowrie had gone to the land where no graves are found, and where the funeral dirge is never heard.

James Midwinter Freeman, D.D., was born in the city of New York in 1827. He obtained in youth a good English education, and after his school days made himself master of Latin, Greek, German, and, to some extent, of Hebrew; and to the end of life he kept up his studies in those languages. For a time he worked as a printer, and obtained thereby a practical knowledge which later proved of great value in his editorial duties. Afterward he became a teacher, and continued in this vocation for some time after his call to the ministry, serving as a local preacher in and around New York. In 1850 he joined the New Jersey Conference, which then embraced all the territory now included in the Newark Conference. For twenty-three years he was a pastor. In the New Jersey Conference he received appointments to Quarry Street (now Eighth Avenue), Newark; Clinton and Middleville (now Irvington); New Brunswick, as third preacher; Milltown; Prospect Street, Paterson; and Orange. In 1857 the Newark Conference was separated from the New Jersey Conference, and he became one of its members, being successively stationed at Union Street, Newark; Trinity, Staten Island; Haverstraw, N. Y.; Market Street, Paterson; Halsey Street, Newark; Hedding Church, Jersey City; and Hackettstown, N. J. The decade between 1866 and 1876 was a period of great progress in Sunday school work among all denominations. In this advance he was recognized as one of the leaders, and was constantly called into service as a speaker at conventions and in Sunday schools, and as a writer for the periodicals. When in 1872 Dr. Vincent was called to the Sunday school work he chose Dr. Freeman as assistant editor of Sunday school books and periodicals, and as assistant secretary of both the Sunday School Union and the Tract Society. These positions Dr. Freeman filled with ability until the day when he laid down his pen to receive his crown. He possessed a capacity for clerical work, and united a combination of literary and business qualities which gave him place on a number of important boards, of which he was almost invariably made secretary. In his Conference he was for years Secretary of the Board of Conference Stewards; he was Secretary of the Board of Trustees of the Centenary Collegiate Institute, of the Drew Theological Seminary, and of the New York Historical Society. He was never absent from the meetings of his different boards, and kept the records of all in complete order. When called to rest he had been absent from his desk at the office only two of his regular days; and after his departure it was easy to take up the threads of his work, for every detail had been left in order and every paper was in its proper place. As a preacher he was interesting, evangelical, and able, preaching to large congregations, and invariably leaving his churches stronger than he found them. He knew personally all the families under his care, and was especially beloved among the children and young people. As an editor he attended to every item of his work. In the secretary's office he carried on a correspondence with every Conference in our land and every mission field abroad, and every duty under his care was promptly attended to. As a friend he was ever true to those honored by his friendship. As a man he was the soul of honor, and always courteous in his bearing. Above all else, his life was in all respects worthy of the Christian profession. If he had lived a few weeks longer he was to have preached his semicentennial sermon as a Methodist minister. This discourse was nearly prepared when he was suddenly taken with pleurisy, which in two days developed into pneumonia. On Tuesday evening, February 27, 1900, he fell asleep on earth and awakened in a better country.

Delaware Conference.

Charles H. Hutchins was born in Queen Anne County, Md., May 1, 1842. On the first Sunday in May, 1863, in the Roseville Church, he was happily converted. During the Rebellion he served in the Thirtieth Maryland Regiment, United States Colored Troops, for the years 1864–65. On October 25, 1866, he married Miss Frances A. Winchester, who died in 1896. September 21, 1897, he married Mrs. Mollie Gordon, who, with two children, survives him. He began his ministry in the African Methodist Episcopal Church, but in 1881 joined the Delaware Conference, and filled most acceptably the following charges: Pomona, Millington, Church Hill, Berlin, Greensboro, Still Pond, Smyrna, East New Market, Deal's Island, Crumpton, and Trappe. The circumstances surrounding his death were very distressing. His wife lay desperately ill. The doctor, despairing of her life, requested him to accompany him to his office for a remedy. Leaving his office for a moment, on his return the physician found the prostrate form of our brother upon the floor. Remedies were applied, but were of no avail. He quickly and easily breathed his last. He was an earnest, painstaking, and effective preacher, a progressive and faithful worker. He was genial in disposition, unassuming in manner, a thorough gentleman, a devoted Christian. We believe the summons found him ready.

James H. Mason was born near Frederica, Del., in 1842, and worked with his father, who was connected with the "underground railroad," on the farm. Afterward he lived in Philadelphia, and held his membership in the African Methodist Episcopal Church, the Church of his father's choice, and was class leader for many years. He married Miss Hankins, who preceded him to heaven about one year. After some years he entered the ministry of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, and served faithfully for several years. He joined the Delaware Conference in 1879, and successively served the following charges: Townsend, Odessa, Still Pond, Easton, Md.; Chestertown, Pocomoke City, Smyrna, Del.; Fruitland. In the latter place he closed his work on earth, January 10, 1900, leaving two adopted daughters. Just before he died he called his family around him and asked them to pray and sing. He said: "Don't you see the angels in this room? They are all around me. I have fought a good fight. I am now ready." And in a few minutes he passed away.

John W. Lankford was born in Green Hill, Md., in 1863. He entered the public school at an early age, finished the course, and went out to do proficient work as a teacher in the day school. He was converted to God and joined the Church. He was soon licensed as an exhorter and a local preacher, and entered the Centenary Biblical Institute, now Morgan College. He was received into the Delaware Conference in 1884, and served acceptably the following charges: Chincoteague Island, Seaford, Laurel, Smyrna, Germantown, Frankford, Cambridge, Wilmington, Haven, and Dover, where, on January 27, 1900, he went up to answer the roll-call on high. He was twice married, and leaves a widow and two children to mourn their loss. His Church and home were the objects for which he seemed to live. Truly a prince hath fallen in Israel.

Asbury Grinnage was born on Kent Island, Md., October 15, 1819. The old circuit riders passed through this part of the country, and the boy heard the glad tidings and was converted. Great as were the obstacles in the way of his learning, he rested not until he was able to read the Bible and the hymn book; thus he stored his mind with passages of Scripture and verses of hymns. When but a young man he hearkened to the voice of God and began to preach, holding religious meetings among his people wherever a door opened. So earnest and faithful was he for more than fifty years that he became one of the best known and revered preachers of African descent of the Eastern Shore, Maryland. In 1866, two years after its organization, he was received on trial in the Delaware Conference, and successively served the following appointments: Friendship, Hillsboro, Greensboro, Fairlee, Marydel, Talbot Circuit, Crumpton, Skipton, Sassafras. In 1888 he was granted a superannuated relation. His effective years in the Conference were crowned with noted success. Great revivals swept over the charges he served. Remarkable as a preacher, having a great memory, and being a good reasoner, he was very acceptable. He preached for the churches, at the request of pastors, three times a Sunday almost to the time of his death. He carried sunshine in his face and in his life. He was twice married. His first wife, Milly Heath, with whom he lived twelve years, departed forty-five years ahead of him for the better land, leaving two children, who survive her. His second wife, Phœbe Jones, with whom he lived forty-four years, mourns her loss. On the morning of May 27, 1899, having been traveling for more than sixty years toward the heavenly country, he reached his home at last.

Daniel James Waters was born in Fairmount, Md., in 1824, and died August 5, 1899. He was converted at the age of eighteen, and immediately attached himself to the Church. He married Fannie Fountain in 1845. He was early licensed a local preacher, and, although deprived of an education in early life, became a very acceptable preacher. He was received into the Delaware Conference in 1872, and served with great acceptability the following appointments: Millington, Md.; Centerville, Milford, Trappe, Odessa, Del.; Milford (second time), East New Market, Md.; Madison, Md.; Bridgeville, Seaford, Del. To know him was to love him. His Christian character and untiring zeal for the cause of Christ won all persons to him. He died as he lived—in Christ.

North Indiana Conference.

Charles Harvey was born near Brookville, Ind., September 26, 1841, and died January 19, 1900. He was converted in early life, and united with the Mount Carmel Methodist Episcopal Church, near Greenfield, Ind. He entered the ministry in early life, and successively served the following charges: Huntsville, New Corner, North Muncie Circuit, Perkinsville, Cadiz, Charlottesville, Fountain City, Ridgeville, North Webster, Andrews, and Eaton. In 1876, at a camp meeting at Albany, Ind., he received the blessing of entire sanctification, and from that time till his death was a living example of the power of grace. He served in the civil war until July, 1864, when he received an honorable discharge. On March 22, 1861, he married Miss Cary Emery. His last sickness was brief, but much of the time was marked by intense suffering. He filled his pulpit in Eaton on the last Sunday before his death, although in great pain at the time. He seemed to have a premonition that the end was near, and said, "If these should be my last words to you, I want you to know I am sure of heaven." The interment was in Beech Grove Cemetery, Muncie, Ind.

Reuben Tobey was born March 22, 1830, and died July 12, 1899. His ancestors came from Germany, and located in Washington County, Md. He grew to manhood on a farm near the city of Dayton, O. He was admitted to the North Indiana Conference in 1857, and served some of our best charges. He was a popular preacher, much in demand, always successful, and was one of the strong characters of the Conference. He was active for twenty-four years, when an accident in which he was severely injured disabled him from further effective service. He was a superannuate for seventeen years, but during this time was active in the Master's business for one so physically disabled. He was twice married, first to Adaline Huffman, who died in 1869, and then to Miss Nettie Mann, who survives him. A hero has fallen, and a beloved brother has entered into rest.

Milo Heath Mott was born near Ithaca, N. Y., April 12, 1838, and died in New Paris, Ind., April 23, 1899. At the age of five years he with his parents moved to Branch County, Mich., where he was converted and united with the Church. He was admitted into the North Indiana Conference in 1872. He was a preacher of more than usual ability, a faithful pastor, and very successful as an evangelist. His life impressed all with the fact that he was a man of God. On February 7, 1861, he married Miss Harriett Dufur. His funeral services were held in the church at New Paris on Tuesday, April 25, 1899.

Nathan D. Shackelford was born in Fayette County, O., October 22, 1826, and died April 7, 1900, at his home in Warsaw, Ind. When he was nineteen his parents moved to Wabash County, Ind., and on April 9, 1853, he was licensed to preach. He was so diligent in his studies, so earnest and ready in utterance, and so manifestly called to the ministry, that he was received into the North Indiana Conference in the autumn of the same year. He was a man of exceeding sweetness of disposition. Filled with the conscious knowledge of his own personal relation to Christ, he longed to persuade others to accept him. Not only in this world are there many who revere his memory, but many also welcomed him into the other life whom he had been instrumental in bringing to Christ. He married Miss Mary J. Wilson on May 2, 1854. His funeral was held in the city of Warsaw, conducted by his pastor, his presiding elder, and many other brethren of the Conference.

Edwin Timberlake Gregg was born in Peru, Ind., February 1, 1861, and died in Kokomo, Ind., May 30, 1899. He received his early education in the public schools of Peru, and after graduation studied in De Pauw University. In 1883 he married Miss Eva Kenyon, of Grundy Center, Ia., who, with two children, survives him. He was converted in childhood, while in school, as the result of reading from a pocket New Testament which he had formed the habit of carrying. He was licensed to preach on March 4, 1890, and was admitted to the North Indiana Conference in 1891. In his diary for that day he wrote as follows: "When the appointments were read I was assigned to Roanoke. My first appointment! O, how my heart goes out in prayer to God that he may give me the hearts of the people, and that there may be a deep, stirring revival as the result of this action of the Conference." His ministry only covered the brief period of eight years, but no pen, save that of the recording angel, can record the good he accomplished. He preached his last sermon in Kokomo on Sunday evening, May 21, 1899. Providence seems to have directed his thought so that the last impression the world received was of the inspiring principle of his pure life. His text was, "That ye love one another." His funeral was the largest ever held in Howard County. Business was suspended. Strangers in the city were surprised to find even the saloons closed. Interment was made in the beautiful cemetery at Peru, Ind.

Kansas Conference.

Erastus Chalmer Chilson died at his home near Centralia, Kan., in January, 1900. He was received on trial in the Conference in 1866. His first appointment was Junction City. His subsequent appointments were as follows: Salina, one year; Washington, one year; Circleville, three years; Clyde, two years; Sabetha, one year. In 1875, because of unsatisfactory health, he was transferred to the Rocky Mountain Conference, and in the following year he was retransferred to the Kansas Conference, and was made superannuated. From that time he lived near Centralia, most of the time in great feebleness of body and mind. During much of this period he was not able to attend church or any of the public means of grace, yet was constantly interested in the cause of Christ, and cherished a loving regard for his brethren in the Conference. He was a soldier of the Union during the civil war, and his sufferings resulted largely from his army service. He was allowed a pension about 1897, and his first act was to make a generous contribution to the benevolences of the Church, and his ability to do this seemed to afford him great satisfaction. He has passed along the way of great affliction to the rest above, leaving to his family and to the Church the heritage of a good name.

Joseph Denison, D.D., was born in Bernardston, Mass., October 1, 1815. He was educated at Wilbraham Academy and Wesleyan University, and graduated from the latter institution in 1840. During the years 1840–43 he taught Latin and Greek at Amenia Seminary, among his students being George I. Seney, financier and educational benefactor, Alexander Winchell, geologist and biologist, and Albert S. Hunt, long secretary of the American Bible Society. He was converted when a boy, and early joined the Church. He was admitted to the New England Conference in 1843, and successively served at Newton Upper Falls, Ipswich, Lynn, Malden, Holliston, and Boston. In 1855 he went to Kansas, and in the political agitation then on he gave his voice and vote to make the State forever free. He settled with a New England colony at Manhattan, and thereafter remained in Kansas until his life closed. He was transferred to the Missouri Conference in 1855, then including Kansas, and assisted in organizing the Kansas Conference, which at first included Nebraska. He served Manhattan Charge in 1856, Fort Riley in 1857, Manhattan again in 1858, and Manhattan District in 1859–62. In 1863 he became president of Bluemont College, from 1864 to 1873 was president of the Agricultural College, and from 1874 to 1879 was president of Baker University. He then served Holton, Valley Falls, Atchison District, and Tecumseh, to which Oakland was attached. He superannuated in 1893, and spent the remainder of his life in Kansas, Nebraska, and New Mexico. He was a delegate to the General Conferences of 1864 and 1880. He received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from McKendree College in 1865, and was one of the charter members of the State Teachers' Association. He married in 1845 Miss Sarah J. Woodruff, who died in 1858, and in 1859 he married Mrs. Frances Dennis. He was father of nine children, five of whom preceded him to the heavenly home. He passed peacefully to his rest at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Dr. Goodnow, at Manhattan, on February 19, 1860. At his own request, made a month before his death, his funeral sermon was based on Phil. 1. 21–23. He rests near his kindred in the locality of his efforts of half a century past.

New York East Conference.

James Horne Lightbourn was born May 14, 1828, in Nassau, New Providence, West Indies, and died in Bay Ridge, N. Y., May 25, 1899. He left home that day in usual health to transact some business in Bay Ridge, and called at the residence of a friend, complaining of unusual weariness. Being urged, he consented to lie down, and in about half an hour was found dead. The immediate cause of his sudden demise was heart failure. He gave his heart to God when about twelve years old, through the influence of a holy mother. He was carefully educated in the available schools. From his conversion he felt called to the ministry, and was licensed a local preacher at the age of fifteen. He came to this country when about nineteen, and in Philadelphia, where he located, diligently prepared for his sacred calling. Possessing a studious disposition, he soon became proficient in hortatory address and evangelistic work. He was received into the Philadelphia Conference in 1850. His appointments were successively: Elkton, Md.; Newark, Del.; Kent, Md.; Easton, Md.; Georgetown, Del.; Cambridge, Md.; Norristown, Pa.; Central and Kensington, Philadelphia; Easton, Pa.; Milford, Del.; St. Michaels, Md.; Dover, Del.; and Union, Wilmington, Del. In 1872 he was transferred to the Baltimore Conference, and stationed at the First Church, Baltimore, and Cumberland, Md. In 1875 he was transferred to the New York East Conference, and therein served as follows: Seventeenth Street, New York; New Milford, Conn.; Seventh Street, New York; Greenwich, Conn.; Birmingham, Conn.; Litchfield, Conn.; City Island, New York; Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn; Sayville, Long Island; and Sheepshead Bay, Brooklyn. In 1855 he married, in Oxford, Md., Miss Elizabeth Spencer Willis, who, with three children, survives. He was a close student, an accurate thinker, an omnivorous reader, an expert reasoner. His pulpit ministrations were logical, eloquent, and effective. These qualities, added to suave manners and a vivacious spirit, made him popular. He was somewhat given to polemics, and always entered with zest into the debates of preachers' meetings and Conferences. His piety was of the conscientious type. While he was strenuous for truth and integrity, he could freely make all proper allowance for the wayward. Although he could condemn wrongdoing with the rigor of Elijah, he could love the wrongdoer with the ardor of John. His friendships were intense and abiding. He maintained the mental and physical vigor of other days down to his death. Those accustomed to hear him preach declare that his latest pulpit efforts were the best of his life. His body was removed to Easton, Md., and buried in the family acre, to await the resurrection of the just.

Edmund Richard Foley was born of Irish-Scotch parentage in Wolcott, Conn., August 8, 1859. At the age of ten he removed with the family from the farm on which he was born to the neighboring town of Southington. Here, a few years later, he was working in a cutlery shop, and living a life which, while never vicious, was somewhat reckless in spirit, indifferent to the highest obligations and privileges. When about sixteen he was thoroughly converted, and was received February 10, 1875, on trial in the Church. His Christian life became at once earnest, and after a few years he was appointed steward and class leader. Having prepared himself by diligent private study, he entered Hackettstown Seminary in 1878. He graduated there in 1883, and immediately matriculated at Wesleyan University. He had been licensed as a local preacher December 24, 1881, and for most of his college course preached at the South Farms and Westfield Chapels, where he won the lasting love of the people. He graduated from Wesleyan in 1887, writing the ivy ode for his class. In the spring of his graduation he was admitted to the New York East Conference, and stationed at Beacon Falls. A difficult, but not unfruitful, year was spent in this appointment, and then he was transferred to Grace Church, Mount Vernon. That church enterprise was then starting, and it was his privilege to mold through four impressionable years the life of the young organization. In 1892 he left this church with 130 members, a Sunday school numbering 350, a property valued at $12,000 and free of debt. The year 1892–93 was spent in a foreign trip, his health seeming to demand a rest and change. In the tour through Great Britain, continental Europe, Egypt, and the Holy Land he improved in physical condition, and returned with that expansion of soul which rewards the appreciative traveler. These experiences led to his writing for the Epworth Herald, the Sunday School Journal, and The Classmate, which was continued for five or six years. His descriptions of scenes in classical and oriental lands, as well as in the Western country in which he afterward lived, were entertaining, with a delightful personal quality which widened their interest. His articles on the Sunday school lessons in The Classmate, though intended for younger readers, were full of attraction for maturer minds. For a year and a half he was pastor of Thirty-seventh Street Church, New York city. Then his health gave way completely; life in New York was shown to be impossible to one with lungs so seriously affected, and he was ordered to the West. Two years were spent in open-air life on a ranch in Phenix, Ariz., with summer trips to higher altitudes for invigoration, and then he assumed the pastorate of the church at Tucson. In that brown, sun-baked city, declining offers of educational positions, he labored for two years and more, with the certainty creeping upon him that the struggle for health was vain. On Easter Sunday, 1899, he preached to a large congregation, many of whom felt that it might be his last sermon. And so it proved. He tried the climate of southern California, but sank so rapidly that he had barely strength remaining to make the journey to New York. After five weeks among the Mount Vernon friends he went to the home of his sister in Southington, to die. His life ebbed gradually. On July 17 the "clear call" came to him, and with good trust in his Pilot he put off gently from the strand. His sermons were clear, scriptural, practical, and effective. He had that greatest leverage possible to the preacher—the confidence of his people. He built up the Church; he sought and saved the lost. He knew how to meet men on the plane of everyday living. He had the sense of humor that leads so far toward the understanding of life. None was quicker to go to the troubled; none more sensible in advice. It was truly said by a Tucson paper that his "leading trait of character was love for his fellow-men." His special interest in the intemperate makes more than one remember him as a deliverer from the slavery of strong drink. While he never surrendered a principle, he was no rigid Pharisee. He had the quick impulse, the strong feeling, the merry wit, the lovable nature that are all the Irish temper at its best. His Western friends considered him a man of remarkable courage, both physical and moral. This appeared in the form of patience in the fight with disease which lasted nearly five years. The pathos of that struggle looked from his letters and made one's eyes fill. Those who knew him are the better for it. Justly was it said, "He lived to good purpose." Not defeat, but victory, crowned that life of only forty years.

Arvine Clark Bowdish, D.D., was a descendant of Nathaniel Bowditch, the New England mathematician, author, and navigator. His father, William S. Bowdish, was an honored member and secretary of the Black River Conference, New York. His mother was the daughter of Samuel W. Stanton, a cousin of Lincoln's great war secretary. Of their family five of the sons became ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Of these only two survive—Edward Somerville Bowdish, of Minneapolis, and Wellesley Wellington Bowdish, of the New York East Conference. Arvine C. was born in Lowville, N. Y., April 22, 1832, and died in City Island, New York city, November 29, 1899. He was converted in early life, and began his ministry when he was seventeen, and united with the Oneida Conference in 1855. He labored in that Conference until 1862, when he was appointed chaplain of the One Hundred and Forty-ninth Regiment, New York Volunteers. He was in all the important engagements of the Army of the Potomac in 1862–63, taking part in the battles of Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, and Gettysburg. For meritorious conduct at the last-mentioned battle he was breveted major. On account of arduous duties and exposure he was so debilitated that he was honorably discharged from the army, and returned to his pastoral work. The General Conference of 1868 merged the Oneida Conference into the Wyoming and the Central New York Conferences, Dr. Bowdish thus becoming a member of the Wyoming, whence, on the death of his brother Charles Giles, then a member of the New York East Conference, in 1873, he was transferred, and took his brother's place at Astoria, Long Island. In all his appointments he made a good record, his charges in the New York East Conference being: Astoria, Mount Vernon, Flushing, Bridgehampton, Parkville, Rockville Center, Sayville, St. Paul's, Brooklyn; Southold, Second Street, New York city; Sumner Avenue, Brooklyn; Springfield, and City Island. He married, June 28, 1877, Miss Martha C. Baylis, of Jamaica, Long Island, who, with three children, survives to mourn her loss. Months before his death he was stricken with paralysis, but, soldier-like, heroically toiled on, postponing retirement or promotion as long as possible. He preached his last sermon with all the fire of his sturdiest days, beginning his discourse with, "I am preaching as a dying man to dying men." At his last two prayer meetings, with evident premonitions of the end, he spoke of his entire readiness to go when the Lord should call him. During his dying hours he was only partially conscious. He knew his dear ones, but could not speak to them, and passed quietly to his rest. He was a man of attractive manners and hearty, genial nature. He studied, loved, and worked for men. He was of sunny disposition, carrying everywhere his cheer and kindliness. He fought his battle long and well, being fearless, forceful, and faithful unto death.

Henry C. Glover was born February 20, 1826, and died in Amityville, January 5, 1900. Like many of the residents of his native village, his father followed the sea, being captain of a coasting vessel. The early years of Henry's life were passed in attendance at the village school, though the meager opportunities here offered may be inferred from his statement about the English grammar. "I took one to school one morning," he writes, "and brought it home at night, and that is all the grammar I learned in the district school." In one of his journals he writes, "From the spring I was ten years of age till the fall I was twenty-one I followed a seafaring life." Once he is in a leaking ship in Vineyard Sound, again in a storm off the Delaware capes that carried away the rigging, caused the ship to spring aleak, and drove most of the accompanying vessels on the Jersey beach; three times was he overboard and rescued from a watery death. Upon returning from a voyage in February, 1847, he found Orient aglow with revival fire, and at the first meeting he attended went to the altar and joined the church class. On February 14, in a little prayer meeting in the basement of the church, he entered into rest. In 1848 he entered Amenia Seminary. The Havens, first Erastus O., and later Gilbert, were the principals during the four terms he passed there. During the long vacations he taught school, to continue his school life. A poetic faculty, first stirred here, brought him a prize, considerable honor, the publication of his poem, and later an invitation to deliver a poem at a seminary anniversary. Never possessed with the idea that he was a poet, all his life he produced very creditable verses. In 1850 he joined the New York East Conference at New Haven in May, and was appointed junior preacher of the North Hempstead Circuit. He married Miss Lydia A. Young, of Orient, February 18, 1851. Three children survive, one of them being H. L. Glover, of the New York East Conference. Never blessed with a large income, his home, by scrupulous economy, possessed many an article of refinement, and to his children was given a liberal education. He was a quiet, unassuming man, of sturdy faith, and with a warm devotion to the Lord Jesus. In his private life blameless, in his pulpit preparation painstaking, in his estimate of his own ability modest, his preaching wore well. Congregations grew, and usually he served a church for the full term, while at Bay Ridge and Northport he returned for a second pastorate. With faithful adherence to the written word, he yet moved with the age in which he lived, knowing its thought and influenced by it. One of the largest revivals of his ministry was at New Britain, where above one hundred and fifty were added to the Church. He was singularly warm in his attachment to others. His last sickness was long and painful, but he bore it with Christian fortitude and trust. "If the Lord would take me to-day," he would say, "I should be supremely happy." On his dying day, before he sank into unconsciousness, he tried to say, "The silver cord is loosed and the golden bowl is broken;" and, though the power failed him, his smile attested the approaching victory.

John Stanley D'Orsay was born in 1826. His ministry began as a local preacher. His first Conference appointment was Bridgehampton, Long Island, to which he was assigned in 1871. Here he spent one year, renovating the church and putting the society in excellent working order. He was then stationed at Branford, Conn., where he remained two years. Toward the close of 1873 he was laid aside through nervous prostration, and in the following spring took a supernumerary relation. After rest he concluded that he could never resume the work of the pastorate, and took up his former vocation. As a church architect and decorator he soon established an enviable reputation. The venture seemed most prosperous, when suddenly his eyesight failed him; this misfortune was followed, in a few years, by a stroke of paralysis, which compelled him to resign all work and responsibility. These afflictions were accompanied by financial embarrassment, destroying the results of years of labor. In 1891 or 1892 he removed to Lynbrook, Long Island. In 1893 his relation was changed to that of superannuated. In 1894 a second stroke of paralysis rendered him almost blind and helpless. In conditions of great poverty and suffering he continued until early Sunday morning, April 1, 1900, when he passed to his reward. A widow and one daughter survive. He was a good man, and enjoys a well-earned rest.

Upper Mississippi Conference.

Henry C. Norman was born at Rienzi, Miss., in 1857, and died at Holly Springs, Miss., May 4, 1899. He served the following charges as an itinerant preacher: Gatman Mission, Corinth Circuit, Pontotoc Circuit, Bell Circuit, New Albany, and Hernando. From the last-named place he was called to his reward. He was a man of deep piety and an earnest preacher. Two days before his death he was asked how it would be should the Lord send for him. He replied, "I have made a close examination of myself, and I am all right." On the day of his death he said that he would soon be before the throne. With farewells to his wife and children, he exclaimed, "I am in the hands of the Lord," and so fell asleep. He was a faithful member of his Conference.

GILBERT CARR joined the Mississippi Conference in the year 1871. The record of his birth and early life is not available for the purposes of his obituary. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Wiley in 1877, and the same year was located. He was readmitted to the traveling connection by the Mississippi Conference in 1883, and later became a member of the Upper Mississippi Conference. In both of these Conferences he served his successive appointments with fidelity. In 1889 he received a superannuated relation, and on November 2, 1899, slept in Jesus at Corinth, Miss. A mighty man of Israel has fallen.

Gulf Mission Conference.

IRA NICHOLS PARDEE was born in Kingston, N. Y., July 29, 1840, and died in Jennings, La., March 9, 1899. He was converted at the age of eleven, and joined the Church. At nineteen he entered the ministry, joining the Wyoming Conference. The same year he married Miss Mary Winchell, of Housatonicville, Mass. After about twelve years of service in the Wyoming Conference he became pastor of the First Church in Omaha, Neb. His next work was in Fort Dodge, Ia., where he built the First Church. He was then appointed superintendent of the Dakota Mission, and after it became a Conference he served as presiding elder of one of the districts for one term. He took a prominent part in building the university at Mitchell, S. Dak., and served for a time as its financial agent. In 1880 he was appointed pastor of the First Church, Sioux City, Ia., where he remained the full term. After serving in other fields for thirteen years he was called to the chancellorship of the University of the Northwest, in Sioux City, Ia., but owing to broken health he resigned his office and moved to Cortland, N. Y., where he resided for a time. In July, 1895, he became pastor of the church at Jennings, La., where he labored effectively till February, 1898. At the Conference of that year he was appointed temperance agent, and was reappointed in 1899. Some weeks before the latter Conference he suffered an attack of la grippe, and at the session was very feeble, being only able to attend long enough to make his report. He then returned to Jennings, where a complication of diseases soon set in, when it became apparent that his work was done. On March 9, 1899, precisely at noon, the weary wheels of life stood still. Although a great sufferer in his final sickness, he did not murmur. His last days were full of peace, and he fell asleep in Jesus as sweetly as a babe rests in the arms of its mother.

PATRICK HENRY SAUNDERS was born in Bossier Parish, La., June 22, 1850. His father was a charter member of the Louisiana Conference. He was converted in May, 1883, and was licensed to preach in 1888. He joined the Gulf Mission Conference in 1898, and was sent to the Atlanta Charge. In 1899 he served the Rodessa appointment until August, when he was prostrated by severe illness. This continued until September 13, 1899, when he died under a surgical operation in the city of Shreveport, La. He was a man of wonderful physical endurance, and did a great deal of work as a pastor, being always at his post. He was also a man of great courage, and in every sense was a true soldier. The service he gave the Church was rendered with delight. He sought out the poor and destitute, and had a special gift in winning the confidence of this class. He was studious, reading the best books and seeking to fully know his work. He was twice married—in 1887 to Miss Jennie Wemple, and in 1898 to Gena Wemple, a sister of his first wife. The last, with three children, survives him. He was a man of strong convictions. Having once been a great sinner, through grace he became a great saint. He professed, enjoyed, and lived the experience of entire sanctification, and in death demonstrated this wonderful experience. His happy death has left a deep impression in the section where he died. His Conference has lost a faithful minister.

Troy Conference.

SIMEON GARDINER was born in Richmond, R. I., November 24, 1813, and died in Bristol, Vt., October 2, 1899. When a boy of twelve his parents removed to Hudson, N. Y., in which immediate vicinity he lived until 1849. He was converted at nineteen, and at once became a member of the Church. He continued his faithful, unobtrusive service in the church at Stockport, N. Y., for eight years, and then was given an exhorter's license. He was licensed as a local preacher February 5, 1842, and during the years that immediately followed continued to feel the strivings of the Spirit to wider service. In 1849 he was admitted to the Troy Conference, and successively served thirteen circuits and stations, as follows: Hartford, Hebron, Grand Isle, St. Albans Bay, Fairfax, Bakersfield, Elizabethtown, Peru, Chazy, Grand Isle, second time; Shoreham and Bridport, Bristol, East Dorset, and Factory Point. Some of these appointments were like those of the early days. On the Elizabethtown Charge, in 1861, he preached three times on Sunday and three times during the week, traveling during the year more than two thousand three hundred miles. Revivals and the strengthening of the churches were the ends he aimed at, and any perceptible results in these directions were a source of deep satisfaction to him. He married, in 1836, Miss Margaret C. Ostrander, who died in 1876. In 1878 he married Miss Helen J. Gray, of Middletown, Vt., who survives him. In 1879, worn with labors, he retired to his own home in Bristol. Here he led a quiet life for more than twenty years, his godly example being an inspiration to the people among whom he dwelt. During his last two years his health perceptibly failed, and several times his death was expected. Through all he was cheered by the abiding presence of the Saviour. His last illness lasted many weeks, and was accompanied by much pain. Among his last utterances were assurances of the faith which sustains when all else fails. And so he "fell on sleep."

JAMES M. EDGERTON was born at Broadalbin, N. Y., in November, 1817. Before he was two years old his parents removed to Albany, which was his home till he entered the itinerancy. He was educated in the Lancaster School and the Albany Boys' Academy. In his father's shop he learned the trade of a painter, becoming proficient in it when only a boy. In his twenty-sixth year he was soundly converted. His autobiography says: "I was born again in 1843, and knew when I was converted. I also knew that God called me to preach as soon as I was converted; but I did not obey the call until he took my oldest boy, and at his bedside, when he was dying, I promised to obey." In 1850 he received a local preacher's license, and in 1851 joined the Troy Conference, remaining a member of that body until his death, save that in 1860, when pastor at Burlington, he became a member of the Vermont Conference by change of boundaries. At the expiration of the year he was transferred to the Troy Conference. His first appointment was the Pittstown Circuit, which enjoyed a wonderful revival under his labors. His subsequent appointments in order were: Fort Edward and Sandy Hill, Shelburne, Greenwich, Sandy Hill, second time; Burlington, Dalton, Ballston Spa, Keeseville, Shelburne, second time; Sandy Hill, third time; Port Henry, Vergennes, Rutland, Slingerlands, Waterford, and Essex. In 1885, on account of increasing infirmity, he took a supernumerary relation, and in 1890 became superannuated. After his retirement his home was at Round Lake. In the autumn of 1886 a slight hemorrhage in the brain left him with a weakened verbal memory, but his mental powers remained unimpaired. His final illness, which lasted five weeks, was most acutely painful. He died, as he had lived, in the full assurance of faith, on Sunday morning, August 20, 1899. He was a man of superior intellectual endowments. In his youth he gave himself to the study of metaphysics, medicine, and law for intellectual enjoyment, and throughout his busy and most fruitful ministry was constantly investigating great themes and becoming remarkably familiar with a few great authors. His acquaintance with the philosophy of Lord Bacon was profound. He excelled in the preparation of essays for ministerial meetings. His preaching was remarkable for the combination of great logical ability with the spiritual vision of a mystic, and was often attended with overwhelming power. In his charges he not infrequently left a new or greatly improved church or parsonage as a monument of his executive ability; but the most characteristic feature of his ministry was the wonderful revivals he had. In about every pastorate he added great numbers to the Church. At Ballston Spa he received three hundred into membership, besides a multitude who joined churches of other denominations. In entering on these revivals he would sometimes suffer extreme depression of spirit, and then would have an extraordinary victory of faith, with a vision of the multitude that were surely coming to Christ. While people of all classes were converted, he was remarkably successful in winning strong men. He enjoyed nature with the rapture of the artist and the poet. Rare tenderness and sympathy were his. There were rich reserves in his character, with which only his nearest friends became familiar. At twenty-three he married Miss Mary Martin, one of their three living children being S. W. Edgerton, of the Troy Conference. In 1895 he married Mrs. Caroline Johnson, his first wife's sister, who survives him. He was a philosopher, seer, and saint, and his character was even nobler than his genius.

Jeremiah S. Hart was born in Middletown, Conn., in 1820, and died December 31, 1899, in Saratoga Springs, N. Y. In his boyhood, with his widowed mother, he removed to Pittsfield, Mass. Here he was converted and joined the Church. Possessed of a clear experience and ready utterance, he was soon licensed to preach, and in 1842 began his itinerant ministry as a supply on the old Lebanon Circuit. In 1843 he was admitted to the Troy Conference, and for twenty-eight years thereafter served with great success in Lebanon and Petersburg, N.Y.; Williamstown, Mass.; Johnstown and Waterville, Williston, Georgia, Hyde Park and Morristown, Sheldon and Enosburg, Colchester, Vt.; East Whitehall, Ausable Forks, Levings Chapel, Troy; Raymertown, Charlton and Glenville, Milton (two terms), Esperance, Middleburg, Clifton Park and Newtown, N. Y. He was married in 1847 to Miss Mariette Eldred, who, with two children, survives him. In 1871 he took a supernumerary relation, and bought a home in Saratoga Springs, where he resided until his death, honored and respected as a minister of Jesus Christ. For some years he was afflicted with a hopeless malady, which in time obscured his reason in a measure, but could not obscure the soul's experience of the presence, power, and comfort of his Saviour. In his later years was illustrated in a striking way the persistence of the spiritual consciousness in the midst of bodily and mental decay. In his last hours the passion for soul-saving asserted itself, and he pleaded as in his prime for unsaved men. His character and work were marked by great simplicity. He was a genial and courteous Christian, and a preacher of clearness and force, who did a noble work. He will be long and gratefully remembered by many to whom he showed the way of life more perfectly both by precept and by example.

Le Grand Jones was born in Fultonville, N. Y., in 1846, and died in Rensselaerville, N. Y., March 11, 1900. While yet in his teens he enlisted in the civil war, served his full time of enlistment, and received an honorable discharge. After his return he taught school for several years. He was converted at Fulton, N. Y., in 1871, was licensed to preach by the Middleburg Quarterly Conference, and was received on trial in the Troy Conference in 1873. His appointments were as follows: Quaker Street, Rockwood and Ephratah, Rural Grove, Richmondville, Rensselaerville, Shushan, Adams, Mass.; Gallupville, Sprout Brook and Salt Springville. In 1897 he became superannuated, but supplied Rensselaerville until 1900, and from that place suddenly went to his reward. He was a preacher of more than ordinary ability, his sermons giving evidence of much study and thought, and being delivered with force and fervor. He was especially popular as a speaker on Memorial Day occasions. His wife and two sons survive him.

David N. Lewis died August 6, 1899, at the residence of Wesley Bradon, in Corinth, N. Y., whither he had gone to fill the pulpit in the absence of the pastor. Soon after his arrival he was taken severely ill, his sickness resulting in heart failure. He was born in Wells, Vt., January 16, 1841, was early converted, and joined the Church at thirteen. In 1862 he was graduated with honor from Union College. He was soon licensed to preach, and was sent as a supply to assist the preacher on the Schroon Lake and North Hudson Circuit, one of the most laborious fields of the Adirondack region. In 1864 he joined the Troy Conference. His successive appointments were: Essex, Wells and Lake Pleasant, Galway, Mooers, Ellenburg, Clintonville, Whitehall, Peru, Port Henry, Jonesville, Valley Falls, Round Lake, Averill Park and Sand Lake, Eagle Mills. Many of these appointments were very toilsome fields, but in all he made full proof of his ministry. While preeminently a winner of souls everywhere, his labors were signally blessed on the Ellenburg, Mooers, and Clintonville charges, where sweeping revivals attended his self-sacrificing labors, resulting in the conversion of hundreds. During the years 1889–99 he held a supernumerary relation. As a man he was of gentle and guileless character. As a preacher he was lucid, persuasive, forceful; as a pastor, tactful, winsome, persistent. In all he was and did it could be seen he had a passion for souls. During his supernumerary years he spent several winters at Hot Springs, Ark., in quest of health. A part of the time he served as pastor of the church there, and through his sympathetic ministry many found a spiritual Bethesda who had resorted thither in search of physical cure. He was married April 14, 1866, to Miss Ophelia D. Chadwick, of West Fort Ann, N. Y., who survives him. He was a humble and conscientious follower of his Master.

Isaac C. Fenton was born in Broadalbin, N. Y., July 29, 1823, in which place his early life was spent. He was educated in the schools of Broadalbin, and afterward taught for a time, during which period he still pursued his studies. He was converted and joined the Church in Broadalbin when he was fourteen. This was the church of his parents and of a brother who several years ago became a member of the Troy Conference. On January 27, 1845, he married Margaret J. Ramsey, in Lawyersville, N. Y. After a further residence of five years in his native place her impaired health led him to seek a more favorable climate near Fairfax Court House, Va. Two years after he removed to Flint Hill, Va. Here he was active and successful in church work, became a class leader, was licensed to preach, and was recommended to the Baltimore Conference. He concluded, however, to return to his old home, and presented his recommendation to the Troy Conference in 1856, when he was admitted in a class of sixteen. His pastorates were as follows: West Arlington and Sandgate, Vt.; Mooers, Westport, Esperance, Schoharie, Sloansville and Central Bridge, Johnstown, Arbor Hill, Albany; Newtonville, Bath-on-the-Hudson, Valatie, Fort Plain, Shelburne, Vt.; Galway, Ohio Street, West Troy; Johnsonville, Clifton Park, Schaghticoke, Hartford, Schuyler Falls, and Guilderland. In 1897 he took a supernumerary relation, but after that time supplied the church at Rotterdam Junction. He was very successful in revival work, many souls being converted and gathered into the churches. His memory is thus cherished by not a few in various parts of the Conference who were by him led into rich religious experiences. He loved his calling, and gave himself unreservedly to it. His sermons were carefully prepared and earnestly delivered. On Sunday morning, April 8, 1900, he entered his pulpit at Rotterdam Junction, intending to preach on "heaven." He had proceeded but a little way with his blessed theme when he found himself unable to continue. He, however, administered the communion, after which he was conveyed to his home. He told those around his bed that his Easter sermon was written, and asked one who was present to read it on Easter morning. He died on April 11, 1900. His widow and three daughters survive.

Thomas Rogers was born of Welsh parentage in Bedeque, Prince Edward Island, in 1841. Converted in his youth and called to the ministry, he studied in the Prince of Wales College in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, and afterward at Mount Allison College, Sackville, New Brunswick, where he completed the usual classical course and received his degree. In 1867 he joined the Conference of Eastern British America, a part of which was later formed into the Nova Scotia Conference, in which he spent twenty-five years of his ministerial life. His appointments in that Conference were: Yarmouth, Petite Reviere, Lunenburg, Grand Pré, Middleton, Pictou, and two terms at Hamilton, Bermuda. In 1889, his health failing, he took a supernumerary relation, and resided at Berwick, Nova Scotia. During this rest of three years he filled for a short time a city charge in British Columbia. In 1891 he removed to the United States, locating in Esperance, N. Y., and the following spring was received into the Troy Conference. His appointments in this body were: South Shaftsbury, Vergennes, and Rupert. He married, April 10, 1872, Miss Martha Avery, of Esperance, N. Y. He was apparently in his usual good health when on Friday, March 9, 1900, he was suddenly taken down with appendicitis, and on March 20 passed to the rest remaining for the people of God. His widow and four children survive him. He was strongly and compactly built, and was hoping for years of further work in the service of the Church. His mind was clear in its perceptions and rapid in its movements. By nature large-hearted, he was also a man of earnest convictions and manly courage. His sermons were direct messages on the great themes of Christ, sin, redemption, and eternal life. His life was without reproach. A life-long friend in Nova Scotia writes as follows of his work in the Conference of Eastern British America: "Within its bounds he labored efficiently and successfully for many years. . . . He was also for a period chairman of a district, and to the discharge of the duties of this office he brought a clear and vigorous judgment, and genial, kindly tact. Pastoral duties were carefully attended to, but were not suffered to displace the demands of the study. His pulpit deliverances were at once scriptural, spiritual, and experimental. He delighted to dwell on those themes that exalted Christ as the Saviour and the Holy Spirit as the quickening and hallowing agent in the upbuilding of the inner life. His ministry was often crowned with converting grace and the garnering of precious souls." Falling at his post, he has waked in the likeness of God.

New England Conference.

William Butler, D.D., was born in Dublin, Ireland, January 30, 1818, and died in Old Orchard, Me., August 18, 1899. Until his conversion, in his twentieth year, he was connected with the Established Church of Ireland. His conversion and connection with the Methodist movement were brought about through the instrumentality of a godly woman who herself had come into a conscious religious experience under the influence of the Methodists. Not long after he was deeply impressed by a sermon preached in Dublin by Dr. John P. Durbin, and soon entered into that experience of joy and power in which henceforth he lived and worked. His first sermon was preached in St. John's Market, Liverpool, in 1839. After three years of theological study he joined the Irish Wesleyan Conference and was ordained in 1848. Early in 1850 he resolved to remove to America. Coming to New York, he was received into the New York Conference, being immediately transferred to the New England Conference and stationed at Williamsburg, Mass. He now began his missionary propaganda, with voice and pen giving to the Church at large much missionary information, and inspiring new missionary enthusiasm. In 1852 he was stationed at Shelburne Falls and published a Compendium of Missions, which was long a standard authority on its subjects; in 1853 he was at Westfield; in 1854 and 1855 at Common Street, Lynn. The Church then was looking to India as the place in which to found another mission, and he was appointed by Bishop Simpson to select the district in which to begin work and to assume charge of the movement. His "responsibility he prayerfully met, and the Church has never had occasion to question the wisdom of his decision." Escaping almost miraculously from the dangers of the Sepoy Rebellion, he began work in Bareilly. In 1864 he returned home for the restoration of his health. In 1866–67 he was at Walnut Street, Chelsea, and 1868 at Dorchester Street, Boston. In 1869 he was elected secretary of the American and Foreign Christian Union. In 1872 he was selected by Bishop Simpson to found a mission in Mexico. After seven years of service there he returned home and served one term at Melrose. He revisited India in 1883–84, and gave the following three years to the Missionary Society in the successful effort to raise the missionary offering of the Church to a million dollars a year. After his return from his labors in India he published The Land of the Veda, and after his visit in 1884 he wrote From Boston to Bareilly and Back. So lived and labored this great man, permitted of God to be the founder of missions in two hemispheres. As perhaps no other worker who ever lived, he witnessed the marvelous success of missions which he himself began. He will abide as the great pioneer missionary of Methodism. He was a seer and a statesman, God giving him vision, grace, and confirmation of his work. As a preacher he was evangelical, evangelistic, and eloquent withal. Who that heard could ever forget his sermon on the text, "I know that my Redeemer liveth?" His was a positive message. His latter days, in spite of physical pain and weariness, were serene. In the midst of a reverent community, the center of a devoted family, and the inspiration of the local church, he waited until his Master should call him. To his modest home as to a shrine came pastors and teachers, college presidents and bishops, that they might honor him and thus themselves be honored. He never lost his interest in the cause to which he had devoted the best that was in him.

All his meager life insurance was divided equally between India and Mexico. The companion of his toils and triumphs still remains with two sons and two daughters. The explorer of new fields has departed on his last journey; the saint has now entered upon the vision of God.

ELIAS HODGE was born of godly parents in Ipplepen, Devonshire, England, January 14, 1843. His Christian nurture at home was supplemented by constant attendance upon the parish church. In his young manhood he was converted at a Wesleyan chapel, and at once joined the Methodists. Like his Master, he learned the trade of carpentry, removing to Penge, near London, to perfect himself in his chosen calling, and at once uniting with the Wesleyan Methodists there, and becoming an active worker, especially in open-air services. His intentions were to become a master builder on week days and a local preacher on Sundays, on the English self-supporting plan. In 1868 he immigrated to America, locating in Chicago, and united with the church served by C. H. Fowler, now bishop. His pastor soon discovered his gifts and zeal, and advised him to take a college course and enter the ministry. This seemed to him too long a preparation. He therefore went to Kansas and did circuit work under a presiding elder. Then deciding to go East and study, he entered the School of Theology of Boston University, and was graduated in 1875. To his godliness he added diligence in study, being a miser of time. His fertile imagination and unique expression differentiated him from his fellows. His Eastern ministry began the first year of his student life in Tapleyville, Danvers. The present church was organized and the building erected during his pastorate, which closed in 1875. He married Miss Mary Grace Tarr, a companion of his childhood, who, with four children, survives. His first charge after graduation was Cochituate, where his three years' pastorate was eminently successful. His subsequent appointments were: Newtonville, Ashland, Oakdale, West Fitchburg, North Andover, Greenfield, Emmanuel, Waltham. He was especially attentive to those who needed him most. His last sickness, typhoid fever, was probably contracted while visiting an afflicted parishioner. Few members of his Conference read more standard works on theology, philosophy, history, and general literature. His sermons were unlike those of any other preacher, and were very practical and deeply spiritual. He was modest and retiring to a fault. When called out to preach or give an address he always surprised his brethren by his unsuspected abilities. All who knew him intimately dearly loved him for his sterling Christian character. After saying of himself at the last, "The Master is come and calleth for thee," he left this message for his roommate in student days and his later friend, "Tell him to do all the good he can." This was his lifelong idea of the work of a true minister. On March 5, 1900, he heard the call to go up higher.

GEORGE FRANKLIN EATON was born in Hillsboro, N. H., July 17, 1838, and died in Cambridge, Mass., September 3, 1899. His parents were devoted Christians and influential members of the Lowell Street Church, Nashua, N. H. At nineteen he was converted, and soon began to prepare for what he felt must be his life work. He first studied at the Crosby Literary Institute, and graduated from Concord Biblical Institute in 1860. In that year he married Miss Belle M. Harding, and was received on trial in the New Hampshire Conference, where he successively served Alstead, New Ipswich, and Brookline. In 1867 he was transferred to the New England Conference and served full terms at Cherry Valley, Ware, Winchendon, South Street, Lynn; Milford, Gloucester, and Waltham. In 1886 he was made presiding elder of Springfield District. In 1894 he was sent to Lafayette Street, Salem, and in 1895 became presiding elder of Cambridge District. He was a member of the General Conference of 1888 and 1892, and was for several years a manager of the parent Missionary Society. His preaching was clear and convincing. His pastoral work was tender, judicious, and faithful. His administrative ability was exceptional, and the churches he served were the gainers from its exercise. As a presiding elder he excelled. His reading was wide and continuous, with a special leaning toward natural science. Aside from the study necessary for the pulpit, it was his custom to have some subject under careful investigation, and this habit he maintained almost to the close. He was singularly tenacious in his views concerning the inspiration and authority of the Scriptures, and yet was open to receive any conclusions that were satisfactorily established. His religious life was jubilant and strong. For some years disease was doing its deadly work. He knew what the end must be, and in conversation with those closest to him calmly faced the issue. The work of the last few months was performed under the tremendous pressure of this conviction, but he did not shrink from a single duty until work was no longer possible. He returned from the Sterling camp meeting exhausted, but on Sunday morning went to his appointment at St. Paul's, Lowell. It was his last service, and he went home to die. Sinking into a state of coma, there was no opportunity for farewell or dying testimony, but his manly character, beautified by divine grace, and his life of integrity and usefulness leave no room to doubt that he has found his home with "the spirits of just men made perfect." He has left the legacy of a life devoted to the highest ideals and unselfishly spent in promoting the highest well-being of his fellow-men.

WILLIAM HENRY HATCH, D.D., at his death was the oldest member of any of the six New England Conferences. He was born in Pittston, Me., April 11, 1807, while Maine was yet a province of Massachusetts, and died in Springfield, Mass., at the home of his daughter, December 12, 1899. He spent his boyhood days much as other Maine boys of his time did, on a farm, at hard work. When quite young he removed to Great Falls, N. H., where he gave special attention to military matters, being elected successively second lieutenant, first lieutenant, and finally captain of the Great Falls Rifle Company. In February, 1831, the popular military captain and a great company of the unsaved were converted. In that revival not less than one hundred souls were added to the Church, and several of the number became ministers. In August of the same year he and his wife were received into the Church in full membership. On September 15, 1832, he was licensed to exhort, and on June 7, 1833, to preach. On August 7, 1834, he was received as a probationer in the New Hampshire Conference, and was stationed at Newmarket. At once he took high rank as an earnest, successful laborer. He received six appointments in the New Hampshire Conference: Newmarket, Exeter, Nashua, Claremont, Concord, and again Newmarket. In 1842 he was transferred to the New England Conference and stationed at St. Paul's, Lowell. From Lowell he went to Boston, first to North Russell Street, and then to Bennett Street. In 1848 he located, joined a large mining company as its chaplain, and sailed for California in the same ship with William Taylor, now bishop, of the Baltimore Conference, who had been appointed missionary to California. The mining company, on reaching California, dissolved, and Mr. Hatch was left without money or friends, stranded on a distant shore. He fell sick, was nigh to death, but through the faithful care of Mr. Taylor and his wife he recovered. On his return, in 1851, he was readmitted to the New England Conference, and appointed to Melrose. In 1860 he was elected a delegate to the General Conference. In 1868 he was appointed presiding elder of the Lynn District. Altogether he received twenty-five appointments, six in the New Hampshire and eighteen in the New England Conference. He was thrice married—first in October, 1837, to Miss Harriet S. Hatch, of North Berwick, Me., four children being now alive. Mrs. Hatch died on February 25, 1866. He married, for his second wife, Mrs. Carrie L. Brigham, who died November 18, 1874. His third wife was Mrs. Saphronia A. Walker, who died January 2, 1897. His death was sudden, notwithstanding his great age. He kept his bed in part for a day or two, when suddenly, without a struggle or warning, he commenced the life of heaven. He was highly esteemed as a pastor and preacher. His faith in God and in the divinely inspired book knew no wavering. He seemed always ready for this or the other world. His remains rest in the Cambridge cemetery awaiting the last trumpet.

James Henry Gaylord was born in New Milford, Conn., November 23, 1824, and died in Springfield, Mass., June 2, 1899. He was converted in Gaylordsville, Conn., during a revival in the winter of 1837-38. He was received into full membership in the summer of 1844. He soon afterward went to Wilbraham, where he studied for two years, and then took the entrance examination at Wesleyan University. He was licensed to exhort while in Wilbraham, in 1846, and was licensed to preach at Middletown, in 1851. He attended the Concord Biblical Institute in 1852-53, but did not graduate. He was received into the New England Conference as a probationer in 1853. His first appointment was at Sudbury, in 1853-54. His other appointments were as follows: Sutton, Oakdale, Blandford, Buckland and Shelburne Falls, Gaylordsville, Pelham, Blandford, Charlemont, Wilmington, West Windsor, Putney, Cambridgeport and Athens. From 1878 to 1888 he was supernumerary, during which time he supplied the following places: Gill, Guilford, and East Longmeadow. In 1889 he was made effective, and served two years longer at East Longmeadow, when he was again made supernumerary and so continued until 1898, when he became superannuated. During the last nine years of his life he resided at Springfield. In 1851 he married, in Marlboro, Vt., Almira S. Goodspeed. He was a refined and scholarly gentleman. While he had stalwart convictions about doctrine and daily living, yet he never forgot to be gentle and sympathetic. In private life he spent much time in prayer and the study of the Bible. He was a great reader of good books, and was always able to discuss any question of the day. As a thinker he was progressive. His last days were full of restfulness and expectancy. It was an inspiration to talk with him about the richness of his hope. He said it had been a glory to live, and that he was now only waiting for the brighter glory beyond.

Francis Baker Harvey was born in Baltimore, Md., August 4, 1867, and died in Winchester, Mass., November 19, 1899. He came from an old Methodist family, his father being prominent in the religious life of the city. At nineteen he was soundly converted, and at the same time felt a call to the ministry. He was trained at Dickinson College, and to this added the tuition of the Boston Theological School. In 1895 he joined the Baltimore Conference, and was stationed at Brunswick, Md., soon after marrying the daughter of Dr. L. B. Bates, of the New England Conference. His first station in the New England Conference was Graniteville. A remarkable work of grace attended his ministry there. In 1899 he was removed to Winchester. Just as he was bringing to this charge the blessings of his culture and consecration he fell, a noble sacrifice to consuming zeal. He had a fine personal presence, and carried himself with Christian dignity. He was always first a gentleman, and will ever be remembered for his gentleness and sweetness. Like Fra Angelico, he could not touch anything that was not sacred. A college friend, now a professor in Dickinson, said of him, "He was the nearest to the Christlike man of any human being I ever met." He had great musical talent, and it was a blessing to him in his work, yet he did not rely upon his voice to carry him. He had a good mind, and studiously exercised it. His preaching was simple declaration. "He argued not, but preached, and conscience did the rest." He was a model pastor, to whom the people instinctively turned. His influence is still with us, for the great moral forces of the world survive.

Stephen Cushing was born in Boston March 15, 1813, and died in the same city August 4, 1899. He was converted March 15, 1828, on his sixteenth birthday, while attending school at Wilbraham, and in September of that year was received into membership in Bromfield Street Church. He was licensed to preach by the Quarterly Conference of Westminster, Mass., January, 1832, and joined the New England Conference in June, 1833. His successive appointments were: Marlboro, Tolland, Eastford, Stafford Springs, Winchendon, Princeton, Hubbardston, Southbridge, East Cambridge, Newburyport, Ipswich, Lynn, Wood End, Wilbraham, Dorchester, Holliston, Nahant, Auburndale, Maplewood, Reading, Needham, Washington Street, Boston. From 1872 to 1886 he was supernumerary, and in 1887 became superannuated. On April 13, 1834, at Ashburnham, Mass., he married Miss Levina G. Whitney. For thirty-two years he labored in the pastorate, and was not without fruit. In his semi-centennial sermon before his Conference he gratefully records that his ministry was attended by four hundred conversions. Never a sensational preacher, he was ever an instructive teacher of the word. A number of his sermons have for years been doing service as tracts, distributed by his hand and at his expense. Thus while ill health had removed him from the pulpit, his pen continued to preach Christ. Faithful and of sound judgment, his talents were ever devoted to the service of the Church. He was elected a trustee of his Conference, and was treasurer for fifteen years. When retired from the active ministry he still maintained close relations with his brethren, and was ready for every possible service to the end of his fourscore years.

Frederick N. Upham was born in New Bedford, Mass., August 22, 1860, and died in Madison, N. J., December 10, 1899. His first wife was Miss Carrie Osborn, who died July 3, 1888. His second wife was Miss Ida Bassett, of Reading, Mass., who, with two daughters, survives. His appointments were West Medford, Reading, Roslindale, Baker Memorial, Boston; and Westfield. He had the reporter's gift, and in a concise way could bring out the points worthy of being fixed in the mind. But he was greatest as a preacher. This was his business, and writing his recreation. He never thought of being anything else than a preacher, and possessed the gifts, grace, and usefulness which so completely fitted him for that work. He had most of the elements of the great masters of the pulpit, substituting for the physical unction, which has been an ally to some men, the striking expression and the burning heart, without which the physical is only the sounding brass and the tinkling cymbal. The congregations that enjoyed his ministry had a liberal education, and will bear witness that he gave them a complete system of theology. In the midst of his greatest success, and with a glimpse of heaven from an exalted peak of pulpit liberty, he went to his father's home, and from Madison, N. J., to heaven. Reckoned by years, his ministry was brief, but his words have gone forth, we believe, to lift the world. When duty to his people or an opportunity to serve his brethren called he never spared his strength. His great failure was in not taking the best care of himself. In scholarly attainment, in the arts of gentlemanliness, in readiness of speech, in pulpit unction, in loyalty to our doctrine and Discipline, and in devotion to Christ, he was as good an illustration of the model Methodist minister as the New England Conference has produced.

WILLIAM J. POMFRET was born in Preston, England, April 18, 1830, and died in Woburn, Mass., February 3, 1900. His father was a zealous Wesleyan, sterling in integrity, dignified in bearing, ripe in scholarship, and an energetic colaborer of Rev. Joseph Benson and Dr. Adam Clarke in founding English Methodism. His mother, Sarah Emmet, was a Wesleyan also, with a sunny disposition and deeply pious. The son inherited the characteristics of his parents, becoming a clear thinker, a voluminous reader, and a master in the realms of socialistic, scientific, and religious thought. With his brother and later his brother-in-law, William B. Toulmin, of the New England Conference, he enjoyed a thorough training in the famous Waltonledale Seminary. After the death of his father, in 1844, his mother moved to Lowell, Mass. In 1851 he married Miss Sarah Toulmin, and soon after, while listening to a sermon by the pastor of the Leicester Church, he was convicted of sin, and while earnestly praying, the Spirit gave him the unmistakable evidence that his sins were forgiven. He became an efficient Sunday School teacher, class leader, and local preacher. His call into the ministry came while listening to a sermon at the Sterling camp meeting, in 1855. His struggle well-nigh robbed him of his strength. He tottered feebly back to his tent, and said in weakness yet firmly to his wife, "Live or die, I must preach, or I'll lose my soul. Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel." Heroically and joyfully he entered the path of duty, giving his life to Christ and his Church for more than forty years. His first pastorate was under the presiding elder, at North Brookfield, in 1855, where God gave him so many proofs of his approval that he was received into the Conference on trial in 1856. His following appointments were: North Brookfield, Clinton, West Brookfield, Coleraine, Ludlow, Williamsburg, Monson, Webster, Newton Upper Falls, Woburn, Marlboro, Fitchburg, Southbridge, West Quincy, West Medford, Lawrence, and Byfield. In 1898 he became superannuated. In all his charges he wrought as a workman that needeth not to be ashamed. In some his name became as ointment poured forth. He led many souls to Christ, healed vexatious quarrels, conquered embarrassing financial difficulties, and made many church improvements. He was a close student, an extensive reader, and a safe authority on scientific problems and biblical doctrines, and was deeply interested in the welfare of young people. He served with great acceptance on public school committees and on the Conference Board of Deaconesses. He united with deep humility true piety, and a glorious self-reliance. His bereaved wife and children expect to reign with him in heaven. Under the guidance of the Holy Spirit he blessed every community in which he labored.

J. W. MERRILL was born in Chester, N. H., May 9, 1808, and died on February 9, 1900. He was the eldest of the ten children of Joseph Annis Merrill, long a distinguished preacher and presiding elder of the New England Conference. His earliest American ancestor, Nathaniel Merrill, born in Salisbury, England, in 1610, was one of the original proprietors of Newbury, Mass., whose family there started was destined to give our Church many teachers, preachers, and official laymen. He was converted at eleven at the first camp meeting in Barre, Vt. His family having moved to Newmarket, N. H., in 1820, he enjoyed for several years the advantages of the Wesleyan Academy at that place, as afterward at Wilbraham. In his seventeenth year he received from Wilbur Fisk a certificate of fitness to teach a district school, and his first engagement was in Ashburnham. In 1827 he was licensed to exhort, and in 1828 to preach. In 1830 he entered Bowdoin College, where he studied two years. Wesleyan University having then been opened, he removed to Middletown, and was graduated in the second class, that of 1834. Thence he went to Andover Theological Seminary, whose course he completed under the inspiring instruction of Professors Moses Stuart, Edward A. Park, and others. He appears to have been the first New England preacher of our communion who added to a collegiate training the full theological course. In 1837 he was elected president of McKendree College, an institution chartered by the Illinois Legislature three years before. Among those recorded as voting for that charter stands the name of a then rising young lawyer destined to fame, Abraham Lincoln. The following year President Merrill joined the Illinois Conference. In 1840 he was chosen Professor of Biblical Literature in the new Biblical Institute, then a department of Newbury Seminary, at Newbury, Vt., and was transferred to the New England Conference in the fall of 1841. Until the spring of 1842 he labored in East Boston, and there organized the first Methodist church on that island. The following year, in Newburyport, the home of his ancestors, he married Miss Emily Huse, with whom he was permitted to spend forty-four wedded years. His early appointments were the following: Ashburnham, South Boston, Roxbury, Common Street, Lynn; Dorchester, East Cambridge, and Saxonville. In 1854 he was appointed Professor of Ethics, Metaphysics, Natural and Historical Theology in the Concord Biblical Institute, which position he held until the removal of the institution to Boston in 1867. His remaining appointments were Quincy Point, Southampton, and Ludlow. A serious impairment of his hearing greatly restricted his comfort and usefulness in his later years, but to those who knew him best the infirmity only rendered more conspicuous the inner resources of his personality, the abounding sunshine of his serene and saintly spirit. As a preacher he was didactic in aim, methodical in style, deliberate in utterance. At times, however, he touched high ranges of effective eloquence. His highest aptitudes were undoubtedly those which characterized him as a teacher. Greatly did he endear himself to his disciples. To all of them he stood in the relation of a father. In no respect was he more remarkable than that he always seemed far greater than anything he accomplished.

OBITUARIES.

Northern German Conference.

Franz L. Nagler, D.D., was born in Muehldorf, Germany (Saxony), December 20, 1849. He came with his parents to the United States when three years old. For the first seven years the family lived in Pittsburg, Pa., and then moved to a farm near Irving, Mich., where the parents were converted, and joined the Methodist Church. At the age of eighteen years Franz went to the German Wallace College, at Berea, O. In the winter of 1869 he was converted, soon after which he felt called to enter upon the work of the Lord. In 1871 he joined the Central German Conference, and was assistant pastor in Lansing one year. His after appointments were as follows: Edgerton, Goshen, East Saginaw, Everett Street, Cincinnati; and Portsmouth. He was next appointed presiding elder of the North Ohio District for three years, and then served Race Street Church, Cincinnati, for one year. In 1889 he became president of St. Paul's College, at St. Paul's Park, Minn., and was at that time transferred to the Northern German Conference, of which he was thereafter a member till his death. In 1895, when Dr. Liebhart was suddenly taken away, he was elected by the Book Committee as the editor of the Haus und Herd, and at the General Conference of 1896 was reelected to the same office for the next quadrennium. He was also elected president of the German Epworth League. In all the positions to which he was called he proved himself worthy of the confidence placed in him, filling them to the complete satisfaction of the Church. He was a close student, an excellent preacher, a successful president of St. Paul's College, and an able editor. He wrote fifteen books. In 1896 his Conference elected him as their delegate to the General Conference, to which position he was again elected in 1900. On November 23, 1869, he married Catharine Buehler, who, with two sons and two daughters, survives him. He died, as he had lived, in the lively hope of eternal life, on Sunday, March 18, 1900. The funeral services were held in Trinity Church, Cincinnati, on March, 1900; about fifty ministers of different Conferences being present in respect for this prominent man of God.

Indiana Conference.

William H. Kendrick, M.D., was born in Knox County, Tenn., December, 1814, his father removing to Ohio when the son was about five years of age. He grew to manhood on a farm, with only such educational advantages as the common schools of that day afforded, but so improved these opportunities that when he was converted, at about twenty, he at once became a preacher, of more than ordinary ability, in the United Brethren Church, and in a few years became a traveling preacher in the same Church. After a few years' service his health failed and he studied medicine, graduating from the Eclectic Medical College of Cincinnati in 1848. After practicing his profession at Washington, Wayne County, Ind., and then at Pendleton, he removed to Indianapolis in 1851, and began a large and successful practice. Such was his acknowledged ability that he became a professor in the Eclectic Medical College of Chicago, and later dean of the Eclectic Medical College of Indianapolis. In the midst of his large and laborious practice he found time to preach almost every Sabbath, and often twice. The first seventeen years after settling in Indianapolis this service was rendered in connection with the United Brethren Church. In 1869 he severed his connection with his Church on account of its hostility to secret societies, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. His orders were recognized, and he became a member of the Southeast Indiana Conference in 1870, taking a supernumerary relation, which he maintained until his death. But he was in labors abundant, hunting up destitute neighborhoods and preaching and organizing societies. It was through his gratuitous labors, in a rented room on West Washington Street, that the nucleus of the present Blackford Street Church was formed, and also the nucleus of the Edwin Ray Church was likewise gathered by him in an unfinished dwelling house. Beside these he was active in the early days of Hall Place, Broadway, Madison Avenue, and Furnas Place Churches, lending his help in their infancy. He continued to engage in work of this kind until the infirmities of age rendered it impossible. He was at one time assistant surgeon of the Nineteenth Indiana Regiment. He was twice elected a representative in the Indiana Legislature during the stormy war period. He married, March 19, 1842, Miss Jeanetta Meridith, who died about one year previous to his death, the latter occurring November 26, 1899. His labors on earth have ceased, and he has entered into rest.

William Nichols was born in Franklin County, Ind., April 9, 1815, and died at his home near New Palestine, Ind., July 27, 1900. He married Miss Sarah Cook, of Rush County, Ind., September 17, 1835. He was converted in 1837, licensed to preach in 1843, admitted into the Conference of the United Brethren in Christ in 1847, and from that into the Southeast Indiana Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1870. He was appointed to Clear Springs Circuit, where he remained one year. In 1871-72 he was sent to Lawrence, and in 1873-75, to Morristown. In 1876 he was granted a supernumerary relation, and in 1881 was given a superannuated relation. Fourteen years ago he had a partial stroke of paralysis, from which he suffered more or less until the end. He quietly awaited his summons, for which he lived, and which came as a welcome means of relief from suffering. He had set his house in order. His funeral text was 2 Tim. iv, 6-8, an epitome of his life and hopes being given in that passage. His venerable wife, with whom he walked sixty-five years, and seven children survive to mourn. He will be greatly missed by the Church, the community, and his devoted family. But for him to depart is to be with Christ, which is far better.

John Wright Julian was born in Rutherford County, N. C., Oct. 13, 1814, and died in Gordon, Neb., April 13, 1900. His father was a member of the Kentucky Conference, and in 1828 was sent to the Booneville (Ind.) Circuit. After serving as its pastor for two years he located and spent the remainder of his life in Warrick County, preaching acceptably as a local preacher until 1851, when he died. The son united with the Church in Hopkins County, Ky., being happily converted July 12, 1830. He married Miss Susan Gray, near Booneville, Ind., October 1, 1833; one of their sons being B. F. Julian, a superannuated member of the Indiana Conference. His second marriage, which took place August 12, 1847, was to Mrs. Sarah A. Sears, widow of the Rev. Allen Sears, of the Indiana Conference; their son being Allen R. Julian, now of the West Nebraska Conference. On February 9, 1887, he was greatly bereaved by the death of his wife, and after her death made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Alice Brewer, of Gordon, Neb. He was licensed to preach by the Quarterly Conference of the Newburg Circuit, February 28, 1843, and in the following October was admitted on trial in the Indiana Conference. During his effective ministry he served the following appointments: Mount Vernon, Rome, Troy, Petersburg, New Harmony, Washington, Carlisle, New Lebanon, Vincennes, Oakland, McKendree, and Lower Albany, presiding elder Paoli District, chaplain in the army one year, Orleans and Mitchell, John Street, New Albany; Salem, Newburg, Corydon, Plainfield, Graysville, Bruceville, Grandview, Petersburg again, Main Street, New Albany. In 1883 he took a superannuated relation, and so continued until called to the "higher ministries of the skies." During his term as presiding elder he was commissioned chaplain of the Fifty-third Regiment Indiana Volunteer Infantry. This came to him as a surprise, but he accepted it as a duty, and immediately surrendering his district, was mustered in on March 12, 1862. He was engaged in active service about six months, and on account of failing health returned home and received an honorable discharge April 10, 1863. He was a good preacher and pastor, was faithful to his calling, was an honored citizen, and was universally loved.

Harvey Harris was born in Switzerland County, Ind., December 6, 1834. When but nine he attached himself to the Church, of which his parents were members. In February, 1853, he was happily converted. His education was obtained in the common schools, and such proficiency did he make that at the age of seventeen he began teaching. He married Miss Cornelia Tyson, of Ripley County, Ind., October 26, 1854. He enlisted in Company B, One Hundred and Fifty-sixth Regiment Indiana Volunteer Infantry, in March, 1865, and was mustered out in August of the same year. He was licensed to preach January 28, 1865. He traveled Canaan Circuit as a supply, and 1867 was admitted on trial in the Southeast Indiana Conference. After his admission he received appointments as follows: Canaan, Patriot, Milroy; Centenary, Greensburg; Milroy again, Sugar Branch, Manchester, Coburn Street, Indianapolis; Edwin Ray, Indianapolis; Vevay, Dillsboro, Hope, Utica, Milton, and Metamora. He was a good preacher, strictly orthodox in doctrine, and earnest in the delivery of his sermons. At the Conference of 1898 he asked for a supernumerary relation and removed to Rising Sun. He expected to again enter the pastorate, but was compelled to give up his cherished hope, and at the Conference of 1899 was granted a superannuated relation. During his long sickness he was patient and uncomplaining. At a sacramental service, held in his room a few weeks before his death, he said: "I want you to know that I am not walking through the shadows, and have not been. My soul is exulting in Christ." On November 16, 1899, his spirit took its flight to the realms of everlasting bliss. He was one of God's noblemen, an upright, conscientious Christian gentleman, a good citizen, and a faithful minister of Christ.

James B. Hamilton was born in Washington County, Ind., October 16, 1820, and died in Bloomington, Ind., October 26, 1899. He resided with his parents until he was twenty-three, received the best education the common schools afforded, and for a time was a successful teacher. He married Miss Elizabeth Rice, of Lexington, Ky., in 1840, one of their children being E. A. Hamilton, of the Illinois Conference. His wife died at Orleans, Ind., August 13, 1854. His second marriage was to Miss Euphrasia Stuckey, of Petersburg, Ind., September 8, 1855, who survives with two children. He was converted at twenty, and joined the Church. In 1844 he was received into the Indiana Conference, and served the following charges: Rome Mission, New Lebanon, Knox County Mission, Leesville, Portland, Orleans, Springville, Orleans second time, Petersburg, Newburg, Boonville, Washington, Sullivan, Worthington, Putnamville, Linton, Stanford, Ellettsville, Erie, Raglesville, Patoka, Newark, Quincy, Belleville, Alfordsville, New Philadelphia, Tunnelton, Shoals, Erie again, Springville again, Odon, Bloomington Circuit, and New Harmony, making a period of active service of forty-one years, for one year and five months of which he was chaplain in the army, serving in the Thirty-first Regiment Indiana Volunteer Infantry. On October 24, 1864, he left Louisville, Ky., for the front. He took an active part in the battle of Franklin, riding at the head of his regiment in the terrible charge against the works of Hood. He marched through Alabama to New Orleans, then sailed across the Gulf of Mexico to Galveston, Tex., where his regiment did important service guarding the frontier until the war closed. He was mustered out in March, 1865. In 1885 he took a superannuated relation which he sustained continuously till his death, during which time he resided at Bloomington, Ind. As a preacher he was forcible, instructive, and practical. A commanding presence, a strong voice, a vigorous style, accompanied by the unction of the Holy Ghost, made him a power in the pulpit. His death was most triumphant. When asked about his future hope he would say, "The Christ I have served so long will not desert me now."

Northwest Indiana Conference.

John Henry Hull was born about eighteen miles from Hillsboro, O., January 18, 1818, and died March 22, 1900. His parents were of sterling Methodist stock, his father, who was an exhorter, dying in 1818. During his early boyhood there was no school to which he could go, he having at seven begun to earn his own living. At this time, however, he learned to spell and read in the Sunday school from the New Testament. He next lived with a physician for two years. When ten years old an uncle assumed his guardianship, and he was put to learn the tailor's trade in Greenfield. They were kind to him and permitted him to attend school three months in the year. These privations contributed to the development of that sturdy manhood which later characterized him. At thirteen he was happily converted and united with the Church. In his fourteenth year he began holding prayer and class meetings "on his own account," and was authorized by his pastor to invite seekers of religion. He was licensed to exhort in 1834. Coming to Indiana in 1835, he located in Wayne County, where for three years he served as an exhorter, supporting himself by his trade. He was licensed to preach March 17, 1838, and was employed as a supply on Muncietown Circuit. In September, 1838, he was admitted on trial in the Indiana Conference, and appointed to Winchester Circuit, with a colleague. On going to the charge the officers told him they could not support two men, and asked one of them to retire. He replied, "I am a Methodist preacher and cannot retire." They both remained, and during the year received about four hundred people into the Church. In 1839 he was appointed to Muncietown Circuit, where he had served as a supply. The year was prosperous, between four and five hundred being received into the Church. In 1840 he was appointed to Marion Circuit, which touched seven counties. During unfavorable weather it required two horses, and once three, to carry him around the circuit. In 1841 he was returned to Winchester Circuit, without a colleague, and received nearly as many into the Church as during his former pastorate In 1842 he was again sent to Muncietown for the third time. In 1843 he was appointed to Pearl Street, Richmond. In 1844, by division of the Indiana Conference, his lot fell into the North Indiana Conference and was successively appointed to Cambridge City, Williamsburg Circuit, Fifth Street, Lafayette; Greencastle, Roberts Chapel, Indianapolis, where a revival spirit prevailed for eighteen months and many were received into the Church, two new organizations being begun; Centerville, Richmond again, Indianapolis District, and Berry Street, Fort Wayne, in 1857, where a serious illness disabled him. At the close of the year he took a superannuated relation and moved to Tippecanoe County. In 1859 he was transferred to the Northwest Indiana Conference and stationed a second time at Fifth Street, Lafayette His subsequent appointments were Battle Ground, Lafayette District, Indianapolis District again, Terre Haute District, Battle Ground District, and Lafayette District again In 1873 he took a supernumerary relation, in which he continued for three years In 1876 he became superannuated, and so continued for eight years. In 1884 he became effective, and was appointed to Danville. During his third year in this charge he had a slight stroke of paralysis, and at Conference was again granted a superannuated relation, which he sustained until his death. In all his work he was greatly successful. "Under his direction and wise management several beautiful churches and parsonages were constructed, and several churches rescued from wreck by the payment of debts. As a presiding elder his administration was wise; as a preacher he was scriptural, clear, eloquent, earnest, and successful. Being a man of fine presence, graceful address, and by nature an orator, with a superb command of language, he always preached with great power. . . . Not a single stain ever attached to his life or character." On June 25, 1835, he married Martha Clark Avey, in Clermont County, O., who died May 5, 1850, three children surviving. On September 8, 1852, he married Henrietta Lockwood, in Indianapolis, who, with four children, survives him. Some of his last words were: "My children, I am not basing my hope of heaven on any deathbed revelations, nor on anything I have done, nor on anything I may have suffered, but on Jesus Christ;" "I love everybody, and have not an enemy in the world, so far as I know."

Detroit Conference.

Frederick W. Warren was born in Newfane, N. Y., February 20, 1820, and died in Howell, Mich., October 17, 1899. At the age of ten years his parents settled in Southfield, Mich. On February 27, 1839, he was soundly converted, and immediately united with the Church. He was soon appointed a class leader, and received license to exhort July 26, 1840. On July 15, 1843, he was granted a local preacher's license, and three months later became a supply on the Birmingham Circuit The year's work in the Master's vineyard was so fruitful in spiritual results that he was led to acquiesce in the judgment of his brethren and the demand of his own conscience, and was received on trial in the Conference, and was appointed to Mount Clemens. His next appointment was Plymouth, where he married Miss Lavina L. Seaver. The following were his later appointments: Livingston, Farmington, Manchester, Ridgeway, Morenci, Hudson, Manchester again, Monroe, Owosso District, East Saginaw, Saline, Howell, Napoleon, South Bay City, Brighton, Fowlerville, Marion, South Lyons, Denton, Williamston, and Hartland. At the Conference of 1888 he was given a superannuated relation, and moved to Howell, where he resided until his death, Mrs. Warren preceding him nearly four years. On the Thursday evening preceding his death, having led the weekly prayer meeting of the Church, he was returning home, and descending the steps leading to the walk, fell to the ground fracturing four ribs and shocking his entire system. He retained consciousness to the last hour, and in a whisper said. "Tell the brethren I love them all." Of his family four children remain. His success in the ministry was reached by varied powers and devotion working in harmony toward one specific end. His sermons instructed, quickened, and comforted his hearers. Among his parishioners he was a friend who imparted wise counsel. We miss him here, he has been crowned yonder.

Jesse Barber Russell was born in Niagara County, N. Y., being a son of Jesse Russell, a minister of the Wesleyan Methodist Church. One of his brothers is John Russell, of the Detroit Conference, and familiarly known as "the father of prohibition," and a minister since 1843. The family moved from New York State to Michigan when Jesse was six years of age, and settled in Lenawee County. Here he grew to manhood, and on June 24, 1856, married Miss Margaret J. Ferrel, of Prospect Hill, who died September 7, 1881. He later married, on November 28, 1883, Miss Mary Graves Hall, of Milan, Mich., who died October 18, 1887, at Deford, Mich. He was received on trial in the Detroit Conference in 1858. His appointments were as follows: Mount Morris, Dansville, Lambertville, Chaplain in the Twenty-third Michigan Infantry, Watrousville, Medina, Watrousville again, Henrietta, Unadilla, Stony Creek, Fairfield, Milan, Carleton, St. Ignace, Port Sanilac, Caseville, Reese, Tuscola, and Deford. He then took a supernumerary relation. In 1893 he was stationed at Eames, and later served Carrollton, Zilwaukee, and Shields. In 1897 he received a superannuated relation, on account of failing health. In November, 1899, he suffered a third stroke of paralysis. After spending some weeks at the hospital in Saginaw he removed to the Soldiers' Home, near Grand Rapids, where he remained until the end came on April 2, 1900. He was an earnest, logical, and convincing preacher. A friend has described some of his discourses as "sweeping and overwhelming in their power," and adds, "His camp meeting sermons were clothed frequently with the unction of the very highest eloquence." His record is on high.

Richard Wyatt was born in Liskeard, Cornwall, England, February 22, 1871, and died in Champion, Mich., June 29, 1900. While he was still young his parents came to Michigan and settled in Houghton County, where amid the rugged scenery and the intense business life of the Calumet mining region he grew to manhood. Converted at seventeen, he early realized that his work in life would be the ministry. After graduating from the high school at Calumet he went to Albion College to fit himself for the duties before him. In 1895 he was admitted on trial in the Detroit Conference. Brother Wyatt's appointments were: Sidnaw, National Mine, Ishpeming, Stephenson, and Champion. By earnest and thoughtful preaching, diligent pastoral work, and sweet-spirited Christian manliness he endeared himself to his people, and gave full proof of his ministry. On September 28, 1897, he married Miss Emma Brown, of Ishpeming, Mich., who remains with two children. He realized the Wesleyan ambition to "cease at once to work and live." The week of his departure was a busy one. On Monday he conducted the funeral of one of his people, accompanying the remains to a distant city for interment. The three following days were filled with pastoral duties, amid much suffering. Thursday evening he attended and blessed a marriage feast. On Friday morning he sat at breakfast little thinking that his coronation day had come: but before another dawning the world of shadows had receded from his vision and he was forever with the Lord.

Samuel Bird was born of Scotch and Irish parentage in the North of Ireland, November 4, 1821, and died in Fort Wayne, Ind., at the home of his daughter, March 13, 1900. Two of his brothers were ministers of the Gospel, one preaching over sixty years. His father was a prominent minister of the Methodist Church of Canada. He came to America with his parents when three years of age and settled in Canada, where he remained till 1840, when he came to Michigan and settled at Algonac. In 1844 he married Miss Hannah M. Moore, one child being S. W. Bird, of the Detroit Conference. He was converted when a little boy, and soon realized that God called him to the work of the ministry. In 1859 he was admitted on trial in the Detroit Conference, after serving as a supply one year, at Willow Creek. He served the following charges: Willow Creek, Vicksburg (now Marysville), Armada, Oakland and Stony Creek, Oakland (now Orion), Commerce, Davisburg, Byron, Laingsburg, Vernon, North Branch, Almont, Metamora, Richmond, Stockbridge, Brighton, Salem, Webberville, Salem again. He was superannuated in 1891, afterward residing at Lansing, Williamston, and Fort Wayne, Ind. His great faith, passion for souls, oneness of purpose, and zeal made him a fiery revivalist. Hundreds fell at the foot of the cross, under his preaching, and cried, "What must I do to be saved?" His superannuated relation did not make null his call to preach, but he would go to the schoolhouses with the word of life. This was notably true south of Williamston, near the little piece of land on which he lived. There the good man's life and preaching had their regenerating influence on the mass of the people. He handled the word of God with a depth of knowledge that revealed the mind of the Spirit. After his superannuation his presence was a benediction to the Church. Though very feeble, he desired much to see his brethren in the ministry, and attended the Conference of 1899, where he became quite ill. After returning to Fort Wayne he gradually failed, till stricken down with pneumonia, which resulted in his death. As the gates of the other world opened for him Christ was all and in all. Reaching out his hand in farewell, without a struggle, he fell asleep in Jesus.

Marcenus B. Wilsey was born in Stark, N. Y., April 7, 1817, and died at his home in Milford, Mich., January 30, 1900. When seven years old his parents moved to Alexander, Jefferson County, N. Y., and settled on a new farm in a new country; the nearest school being three miles away, of the poorest quality, and kept but three months yearly, in the summer time. At fifteen his parents returned to Stark, where the school was much better, and where he prosecuted his studies with all his ability. When eighteen he left home and attended a select school for five terms, after which, for a number of years, he followed the teacher's profession. In 1838 he came to Michigan, where he devoted his winters to teaching, and during the summer worked on a farm. He married Alury Ann Bigelow, May 13, 1840, who survives him. He gave his heart to his Saviour, and united with the Wesleyan Methodist Church at the time of its organization in Michigan, in 1842. In 1843 he was licensed to preach, and at the Conference of that Church, in 1844, was received on trial, and appointed to Grand River Circuit, its center being Grand Rapids, and the surrounding country being one vast wilderness. The difficulties and hardships were great, yet he heroically pushed his way through the tangled forest, hunted up the scattered people, and preached to them in their cabins the consolations of the Gospel. In 1848 he was ordained elder, and continued to preach in the Wesleyan Church for a number of years. He was twice elected a delegate to their General Conference, and long served as trustee of Adrian College. At the close of the civil war, slavery having been abolished, he felt that the purpose for which his Church had been organized was accomplished, and with others united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, in 1867, and was received into the Detroit Conference. His successive appointments were: Laphamville, South Lyons, Hamburg, and Whitmore Lake. On each of these charges he did faithful work. In 1870, in consequence of failing health, he received a superannuated relation, afterward laboring as his health would permit and opportunities opened. He was a good, pure man, and as true as steel. His convictions were strong, and his perceptions clear. He was a good preacher, his sermons being logical, scriptural, and spiritual. For over twenty years he taught a large Bible class in the Sunday school, holding its members as with hooks of steel. A good man has gone to his reward, and his works do follow him.

Stephen Lapham Ramsdell was born in Macedon, N. Y., April 4, 1823, and died in Jackson, Mich., May 4, 1900. His father was a minister of the Society of Friends. He was early impressed with the necessity of a religious life, and at twelve was convicted of sin and brought into a state of communion with God. Having afterward yielded to the enticements of the world, he was soundly converted in his thirty-third year in the city of Adrian, Mich. After leaving the district school he attended the academy at Canandaigua, N. Y., and afterward engaged in teaching. In his twenty-first year he entered a law office in Canandaigua, N. Y., and at the July term of the Supreme Court, held in New York city in 1847, received his diploma as attorney and counselor at law. He joined the Detroit Conference on trial in 1857, his successive appointments being as follows: Unadilla Circuit, junior preacher; South Lyon, junior preacher; Chelsea Circuit, junior preacher; Trenton, Northville, supernumerary, Goodrich, Otisville, Highland, Belleville, Unadilla again, and Salem and Northfield. In 1883 he took a superannuated relation. At Addison, where he subsequently resided with his son, he often preached once or twice each Sabbath. He married in March, 1855, Miss Angeline P. Underhill, of Macedon, N. Y. They removed in October to Adrian, Mich., where they were both converted. In less than two months after her conversion his wife died. In March, 1861, he married Louisa H. Coy, at Northfield, Mich., their surviving son being D. H. Ramsdell, of the Detroit Conference. He was a diligent student of God's word, which became increasingly his delight. Before his conversion he purchased a set of Clarke's Commentaries that he might better understand the Scriptures. After superannuation he read his New Testament in Greek, and studied with the aid of such critical commentaries as Godet, Delitsch, and Meyer. Up to the last he watched the reviews for new books, and was a frequent purchaser. His preaching was logical, practical, and scriptural. Christ and his redemptive work was the central theme. As a soul winner he was successful, some great revivals attending his ministry. The last months of his life were especially rich in experience. Shut in doors all the winter, he often said, "You don't know how I enjoy the divine presence." While on a visit at Ann Arbor and Jackson he was taken sick, and after an illness of a week passed away. His memory is blessed.

Thomas Wakelin was born in Barrow-upon-Lowe, Leicestershire, England, December 31, 1807, and died in Ypsilanti, Mich., September 28, 1899, being at the time the oldest man in his Conference. In 1829 he heard Dr. Adam Clarke preach from the text, "The time is fulfilled . . .: repent ye, and believe the Gospel;" the sermon leading to his conversion. He came to the State of Michigan in 1842, and joined the Michigan Conference on trial in 1843. He remained thirty-two years in the effectual work, and declared that they were the happiest years of his life. His appointments were: Manchester, Ingham, Livingston, Manchester again, Farmington, Milford, Detroit City Mission, Hadley, Byron, Genesee, Groveland, Leesville, Flat Rock, Commerce, New Haven, Perry, Henrietta, Leesville again, Thretford and Kearsley, Mt. Morris, Hazleton. In 1844 he resided at Mason, and had twenty-two appointments to look after, his receipts for services that year being only $126. On his charges he saw hundreds enter upon the Christian life. In 1840 he married Miss Elizabeth Bates, of Leicestershire, England, the union continuing for forty-eight years. He believed in a clear-cut Gospel which found man a fallen creature, required of him repentance for sin, and promised him pardon on the exercise of unreserved faith in Jesus Christ. He was a faithful disseminator of our Church literature, especially our periodicals, being in this work conscientious, systematic, ingenious, and very successful. His disposition was one of contentment. On September 28, 1899, he fell on sleep at the home of Rev. J. C. Wortley, in Ypsilanti. He was a good man, lived a good life, died a good death, and a good eternity is before him.

Jacob C. Wortley was born in Methwold, England, August 9, 1830, and died in his home in Ypsilanti, Mich., October 28, 1899. He came to America in 1852, making his home with his uncle, first in Rawsonville, then in Ypsilanti. He was converted in youth. As a local preacher he began his work in communities near Ypsilanti. He attended school first at Albion, and then at Ann Arbor. From the State university he graduated in 1860, and the same year united with the Detroit Conference. His several appointments were: Bay City, Detroit, Grass Lake, Albion, Dexter, Monroe, Manchester, Saline, Wayne, Holly, Williamston, and Swartz Creek. He was a faithful preacher of the Gospel. While independent in thought and fearless in expression, he never offended those who truly loved Christ and his Church. He was, in brief, an earnest man sent to proclaim the truth of Christ's kingdom, and ever feeling it a duty to maintain discipline and sound doctrine. "Those who came to his nature frankly and with genuine brotherliness found his soul as tender as a child's. He rested in such friends." Children and youth loved him because of his tender playfulness. Men respected him because of his intellectual grasp and stability of character. For years an invalid, his hold upon the local church where he was best known grew stronger, until at last, surrounded by praying friends, he fell on sleep, passing from the sight of men.

California Conference.

N. R. Peck was born March 23, 1813, and died in Pacific Grove, October 23, 1899. At the early age of fourteen he was converted and united with the Baptist Church under the ministry of his father. Subsequently he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and soon after entered her ministry, in which he continued for more than sixty years until his death. His first work in Southern California was done in 1854. In 1855 he was appointed to organize a second charge in Sacramento, and during his pastorate a church was built on H Street, afterward named "Kingsley Chapel," and finally "Central." In 1861 he was appointed to the Nevada District, where he remained two years. He then successfully served Auburn, Ophir, and Penryn, where he built a church. As a man he possessed a strong and positive personality. Honest in his opinions, he was fearless in expressing them. As a preacher he was clear, forceful, and convincing. He was a lover of young people, and was especially helpful to them. For a number of years he had been a superannuated member of his Conference, residing at Pacific Grove. The final summons came to him suddenly, while partaking of his morning meal. He sleeps beneath the pines in the cemetery by the sea at Pacific Grove.

Alexander Barris, a native of Chautauqua County, N. Y., was born November 28, 1814, and died in Cottage Grove, near San José, November 17, 1899. Of his education he says, "My first schooling was in the cornfield, and my educational career, as far as instruction from others is concerned, ended in Allegheny College, from which, however, I was not permitted to graduate." He was converted in early life, and his conversion was soon followed by a call to the ministry. In 1839 he was admitted on trial in the Erie Conference, in which he remained until 1869, when he was transferred to the California Conference, and appointed agent of the University of the Pacific. His interest in this institution never ceased; his last gift thereto, only a few months before his death, was his library. His mind was characterized by keen analytical power up to the end. In his prime he was a strong preacher and a very successful minister. For many years he was an attendant at the Bible class in First Church, San José, in which, toward the last, there were four others like himself who had lived beyond their fourscore years. In the afternoons of the Lord's day for the last nine years he taught the Bible class in the mission church near his home. His approach to the gates of death was through excruciating suffering, but he murmured not, and his heart kept in sympathy with the living present. He sleeps in peace.

Samuel T. Sterritt was born in Illinois April 16, 1825. He came of that sturdy Scotch-Irish stock which contributed so many strong men to the settlement of the central west. His father died while his son was yet an infant. At the age of twelve he united with the Church as a probationer, though he did not experience conversion until nearly twenty years of age. After six years of hesitancy he yielded to the conviction to preach. He spent some time in McKendree College, and in 1850 he entered the Illinois Conference. Here he worked for six years, when he was transferred to the Minnesota Conference, which at that time embraced a part of Wisconsin. His first appointment was Hudson. In 1857 he was made presiding elder of the Monticello District, in whose bounds was Minneapolis, then a small place, with only one Methodist Episcopal Church. He shared fully in the vicissitudes of those pioneer days, with their great toil, long journeys, peril of Indians, and other privations. Some of his later appointments were: Red Wing, Faribault, Northfield, Owatonna, St. Cloud, Shacapee, Minneapolis, Hastings, and Farmington. While pastor at St. Cloud he married Miss Mary M. Hauer, a student of Oberlin College. The condition of his wife's health brought him to California in 1879, where she soon died. In 1886 he married Mrs. Bell Burroughs, M.D., of San Rafael, who survives him. In 1888 failing health compelled him to superannuate. The last twelve years of his life were spent mainly in San Francisco and Alameda. At times his pain amounted to agony, but his faith in God was bright and constant. In September, 1899, he went to visit friends in Sacramento, hoping the change would prove beneficial. But soon after returning home a recurrence of his malady in its severest form took place, from which he was unable to rally, and he passed away Monday, December 11, 1899. In a brief note written shortly before his death he says: "I am glad Christ gave me one life to spend for him, and through his wondrous grace I have been enabled thus to spend it; and if I had a thousand lives to give, or if life were an eternal probation, with no promise of reward further than the satisfaction which his blessed service yields, and the consciousness of honoring him, though in a most feeble and humble capacity, I would gladly and thankfully spend all for him." A man of God has gone home.

Esdras Smith was born in Langdon, N.H., September 1, 1829, and died December 22, 1899. His parents, who were members of the Presbyterian Church in 1848, emigrated to Missouri, and shortly afterward to Illinois, settling in Waverly, Morgan County. Here he experienced religion in June, 1849, during a prayer meeting held in a log schoolhouse. He shortly afterward joined the Church on probation, and was subsequently baptized. The impression that he must preach increased, and resistance brought condemnation, in which state he continued for months, until he joined the Minnesota Conference in 1856. He came to the California Conference in 1874 and was successively stationed at Ferndale, Upper Meattoli, Slacks Canyon, Monterey County, Mokelumne Hill, Harmony Grove, Florin, India Springs, Colfax twice, Brownsville, George town, Dutch Flat, Ophir, and Iowa Hill Circuit. He was superannuated in September, 1899, at his own request. He was married to his first wife in Iowa. To his second wife, who survives him, he was married in Petersburg, Ill., in 1886. He was fearless as an apostle. Confronted by cruel blizzards, wild beasts, and wilder men, he pursued his work regardless of the uplifted tomahawk, dripping with blood. Many a strong church stands to-day on the ground which he gained inch by inch. He was intimately acquainted with Peter Cartwright, and shared his heroic spirit. In and near Colfax, where he had a little mountain ranch, he enjoyed the love of the entire community, and throngs on the day of his funeral bore testimony to his strong qualities. He fell asleep in the full assurance that the grave was but the portal to life eternal.

Frederick James Masters, D.D., was born September 23, 1850, near Stratford-on-Avon, in the vale of Evesham, England. His parents were members of the Wesleyan Church, and dedicated this son to God in his infancy. Having reached a suitable age, he was sent to Richmond College, then presided over by Dr. Moulton, the eminent scholar, and a man of saintly character, who was to the youth a wise and loving father. While he was at Richmond College the call to be a missionary came to him. As the Conference was yet undecided where to send him, his father said, "Have no anxiety, my son; I gave you to God and China from your birth." And the son adds: "No communication ever passed between my father and the stationing committee. He left the matter in God's hands, and could calmly wait. The prayer was answered; they sent me to China." In 1874 he reached Canton and began his passionate study of the language and people, becoming soon a fluent and effective preacher. On June 20, 1876, he married Miss Mary Galbraith, a native of Vermont, and a missionary under the United Presbyterian Church of America. After nine years of fruitful service in Canton he returned on furlough via San Francisco to England. While in San Francisco he met Dr. Otis Gibson, and was deeply interested in the missions to the Chinese. His preaching was a revelation to the people, and they listened with delight to his thrilling Gospel. After the breakdown of Dr. Gibson the following year his thought turned to Dr. Masters as the providential man. He finally consented, and in 1885 assumed charge of the Chinese and Japanese missions. Early in 1889 his health began to give way, and, by the advice of physicians, he decided to visit his old home in Evesham. He gained on the journey thither and for a time after his arrival, but soon his disease made headway. His mother, brothers, and sisters importuned him to take a long rest; but this he could not do. Bidding them good-bye, he came back in August, 1899, and went on with his work cheerfully almost until the hour when he ceased to live. From his home in Berkeley, Cal., on January 2, 1900, he went home to God. He was large in body, mind, heart, and spirit. His gifts were all devoted to God for China. Many articles from his pen which appeared in the magazines and journals were to this end. His commentaries on 2 Corinthians, produced while in Canton, are highly appreciated by the Chinese Christians. He was graceful in speech and master of the Cantonese dialect, and, warming to his theme, became unconscious of self, and opened to his hearers the sweet mysteries of salvation. In San Francisco, Los Angeles, Sacramento, Portland, and many other places he was listened to on the streets by thousands of Chinese. He was every inch a soldier. In fighting the battles of the poor slave-girl against the highbinders and corrupt courts he never hesitated. Many times his strong right arm struck down a brute and rescued a helpless girl. We glory in his brave, unselfish life, and we embalm him in our hearts forever as a true Christian knight.

Richard W. Williamson was born in West Cowes, Isle of Wight, March 22, 1822, and died in his home near Freestone, Sonoma County, Cal., January 2, 1900. At eighteen he was converted, and united with the Church. When about twenty-five years of age he began his ministry, preached a few years in his native land, at Reading, Leeds, and other appointments. Leaving England, he came to Toronto, Canada, and from there to New York. In 1854 he came to San Francisco, and entered with Rev. (now Bishop) Taylor upon work at the "Old Bethel," helping to establish Methodism on this coast. In 1855 he joined the California Conference. The same year he married Miss Nancy B. Graves. His first appointment was Union (now Arcata) charge. His second was Green Valley, Santa Rosa, and Russian River country. Subsequently he served the Seamen's Bethel charge, and then was sent to Petaluma, where, in 1868, he was stricken with slow paralysis, from which he never recovered, though he continued to preach for some years. From Petaluma he was sent to St. Helena, afterward serving San Francisco, Potrero, and Middletown, Lake County, where, on account of failing health, he gave up the active work. He was a close student, well read, and deeply pious, professing intimate communion with God. He was a faithful expounder of the word, and a true minister of Christ. For the past three years he was not able to leave his bed. He maintained a wonderful spirit of resignation, often saying, "My Father knows just what is best for me, and he makes no mistakes." His helpful instructions will be a lifelong blessing to all who came in contact with him. Among his last words were, "O praise the Lord! Praise his name!" Soon after he fell asleep in Jesus.

William Thomas Curnow was born in Cornwall, England, February 15, 1867, and died in Sonora, Cal., April 2, 1900. In early life he had careful religious training, which culminated in his conversion at the age of fifteen. In 1884 he came with his parents to California, and resided in Nevada City, where he joined the Church. It soon became apparent that he had gifts and graces which would make him an efficient minister of the Gospel. He preached his first sermon at the age of seventeen, after which he was known as the "boy preacher." He then entered the University of the Pacific, and, after graduation, spent some time in the Boston School of Theology. He joined the California Conference in 1892, and successively served the following charges: San Ramon, Atlanta, Plymouth, Sonora, and Newman. After spending one year in Newman he was reappointed to Sonora. He enjoyed excellent health up to a short time before his death, when he took la grippe, from which he never fully recovered. He preached on Sunday morning, April 1, 1900, in Sonora, and again that evening. After coming from service he said, "It was quite an effort to preach." Several hours after he was taken with severe pains, and lingering until noon on Monday, died with heart failure. He was quiet and modest, but was very conscientious in the discharge of his duty. He was greatly beloved by the people he served, and highly esteemed by those who knew him best. On July 18, 1895, he married, in Stockton, Miss Mattie Darrah, who, with two children, is left to mourn. From a human point of view, it is a mystery that one so young, so well equipped for the work, should be taken to his reward.

Lee Gar Chin came to this country about twenty-five years ago. Very soon he was drawn under the influence of our missions and became deeply interested in Christianity. The Chinese preacher noticed him coming often and listening attentively to the word, and invited any who would to remain after the meeting. Lee Chin was one to stay, and after that he came every day to study the Bible, was soon convinced of the truth, and gave his heart to Christ. He was sent to Sacramento to labor among his countrymen, and to-day in that mission are those who never tire in singing his praises. After a few years he returned to China to preach and teach among his own people. During his visit to China "he wore out the little street organ" he took with him in Gospel service, and among his converts was an old priestess or Buddhist nun. In July, 1898, he returned to California, and was again sent to Sacramento, remaining there until the Conference of 1899, when he was sent to Stockton. Although in delicate health, he ever stood at his post, doing faithfully all in his power to save his countrymen. Many attacks of the grip made such inroads on his constitution that he could not rally, but went to San Francisco for medical advice. He continued to fail until June 25, 1900, when he realized that his days were numbered. Calling the brethren about him, he calmly told them about his business affairs, and said he was ready to die. That evening, as the Christians came up the street and sang at the door, after each song he would shout and clap his hands. Early the next morning he passed away, leaving behind him the sweet memory of a kind-hearted friend and a faithful follower of the Saviour.

Northwest Nebraska Conference.

Thomas Craig Balch was born on a farm in Coles County, Ill., January 19, 1852, and was married in 1876 to Cenorah A. Horton. He was converted in 1879 and joined the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. In 1888 he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, was licensed to preach, and appointed to Toledo, Ill. He came to Nebraska in 1889, and served two years on Litchfield charge. When the Northwest Nebraska Conference was set off from the West Nebraska Conference he became a member of the former, and served very efficiently Chadron Circuit and Lavaca. Because of failing health he was granted a superannuated relation in 1899. He died at Tucson, Ariz., January 14, 1900.

Dakota Conference.

Francis A. Burdick was born in Ontario, Canada, in 1852, and died of pleuro-pneumonia, in University Place, Neb., February 19, 1900. He was admitted on probation in the Nebraska Conference in 1878, and the following year was transferred to the Northwest Iowa Conference. In 1884 he came to South Dakota as a missionary, and afterward became a charter member of the Dakota Conference. From 1885 to 1888 he was left without appointment to attend school at Evanston. From 1889 to 1892 he served the Aberdeen District as presiding elder, but at the end of the term was obliged to give up on account of failing strength. At two different times he was compelled to take a superannuated relation, on account of his health. Finally, in 1898, he gave up work entirely and became superannuated. The same fall he moved to University Place, Neb., where he resided until his death. He left evidence that he was fully prepared to go, saying to his physician the night before his departure that he had no preparation to make on his sick bed, but that he had attended to the matter long before. He was a good man, a faithful preacher, a successful pastor, and a Christian gentleman. His wife and son survive.

East Ohio Conference.

Hiram Kellogg was born September 14, 1815, in Northampton, Mass., and came to Ohio when four years old with his parents, settling in Thompson. As a youth he was decided and enthusiastic, a leader by nature. When he was converted, on his twentieth birthday, he began, as he said, to "serve the Lord as faithfully as he had formerly served the devil." On September 11, 1845, he married Ruth Murphy, who died in March, 1898. H. W. Kellogg, of the Oregon Conference, is a son. Much might be said of his remarkable career of fifty-six years in Conference relations, and of eight years as local preacher and exhorter. One of the old-time preachers, he cheerfully bore the hardships, and labored to win. He was a successful revivalist, often receiving more than a hundred converts in a year. He believed in a full and free salvation, and was an illustration of a pentecostally endued workman. He had been sick, but was improving. On September 21, 1899, as he was walking out in the afternoon, he suddenly found his feet moving along the gold-paved streets, amid the triumphal shouts of many loved ones who had been won by his ministry, and the sweet welcome of his wife and children gone before. The sorrowing company which crowded the church to its utmost capacity at his funeral spoke more eloquently than words of the esteem in which he was held.

Louis Paine was born in Salem, O., December 4, 1837; was converted at a meeting held in the winter of 1856, and graduated from Mount Union College in 1862. He was immediately appointed by the presiding elder to fill a vacancy in Greentown Circuit. In 1863 he was received on trial in the Pittsburg Conference. On January 1, 1860, he married Mary E. Cuming, who died in April, 1861. On March 20, 1865, he married Mary E. Lind. He became a member of the East Ohio Conference at the time of its organization in 1866. He was a member of the General Conference of 1888, and a trustee of Mount Union College. He was a man of fine business and executive ability, of good judgment, conscientious, firm, and a model Christian gentleman. He wrote and spoke with precision and excellent diction, was a superior preacher and a faithful pastor. The last six years of his pastorate he had much personal affliction. At the Conference of 1899 he asked for a supernumerary relation, and retired to Toledo, O., where his children were in business, and died there November 29, 1899.

N. C. Worthington was born in Baltimore, Md., November 1, 1813, and died in Bridgeport, O., March 30, 1900. His father's house was a home for the itinerant preacher. Rare native ability of mind and body, early religious training, and familiarity with the spirit and usages of early Methodism combined to insure his success as an itinerant preacher. At twenty he was converted. He entered heartily into the work of the Lord, serving the Church in the capacity of class leader, steward, exhorter, and local preacher. He was admitted on trial in the Pittsburg Conference in 1848, and successively served the following charges: Sharon, Summerfield, Barnesville, Morristown, Bridgeport, New Philadelphia, Woodsfield, Norwich, Spencer Station, Bristol, Senecaville, Rural Dale, Neelysville, Bridgeport Circuit, Tiltonville, and Sonora. Eight years ago he was granted a superannuated relation, shortly afterward removing to Bridgeport, O., where he closed his life. On August 18, 1839, he married Margaret Douglas, who was his helpmeet for more than sixty years. He was loyal to the doctrines and polity of his Church, true to every trust committed to his hand, and a faithful preacher of the word. Large congregations waited on his ministry, and many were led to a knowledge of Christ. God's word was his chart, and he has gone to receive his crown of life.

Jay S. Youmans, D.D., was born in Picton, Canada, July 4, 1831. Blessed with godly parents, he was converted when eight years of age. He was educated in Picton, and at twenty-one entered the ministry of the Wesleyan Church. In 1856 he married Miss Lucy C. Cummings. He served five important churches in Canada, winning everywhere the affection of the people. His ministry was attended by gracious revivals; hundreds were added to the Church, some of these spiritual children being now successful preachers of the Gospel. Hoping that a change of climate might be advantageous to his invalid wife, he removed to the United States in 1871, and was received into the Erie Conference and assigned to Painesville. With marked ability and conspicuous success he then served the following appointments: First Church, Newcastle, Pa.; Franklin Avenue, Cleveland; North Ohio Conference: Scoville Avenue, Cleveland; First Church, Cleveland; Euclid Avenue, Cleveland; Hamline, Steubenville; Youngstown District. His last appointment was Salem, O., after which he took a supernumerary relation at the Conference of 1897. Immediately thereafter he removed with his invalid wife to the home of their son and daughter, in Cincinnati. He at once won the confidence of his ministerial brethren in Cincinnati. His pulpit services were eagerly sought, often for weeks consecutively. There were few churches in the city which were not blessed by his inspiring preaching. Though for some time in failing health, the end came suddenly on January 24, 1900. During the afternoon a short drive was taken with his daughter. Returning home, a light supper was served in his room, when, leaning his head back in his chair, he was not, for God had taken him. It was meet that a life of such public worth and private virtue should so tranquilly close.

Minnesota Conference.

Finley Deville Newhouse, D.D., was born in Rochester, Ind., July 27, 1857, and died December 19, 1899, in Mankato, Minn., having lived a life of splendid consecration, tireless zeal, and unwavering trust in God. He graduated at De Pauw University in 1880, carrying off the historical honors of his class. He was a lifelong student and a great reader, keeping abreast of the times on all subjects. He was a preacher in the truest sense. His thoughts were often brilliant, were logically arranged, and always carried conviction. He had few superiors in the pulpit or on the platform. He was a writer as well as preacher, his papers read at ministerial institutes being always clear and inspiring. He enjoyed a high state of grace, but did not parade it. He detested cant and hypocrisy, and cried against all the evils of the day with the voice of a prophet. On July 9, 1888, he sailed from New York for Concepcion, Chili, where he engaged in mission work under William Taylor. His first sermon was preached in Concepcion August 18, 1888, he having been licensed to preach at Stockwell, Ind., just four days before he sailed. After two years' service in South America he returned to his native State and was stationed at Williamsport, Ind. While there he met Miss Ida R. Fox, whom he married December 14, 1885. In the preceding October he was transferred to the South India Conference, and sailed for that field December 19, 1885, arriving in Bombay January 31, 1886, and was appointed pastor at Lahore, the capital of Punjab Province. About four years were spent in India, part of which was passed as pastor in Allahabad. As a recognition of his intellectual ability he was appointed principal of the Baldwin School at Bangalore, but declined the appointment because he felt his place was in the pulpit. After his return from India he lectured for a time in the interest of the Missionary Society. In May, 1889, he was appointed pastor at Goshen, Ind. In October, 1890, he was transferred to the Dakota Conference and stationed at Huron, where he remained four years and had a very successful pastorate. He received his doctorate in divinity from the Dakota University. His pastorates in the Minnesota Conference were: Franklin Avenue, Minneapolis; Red Wing, and Blue Earth City. At each place he was much beloved. In October, 1899, he was appointed presiding elder of the Mankato District, and had he lived, would have made his mark in that important field. He fell with that greatly dreaded disease, pleuro-pneumonia, after an illness of a week, leaving a wife, two children, and a multitude of friends to mourn his death. His wife says: "He was conscious to the last, and described the beautiful scenery and the many friends over there." His farewell is simply good-night till the morning breaks.

Chicago German Conference.

John Herman Westerfeld was born April 10, 1815, in Hanover, Germany, and died June 20, 1900. He came to Cooperstown, N. Y., in 1834, was happily converted at that place, and joined the Church. In 1844 he entered Oberlin College, and while there felt called to the ministry. For fourteen years he was connected with our German work in Ohio. His health failing him, he was compelled to step out of the effective ranks, and took up his residence near Stoughton, Wis., preaching when occasion offered. In 1847 he married Miss Cynthia Lacy, who died in 1892. For eight years before his death he was entirely helpless; yet he bore his affliction with Christian resignation. His life was hidden with Christ in God, and his death was in the triumphs of faith.

Henry W. Karnopp, son of August Karnopp, of the Chicago German Conference, was born in Wausau, Wis., July 5, 1875. He was soundly converted at fourteen, and joined the Church. When eighteen years old he entered the German Wallace College, at Berea, O., to prepare for the ministry, graduating in 1898. The same year he was admitted on probation in the Chicago German Conference, and was sent to the Kewaskum, Ashford, and Iron Ridge Circuit, where he preached till his death. He was peculiarly gifted for his calling, both mentally and physically, and the love of God constrained him to work zealously in the vineyard. Quite unexpectedly he was taken sick in the summer of 1899, the disease proving to be appendicitis and turning into peritonitis. On April 17, 1900, he took leave of his beloved ones, who had come to his bedside, and passed to the Christian's reward.

Wisconsin Conference.

William T. Colborn was born in Moreland, Pa., November 5, 1816. His opportunities for getting an education were few, his school days being past before the system of free schools came into operation in Pennsylvania. In the autumn of 1835 he attended a camp meeting, and was happily converted. A few days after his conversion he united with the Church, and on May 27, 1837, was given license to exhort. On August 12, 1841, he married Miss Martha Low, daughter of Rev. Thomas Low. In May, 1847, he was given license to preach, and in September, 1848, moved to Wisconsin and settled in Dodge County. In 1852 he moved to Waupaca County, and settled on a small farm in the town of Lind. He was received on probation in the Wisconsin Conference in 1857, and served the following charges: Winneconne, New London, and Shawano. Owing to affliction, he then took a superannuated relation and moved to the town of Royalton, where he remained until his death, February 19, 1900. His wife went nine years before him. During his last illness, which was painful and long continued, he looked forward to his final triumph over sickness and the grave. His hearty amens are missed in the services of the church he loved. All who knew him feel that a good man has gone.

Russell J. Judd was born in the State of New York December 7, 1812, and died at the home of his daughter at Aurora, Neb., May 9, 1900. Converted in early manhood, he became a school-teacher, and was for some time principal of Ravenna Academy. His first wife having died, he came West, becoming pastor of a Congregational church, and for seven years occupying a prominent pulpit of that denomination. In December, 1837, he married Miss Mary Jane Wolcott, who died February 23, 1898. Because of his health he left the pastorate, and for twenty-five years was engaged in the book trade, preaching as health and opportunity permitted. In 1873 he was received on trial in the Wisconsin Conference, his orders as an elder being recognized. He filled the following appointments: Port Washington, Pewaukee and Merton, and Oshkosh City Mission. In 1879 he took a supernumerary relation, but in 1886 began to supply Eureka, and for six years filled that appointment with great acceptability. He was superannuated in 1894. He was an able preacher, with a classical education, an encyclopedic memory, and fluency of diction. Quick of perception, logical and comprehensive in the treatment of subjects, he was an able defender of the truth. For the last few years his health was much broken, but to the last he would go from house to house among neighbors and friends, talking with them upon religious subjects, and praying with them. He was zealously active in the cause of temperance, and was largely instrumental in securing the "no license" ordinance in Aurora, where he spent his last year. His pastor said of him: "Literally he went about doing good. He was a wonderful man in many ways. He 'walked with God.' 'Being dead he yet speaketh' in Aurora. His influence on our Church and the community was the savor of life unto life."

Henry L. Chamberlain was born in Ashfield, Mass., June 15, 1837, and died in the Asbury Hospital, Minneapolis, Minn., August 18, 1900. He was born of Christian parents, converted at fifteen, educated in the common school and at Ashfield Academy, Mass., and subsequently spent two years in Garrett Biblical Institute. He was received on trial in the Wisconsin Conference in 1864 and appointed to Palmyra, his subsequent appointments being: Hebron, Port Washington, Hartford, Pleasant Prairie, Menomonee Falls, and Edgerton. In 1876 he took a supernumerary relation, but in 1877 was appointed to Jefferson and Oakland, and in 1878 and 1879 to Montello. In 1880, in consequence of failing health, he became superannuated. He received treatment at State hospitals three different times, but so far recovered as to be able to attend to ordinary business. He was a good man and a consistent minister. He was never married, but lived alone, and seclusive, struggling with circumstances adverse enough to unbalance the strongest mind. He loved to talk of the days of his active ministry, and his end was peaceful and happy.

J. W. Whitney was born in Readsboro, Vt., February 9, 1811. He died in Ripon, Wis., September 6, 1900. When but a lad his father moved to Cardiff, N. Y., where his early manhood was spent. He was converted at twenty, and the year after began preaching in the Protestant Methodist Church. After a successful pastorate of fifteen years he came West, and not finding the Church of his choice, he began work with the Freewill Baptists in 1847. He joined the Wisconsin Conference in 1872, and was in the active work seven years, being stationed successively at Chilton, Hingham, and Juneau. The health of his wife becoming much impaired, he took a supernumerary relation, which he held for six years, and was then placed on the roll of the superannuated. After retiring from the active work he continued to preach as opportunity offered. For many years the pastors of the Ripon church can testify to the inspiration he was to them. In his early home at Cardiff, N. Y., he married Miss Ruby Stearns, who preceded him by three years to the heavenly rest. His experience was very clear and his religious testimonies positive. His preaching was uncompromising, but his heart was as tender as that of a child for the penitent sinner. Those who had known him were not surprised that he went down into the valley trusting in the Saviour, and were not astonished at his hallelujas and ascriptions of praise to God. "My Father, my Father," he said, "I will say my Father as long as I can." "Pardon through grace, glory to God!" were words which also fell from his lips. Thus died the old soldier of the cross, whose name we remember with gratitude at this time.

James Grey Whitford was born in Crown Point, N. Y., November 8, 1810, and died in Volga, Ia., September 25, 1900. Fatherless at sixteen, and his mother in destitute circumstances, he was taken by a friend in Waybridge, Vt., with whom he lived until twenty. His opportunities for education were meager; he attended school only in winter. He was converted at eighteen, was licensed to exhort March 3, 1830, and to preach on July 13, 1833. His health failing he removed West in 1837, joined the Illinois Conference and was appointed to the Crown King Mission among the Chippewa Indians. The next year he was left without appointment, his health having been impaired by exposure. In 1839 he was received on trial in the Rock River Conference. In 1842 he was appointed to Burlington, Ia., remaining two years. At the division of the Rock River Conference he fell into the Iowa Conference. His subsequent appointments were: Platteville, Dodgeville, Hamilton Grove, Mineral Point, and South Grove Circuit. In 1851 he was superannuated, which relation he afterward held until his death. He was a good man, beloved by everyone, and died in triumph.

Southern California Conference.

Samuel Gray Blanchard was born in Sandusky, O., October 25, 1840. When sixteen years of age he gave himself to Christ. In 1860 he graduated in Canada and entered the ministry. In 1868 he removed to Michigan. In 1880 he was transferred to the Southern California Conference and stationed at Grace, Los Angeles. He was presiding elder of the Santa Barbara District from 1886 to 1888. Later he served as pastor at Santa Monica, Garvanza, Los Angeles; Redondo, Central Avenue, Los Angeles; Gardena, and Buena Park. For several years he suffered with Bright's disease, and on October 28, 1899, he fell asleep, leaving a bright testimony behind that he had gone to be with Christ, where he rests from his labors.

JAMES BRANT HOLLOWAY was born in Harrison County, O., August 30, 1842. He was converted in his nineteenth year. During the war he enlisted in Company F, Ninety-eighth Ohio Volunteer Infantry, and faithfully served his country in her need. In 1873 he entered the Indiana Conference on probation; in 1881 he was transferred to the Austin Conference, serving at Gainesville and Fort Worth; in 1887 he was transferred to the Southern California Conference. He was for two years presiding elder of the Santa Barbara District, and as pastor served Boyle Heights, Grace, and Vincent, Los Angeles; Covina, Grangeville, Visalia, and Fernando. In 1899, broken in health, he took a superannuated relation, moved to Spokane, Wash., and at the home of his son on March 9, 1900, exchanged the cross for the crown.

ASAHEL MORGAN HOUGH was born June 4, 1830, in Windham, N. Y. Blessed with praying parents, at fifteen he gave himself to Christ. At eighteen he was given an exhorter's license, and at twenty-one was admitted on probation in the New York Conference and stationed at Equinunk. In 1855 he married Miss Anna Gould. He was stationed in succession at Windham, Greenville, Tuckahoe, Poughkeepsie, and Lexington Avenue, New York. He was then selected by Bishop Janes to organize a mission in Montana, and spent four years there. Traveling overland, he went to Los Angeles in 1868, and the year following was made pastor of Fort Street. He later served Central, San Francisco, and Sacramento. When the Southern California Conference was organized he was made presiding elder. In 1884 he was compelled through ill-health to ask for a supernumerary relation, and in 1887 became superannuated. But through all these years he has continued one of the leaders of Methodism in Southern California. In 1880 and 1900 he was a member of the General Conference. He gave $27,000 to the superannuate fund, and recently $10,000 to the Missionary Society. On August 27, 1900, he passed home to God, saying with his dying breath, "I am on the Rock, and there is not a shadow of doubt."

California German Conference.

HERMANN CHRISTOPH BRAUER was born in Hanover, Germany, October 3, 1840, and died suddenly in his pulpit on Sunday morning, July 15, 1900, of heart disease. At the age of thirteen he emigrated with his parents to America, settling in Marion County, Ia., where he worked on his father's farm until he entered the ministry. In 1862 he was converted and joined the Evangelical Association. In 1865 he entered the itinerancy of that denomination, where for twenty-five years he labored with great success and acceptability. He was presiding elder twelve years—eight in Iowa and four in California, being the first preacher sent by the Evangelical Association to Southern California. In 1890 he joined the California German Conference and filled the following appointments: East, Oakland; San Francisco Mission, First Church, Los Angeles; Pasadena. During the night of February 13, 1900, he was suddenly struck with paralysis of the heart, and hovered between life and death for many weeks. In the last few weeks preceding his death his condition had improved so much that on Sunday morning, July 8, he made an attempt to preach. Intending to stop active work for a year and take his residence in Oakland, he had already made preparation to leave Pasadena. On Sunday, July 15, he visited the Sunday school and made a brief address. He also attended the preaching service, and at the close of the sermon by a local preacher began to bid farewell to his flock. He had spoken for about three minutes when suddenly his voice faltered and he expired. The last words he uttered were, "God knows my heart." On October 3, 1862, he married Charlotte Schroeder. He possessed a powerful figure of striking appearance. In character he was steadfast and determined. He was fearless in preaching, and attacked sin vigorously. He possessed the gift of prayer to an extraordinary degree. As a pastor he spoke with each of his parishioners privately concerning his soul's salvation. There was with him no work too hard and no sacrifice too great for the upbuilding of the kingdom of God. In his sickness he suffered unspeakably, but was resigned to the will of God, deriving great comfort from the promises of Scripture.

North Carolina Conference.

CHARLES HARSHAW was born in the State of North Carolina in 1840, and was converted at the age of twenty-five. He served the Church as local preacher for six years, and in 1875 joined the North Carolina Conference. He spent twenty-three years in effective service, taking a superannuated relation in 1898. He breathed his last at his home in Lenoir, N. C., July 3, 1900. His life was hid with Christ in God. No man came into touch with him without having the consciousness of being in the presence of a good man.

OSBORN LETTERLOUGH was born in 1846 in the State of North Carolina, and passed to the life beyond in Maxton, N. C., July 2, 1900. He was converted in 1865, and fifteen years later was licensed to preach. He joined the North Carolina Conference in 1882, and after twelve years of active ministerial life was, upon his own request, granted a supernumerary relation in 1894. He served several charges with great faithfulness and was an acceptable pastor wherever he was appointed. He has entered into rest and reward.

WYATT WALKER was born in 1826 in the State of Virginia, and was converted at the age of fifteen. He was licensed to preach in 1866, being at that time a member of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church. He joined the North Carolina Conference on credentials in 1871, and remained effective for twenty-five years, in 1896 being placed upon the superannuated list. In this relation he remained until his death, which occurred May 20, 1900, at Reidsville, N. C. He was a striking example of patience and meekness, and did not fail to impress the people to whom he was appointed by the power of a godly life.

West Wisconsin Conference.

DAVID J. WHITING was born September 16, 1834, in Scottsburg, N. Y., and died March 12, 1900, in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Coltman, of Benton, Wis. He married Miss Matilda Stanton in 1852. He was converted in early life, soon after felt a call to preach, and in 1860 he entered the ministry, serving the following charges in the Wisconsin Conference: McFarland, Fall River, Rosendale, Kaukauna and Montello. He was transferred to the West Wisconsin Conference in 1889, and remained in effective relation to that body till his departure, his appointments being Benton, Fennimore, State Line, Belmont, Fayette, Rewey, Dodgeville Circuit, Juda, Hancock, and Coloma. He was a man of strong convictions, an excellent preacher, and as a pastor looked after every interest of the Church faithfully. On February 1, 1900, his wife was stricken with apoplexy, and was moved to Benton, Wis. The loss of sleep and the burden of his work were more than his shattered health could stand, and he gave up his work at Hancock and Coloma that he might devote himself to the care of his afflicted wife. His last sickness was very sudden, and his suffering at times intense, but his mind calm, his faith attesting that "for him to live was Christ, to die was gain." After nearly a week of suffering on Monday evening, March 12, 1900, his spirit took its flight to join the triumphant hosts above.

ALONZO C. HALSEY was born October 3, 1860, in Henrietta, Wis., and died in San Antonio, Tex., September 10, 1900. He was married to Miss Kate Sharp May 30, 1883, and settled on a farm. In the winter of 1885–86 he was converted and united with the Church. In 1888 he was received into the West Wisconsin Conference on trial. He served the following charges: Mount Horeb, Wauzeka, Mount Sterling, Leon, Springville, Prairie du Chien, Bloomington, and in 1896 was stationed at Cuba City, his last charge. In January, 1900, his health failed and he journeyed to California with the hope of regaining his strength. But his desperate struggle for life was in vain. During his illness he said, "It is all well; Jesus is precious to my soul," and a little later fell asleep. He was a noble character. Earnestly and faithfully he sought to do the Master's will, and the many souls that will shine in his crown attest his success.

Des Moines Conference.

JAMES D. MOORE was born in Zanesville, O., in 1830, and spent the years of his early life on a farm. His conversion occurred in 1847, and two years later he united with the Church. In 1865 he was granted a license to preach, and from that time to 1875 he labored under the presiding elder, some of the charges he so served being Grinnell, Peoria, Prairie City, and Red Rock, all of which were then within the bounds of the Iowa Conference. He was married in early life, but lost his wife after a few years. In 1864 he married Miss Anna Smith, who with one child remains to mourn his departure. In 1875 he united with the Des Moines Conference on trial, and successively served the following charges: Pilot Mound, Cambridge, Scranton, Boonesboro, Mount Ayr, Corydon, Stuart, Lucas, Grand Junction, Glenwood, Hamburg, Atlantic Circuit, and Oakland. Genuine revivals blessed his efforts in many places. At Scranton and Cambridge he built churches; at Corydon he completed the church edifice, and at Grand Junction he repaired the church. During the civil war he became a member of the home guard, and was a commissioned officer in the State militia. He was a faithful servant of God, true to his work as a Christian minister, standing stanch and true on the firing line, irrespective of danger. He was a supernumerary for one year and a superannuate for five and a half years, and was in poor health for three years or more. At times he was able to visit friends, go about the town, and attend service. He was taken more seriously ill in November, 1899, and was confined to his bed from that time until his death. At times his suffering was severe, but his faith was strong. Death came to him June 14, 1900, and found him ready.

WILLIAM R. MARTIN was born in Grundy County, Mo., June 21, 1859, and died in Prairie City, Ia., October 29, 1899, being the son of W. C. Martin, of the Des Moines Conference. His parents moved with him to Iowa in 1861, where he was reared. He was married in Carroll County, Ia., to Miss Mina E. Gleason, in May, 1879. From early childhood he was religiously inclined, and in his young manhood was converted and united with the Church. In 1877, at Gowrie, in the Northwest Iowa Conference, he was licensed to preach, afterward supplying Lehigh and Detroit, each for one year, during the two years 1887-1889. He united with the Des Moines Conference in 1890, and was appointed to the Rippey charge, which he served for four years, building a church. He was then appointed to the Grand Junction charge, which he served for five years, also building a church here. In 1898 he was appointed to the Prairie City charge, and had just commenced the second year of his pastorate when he was called to his reward. While his brethren knew him as a genial, companionable man, but few knew that he was struggling with a fatal malady, which would too soon bring his labors to a close, and possibly without warning. This condition did not deter him from the utmost activity for the Master he loved and the Church he served. It is a marvel now to those aware of the deep-seated and fatal character of his infirmity that he labored so long, and that without murmuring. His ministry was a success. By his genial spirit he won the people and held them for righteousness. He was popular through a Christlike spirit and a fearless advocacy of the right. A large amount of usefulness was crowded by him into a short twelve years. He leaves a precious memory for his friends to cherish.

Southern Illinois Conference.

WILLIAM VAN CLEVE was born in Bergen County, N. J., March 5, 1834. He was of Dutch descent, his great-grandfather having come from Holland in colonial times. His grandfather was a soldier in the Revolutionary War. When two years old he suffered the loss of his mother, and about four years later his father died. He spent his early years, which were full of difficulty and scant in opportunity, near Newark. In 1885 he emigrated to Illinois and settled near Bunker Hill, in Macoupin County. Here, in 1856, he married Miss Sarah E. Callaway, who survives him. He died at his home in Olney, Ill., October 12, 1899. He was converted in New Jersey in September, 1853, and in 1855 was licensed to exhort. In May, 1858, he was licensed as a local preacher by the Quarterly Conference of Gillespie Circuit. He served as supply on the Pocahontas Circuit in 1862–63, and on Murphysboro Mission in 1863–64. In 1864 he was admitted on trial to the Southern Illinois Conference, and served the following charges: Chester, Ashley, Marion, Spring Garden, Mount Vernon Circuit, Saline Circuit, Clement, Shiloh, Trenton, Mulberry Grove, Staunton, Bunker Hill, Mount Carmel District, Mount Carmel, Carmi, and Olney District. In 1893, while presiding elder of Olney District, he was stricken with paralysis, and was compelled to ask a superannuated relation. In the following June he suffered a second stroke, by which he was completely disabled. From this time his physical condition steadily declined, until death released him from his suffering. His last days, when he was conscious, were full of cheerful resignation and of bright anticipation. And when his palsied tongue was unable to frame the words he would speak, he wrote on a tablet, "It will all be joy in heaven." He has gone to realize his hopes.

HARRY H. KEITH was born February 11, 1826, in Jennings County, Ind., and died in Walshville, Ill., February 24, 1900. He was converted in early life, and entered the Indiana Conference in 1855. He was transferred to the Upper Iowa Conference in 1856, and to the Central Illinois in 1859. In 1862 he was located at his own request. He was readmitted into the Illinois Conference in 1865, and because of failing health again located in 1870. Thirteen years afterward he was readmitted into the Southern Illinois Conference, in which Conference he superannuated in 1892. In this Conference he served the following charges: McLeansboro Circuit, Donnellson, Irvington, Patoka, Iuka, Staunton, and Bethalto. He was educated at De Pauw University, and was a member of the class of 1855. He married Miss Juliett C. Hull August 10, 1854, who with five children survives to mourn his loss. He was an able preacher, and true to all the interests committed to him. He was a power in prayer, strong in faith, and loved by all who knew him.

EPHRAIM JOY was born in Wabash County, Ill., September 6, 1819. He was converted early in life, and united with the Church at Mount Carmel. He began life as a tailor, but soon became deeply impressed with the thought that he should preach.

He was licensed to preach, and traveled the Palestine Circuit in 1843, and was admitted to the traveling connection in the Illinois Conference in 1844. When the Southern Illinois Conference was organized he became a member of it, and was appointed presiding elder of the Jonesboro District. His later appointments were: Mount Vernon, Grayville, Shiloh, Centralia, Nashville, Carbondale Circuit, Alton, Shiloh Circuit, Olney District, Shawneetown, Highland Circuit, Grayville again, and Mound City. In 1880 he was granted a supernumerary relation. He afterward supplied Carmi Charge in 1890, and Mound City for three years, closing his work there in the fall of 1893. In 1895 he became superannuated, and afterward made his home with his only living child in Centralia, whence he visited former places of his active work, preaching occasionally as his strength would permit. On December 6, 1899, he was stricken with paralysis and rendered entirely helpless. In this condition he remained until death came. His mind was clear, his faith in the Gospel was bright to the end; he often expressed a desire to be released from the body that he might go to be with Jesus and his fellow-workers. On May 2, 1900, he joined that company of the redeemed in heaven.

Henry Manifold was born in York County, Pa., November 24, 1822, and died in St. Louis, Mo., June 29, 1900. While he was very young his parents removed to Indiana. Here at fourteen he was converted and joined the Church, and before he was of age was appointed a class leader. When he was twenty-one years of age he went to Cincinnati, O., where he preached his first sermon in the Walnut Hills Church. Shortly afterward he was licensed to preach, and a little later he came to Illinois, where the remainder of his life was spent. He married in 1843 Miss Martha A. Davison, who died in 1860. Some time later he married Mrs. Euphemia E. Willis, who died in 1863. He was afterward married to Miss Mary W. Lafferty, who with two daughters survives him. He was admitted on trial in the Southern Illinois Conference in 1855. His record is as follows: Granville Mission, Georgetown, Fairview, Albion, Georgetown again, and Marion. In 1864 he was located at his own request. In 1866 he was readmitted and appointed to Mount Carmel Circuit. He afterward served the following charges: Ramsey, Mulberry Grove, Patoka, Clement, Ramsey again, Shobonier, Moccasin, Xenia, Iuka, Walnut Hill, Clement again, Wayne City, Bible Grove, the same as Georgetown, where he had served twice before, and Watson. In 1893 he was granted a superannuated relation, which he held until his death. He was a man of strong personality. The rugged iron hills of his native State seemed to have imparted some of their firmness to his character. His denunciation of wrongdoing was so uncompromising as to approach sternness, but it was supported by the stainless honesty of his life. His religious experience was unemotional but positive. Without complaint, and with no attempt to parade his sacrifices, he spent his life in self-denying service.

James Allen Robinson, D.D., was born near the Wabash River, in the Territory of Illinois, June 13, 1815. He was of Scotch-Irish extraction. His ancestors came from the North of Ireland to America and settled in North Carolina in the colonial period. His grandfather was among the patriots, fighting for independence. His father emigrated from North Carolina first to Kentucky, then to Big Prairie, and finally to the vicinity of Fairfield, Ill., then a Territory. In this new country and these early times the opportunities for education were very meager, but the boy made the most of them, and at nineteen became a teacher. On June 6, 1838, he married Miss Eliza Melrose, with whom he journeyed for forty years. He married on December 9, 1879, Mrs. S. S. Elliott, who survives him. He was converted when but a boy, and was licensed to preach in 1837. He began his itinerant work in 1847 as a supply. Later he became a probationer in the Illinois Conference, and served the following charges: Lawrenceville, Mount Vernon, Nashville, Upper Alton twice, Alton twice, Brighton twice, Shawnectown, Belleville, Lebanon, Centralia, Carbondale, Greenville, Edwardsville, Litchfield, Shipman, and Bunker Hill. He served three terms as presiding elder on Equality District, Mount Vernon District, and the Olney District. By division of the Illinois Conference he became a member of the Southern Illinois Conference. In 1860 he was a delegate to the General Conference. For forty-four years he was a trustee of McKendree College, and in 1875 that institution conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity. He was a preacher of the old type, with all the late real improvements added. His sermons were systematically packed with good things. A beautiful blending of sound doctrine and rich experience characterized his discourses. His whole life and spirit were potent for good. In a letter written a short time before he died he said: "I am enjoying a quiet old age, cheered by a precious hope. I experienced religion when fourteen years old. I am now in the sixty-ninth year of my Christian life. In all these years I have never questioned my conversion; I am in the deepening shadows of age, nearing the banks of Jordan. I am thinking of the home and the friends 'over there;' the meeting will be precious, the rest will be glorious." He died in Centralia, Ill., July 3, 1900.

Northern Minnesota Conference.

Lucian F. Merritt was born in Chautauqua County, N. Y., June 12, 1835, and died in Duluth, Minn., September 28, 1900. His family removed to Warren County, Pa., in 1850, and in 1855 to Austinburg, O., where he attended school at Grand River Institute. The same year his father came to the head of Lake Superior and settled at Oneota, now Duluth, then a wilderness, to which place the family came in 1856. Here he remained for about two years, when he returned to Ohio to attend school. He received his theological training at Austinburg College. He was converted in 1861 and shortly after united with the Church. He received his local preacher's license in 1866 and was appointed to his first charge in 1867. In the Erie Conference he served the following charges with great acceptability: Deerfield, Frewsburg, Sheffield, Riceville, Pithole, Kane, Pine Grove, Ashville, Monterey, Farmington, Carns City, and North Washington. Those years were a period of mingled hardship, self-sacrifice, and victory, being marked by Christianlike devotion. He was transferred to Minnesota Conference in 1890, serving the following charges: Two Harbors, Oneota, Hutchinson, Eveleth, Duluth Circuit, Proctor Knott, and Duluth City Missions. During his pastorate at Oneota its church building was erected—a lasting monument to his zeal. He wore himself out in the service of the Church, and only ceased to labor when he ceased to live. No man was so low that he could not put a loving arm around him and lift him up to Christ; none were so high that with equal kindness he could not point them to the perfect Man. Like his Master, "he went about doing good," being ever ready to do anything he could to help another. His friends will always remember his kindness and self-sacrificing devotion. He rests from his labors while men pay honor to his memory.

Bartlet Y. Coffin was born in Paola, Ind., May 2, 1822, and died in the Jones-Harrison Home, Minneapolis, Minn., September 7, 1900. He was converted early in life and united with the Church. Called to the ministry, he entered Indiana Asbury University and remained till the end of the junior year. Yielding to the demand for workers, he entered the active work, being admitted to the Indiana Conference in 1847. He served as pastor several important charges in that Conference. Losing his voice for a time, he was obliged to locate. He came to Minnesota in 1856 and became a farmer and teacher at the Winnebago Indian Agency. But his heart was in the active work, and he was admitted to Minnesota Conference in 1859. After traveling a few years he again located. But he was never idle, preaching in schoolhouses and the homes of the people, and laying the foundation of several important charges in southern Minnesota. From 1868, when he was again admitted to the Minnesota Conference, till failing health compelled him, in 1889, to ask a superannuated relation, he gave his time and strength unsparingly to the work. He was one of the choicest spirits of Minnesota Methodism. He was a good preacher, a faithful pastor, and an able minister of Christ. Every charge he served was sure to have a revival. Many converted under his ministry are to-day pillars in our Church in Minnesota, while not a few are in other communions. After he ceased active work he resided most of the time within the bounds of North Church, Minneapolis. Though he suffered much pain, no word of complaint escaped his lips. The end came suddenly. Left alone by his wife for a few minutes, the chariot came and "he was not, for God took him."

James Stewart Garvin was born in Muskego, Wis., of Scotch parentage, March 3, 1850. He was brought up on a farm. His parents were connected with the Presbyterian Church. At sixteen he was brought under Methodist influences and made his decision for Christ and the Methodist Episcopal Church. A college education he deemed of great importance to fit him for his life's work, and by his own efforts he pursued a course at Galesville University, Wis., graduating in 1875. On the evening of that commencement day he married Miss Bunce, daughter of the Methodist pastor at Galesville. Removing shortly after to Minneapolis, he continued to study and practice law for about a year. He, however, became convinced that his work was to be the ministry, and having been admitted into the Minnesota Conference, he served successively the following charges: Wayzatta and Groveland, Kellogg, Granger, and Minneapolis Circuit. In 1884, owing to broken health, he was compelled to superannuate. One child as well as his beloved wife preceded him to the glory land. He was a consecrated Christian and a good citizen. For several years before his decease he had traveled in the interests of the temperance cause, which had a very warm place in his heart. In his long illness he exhibited beautiful patience and resignation to the divine will, and had that peace which passeth knowledge. He entered into rest August 23, 1899.

Central Illinois Conference.

Richard Haney, D.D., was born in Washington County, Pa., April 15, 1812, and died in Altona, Ill., January 27, 1900. His life was a sort of hyphen connecting the pioneer past with the pulsing present. He was converted when a lad, and felt the call to labor in God's vineyard. Soon after his conversion a license to exhort was given him. Feeling his unfitness for the work, he went to Norwalk Seminary to study. After reaching Norwalk he cut cordwood on Saturdays, and whenever he could get the time, to pay his tuition and board. The late Bishop Harris was his classmate. After the close of his school at Norwalk he returned home and was recommended to the Ohio Conference, which, in 1834, he joined on trial. Owing to a severe sickness his physician thought it best for him to go to Illinois, where his father's family had moved. In the winter of 1834 he reached the State, and in the spring of 1835 was employed by the elder to fill out the year at Rushville. In the fall he joined the old Illinois Conference, and there remained until the Rock River Conference was set off. When the Rock River Conference was divided he fell into the Peoria, now the Central Illinois, Conference. In each of these Conferences he filled the leading churches. For twenty-five years he was a presiding elder. Five or six times he was a delegate to the General Conference. Few men were more widely known in Illinois. His style of preaching made him popular with the masses. As finished sentences fell from his lips as ever were uttered. His heart was as tender as a woman's; his courage was unquestioned; his wit keen; his humor sparkling; his command of language wonderful; his rhetoric almost faultless; his imagination vivid; his spirit loving; his physique in his best days magnificent, with a bearing that was princely and a personal magnetism that charmed people. He drafted the resolution passed by the Central Illinois Conference asking President Lincoln to manumit the slaves in this country, the Conference thus being the first ecclesiastical body praying the President to lift the burden of bondage from the blacks. He called the meeting to talk over plans for the founding of the Northwestern University, presided at the meeting to elect its first board of trustees, was a charter member of that board, and so continued until his death. His first wife died in 1865. He married May 1, 1877, Mrs. Mary E. Quimby, of Monmouth, Ill., where he resided until his death. During the war he was chaplain of the Sixth Regiment Illinois Infantry until sickness compelled his resignation. Peter Cartwright was his first presiding elder in Illinois, and between the two there existed the warmest friendship. On January 25, 1900, he was a guest in the home of some old friends in Altona, Ill. On the morning of January 26 he partially dressed himself, and said to the young man who came into the room, "I feel some pain." In a moment the soul of the old hero was with God, while sorrow and a sense of loss were felt in a thousand households as the story of his death was told. All in all he had few equals. He was a sweet-souled, noble, manly man. With age came a wondrous charm. An optimist of the old school, he put his faith in God over against all evil that seems triumphant now. To him the sun of to-morrow was always bright. He died without worldly riches, but he died a millionaire.

James Wilson Haney, D.D., was born in Bloomington, Ill., January 24, 1840, where his father, Richard Haney, was pastor of the First Church. He began his school life at the Rock River Seminary, at Mount Morris, Ill., where his father was then presiding elder. Later at Hedding College he took a preparatory course. In 1857 he entered the Northwestern University, graduating in 1861, later conferring on him the degree of Doctor of Divinity. The year of his graduation he was admitted to the bar and commenced the practice of law in Chicago. On June 18, 1862, he married Miss Jane Elizabeth Sherman, of Evanston. In the fall of 1862 he raised Company I, Seventy-second Illinois Infantry, and was commissioned as its captain. While in the army he was converted and after his resignation, on account of broken health, he united with the Church in Bushnell, Ill. In the fall of 1863 he joined the Central Illinois Conference on trial. Among the charges he served were: Tonica, Phelps Chapel, Lacon, Dwight, Pekin, Abingdon, Moline, Woodhull, Hale Chapel, Peoria; Streator, Fairbury, Carthage, Blandinsville, Canton, Kewanee, Geneseo, Normal District, and Galva. At the last place, on Thursday morning, April 5, 1900, he entered into eternal life. In 1891 he was a delegate to the Ecumenical Methodist Conference in Washington, D. C., and in 1896 was a member of the General Conference at Cleveland. For several years he had been in failing health. On March 4 he preached his last sermon, and one month and one day thereafter he joined his father in the land that is "afar off." He preached the Gospel with an unction that brought forth much fruit. At three of his appointments, Lacon, Abingdon, and Canton, eight hundred were brought into Christ's kingdom during his pastorate. He was never so happy as when engaged in evangelistic labor. He was in his prime a strong man, large framed, large hearted, hopeful, and inspiring. He rests from his labors, and his works follow him.

Henry Kanaga Metcalf was born in Kenosha, Wis., June 5, 1852, and died in Sheldon, Ill., September 12, 1900. When about four he removed with his parents to Boston, Mass., where the family lived till he was ten years old. They now returned to the West and lived for five years in Appleton, Wis., then moving to Lincoln, Neb., where Henry spent the remainder of his childhood. At eighteen he entered the Nebraska State University, and remained for three years. In 1873 he entered the Northwestern University, from which institution he graduated in 1875. While yet a child he gave his heart to God, and his entire life was characterized by gentleness, purity of heart and purpose. Soon after his twentieth birthday he was licensed to preach. In the fall of 1875 he was appointed to supply the Lafayette charge. On September 28, 1878, he married Miss Ella L. Robinson, near Genesco, Ill., who died during his pastorate at Elmwood. On June 30, 1894, he married Miss Olive Ray, of Oregon, Ill. In the fall of 1876 he entered the Central Illinois Conference on trial and was appointed to the Munson and Ulah charge. His subsequent appointments were: Lawn Ridge, Victoria, Whitefield, Bardolph, Cleveland and Colona, New Boston, Hamilton and Elvaston, Dwight, Elmwood, Bushnell, Genesco, Lexington, and Sheldon. For ten years he was Conference secretary, and no man could have been more efficient in the duties required in that office. As a preacher he was clear and strong. His congregations were always edified and strengthened. As a pastor he was untiring, and many sad hearts have called him blessed. Though gone, he cannot be forgotten, and though dead, he is surely alive for evermore.

Alabama Conference.

James B. Loveless was born in the State of Alabama in 1831 and died in Decard, Tenn., July, 1900. He was converted at the early age of seven years, and was admitted into the Alabama Conference in 1876. He traveled his hard circuits with a joy that found expression on his countenance and sparked in his speech. Original in his conception of the truth and in expression, he not infrequently startled his auditors by his ingenious methods of interpretation and illustration. He was a close student of the word, and his style was simple, pungent, and unique. He was a painter of Gospel truth after God's own school of art, and a very prince in the pulpit. Personally he was one of the most companionable of men, and, being a great reader with a retentive memory, was the center of entertainment at the sessions of his Conference. He was a member of the General Conference at Philadelphia in 1884. His failing health retired him to the superannuate ranks long before his years should have placed him there. With his unique and inspiring personality he is sorely missed. His voice is hushed on earth, but he has joined the hallelujahs of heaven.

Rock River Conference.

Jabez W. P. Jordan was born December 19, 1819, in Danville, Me., and died May 11, 1900, in Watertown, S. D. He was converted at sixteen. Beginning as a supply, he became a member of the New England Conference in 1855. For thirteen years he preached in Massachusetts, always a revivalist pastor, an ardent Sunday school worker, and a winner of men. The following New England towns were blessed by his ministry: Rowe and Heath, West Brookfield, Cummington, Conway, Gill, Wendall, South Deerfield, Coleman, Cherry Valley, Winchendon, Leominster, Oakham, Charlton City, Weston, Sudbury, and East Dedham. In 1868 he was transferred to the Rock River Conference, and served with success the following charges: Garden Prairie, McHenry, Richmond and Solan, Huntley and Harmony, Byron, Burritt, Harvard and Chemung. Failing health compelled superannuation in 1882. Moving to Dakota, he supplied Wessington Springs and built a church. In 1895 his semi-centennial sermon was preached at Sioux Falls, being afterward repeated in his home church at Watertown. His record of usefulness is unsurpassed, and in the city where he spent his last twelve years he was highly esteemed by all classes. In 1845 he married Miss Abigail Oak, who survives him, two children being Mrs. Ruby Smart, a Methodist preacher's wife, and W. H. Jordan, of the Dakota Conference and pastor of the First Church, Sioux Falls, Dak. His prayer had been constant for the Church he loved, and especially for a revival in the home church. He often said that God would permit him to live and pray till it came. The morning before his death news came that ten persons had sought the Lord the evening before. In the early morning of the day he died he roused from sleep and said to his wife: "Did you hear them calling? I heard voices calling"—voices of multitudes redeemed under his ministry, of saints whose fellowship he loved, of Christ whom he so often referred to as "Wonderful." All the churches of the city of Watertown united to do honor to the man who walked with God.

Samuel Hewes was born in Shaftsbury, Vt., August 18, 1814, and died in Crete, Ill., March 25, 1900. He was converted and joined the Church in his nineteenth year. After a course of study in the Troy Conference Academy, Poultney, Vt., he united with the Troy Conference in 1842. In that body he served the following appointments: Stowe and Waterbury, Walleston, Leicester, Peru, Schroon, Petersburg, Wilton, Raymerstown, and Leving's Chapel, Troy. In 1859 he removed to Illinois, joined the Rock River Conference, and was appointed pastor at Crete, where his parents, brothers, and sisters resided. His subsequent appointments were: Elk Grove, Wheaton, Frankfort and New Lenox, McHenry, Crystal Lake, Downer's Grove, Cortland, Kaneville, and Erie. In 1886 he became supernumerary, and in 1888 superannuated. He married on December 24, 1840, Miss Phebe Phelps, of South Hero, Vt. The aim of his life was to win souls. He never served a charge in which he had not a gracious revival and many accessions to the Church. He was an untiring pastor, a fearless preacher, a sympathizing friend and counselor. His gift in prayer was marvelous and prevailing. His strong personality was surpassed only by his stronger faith. Wherever he went his topic was the Gospel of Christ. Always the friend of the children, in his later years his coming was hailed with delight by the little ones, as well as by those of mature years. He was well known throughout northern Illinois, was a familiar personage at the New Lenox camp meeting, and was loved by all who knew him. After retiring from the active ministry he made his home in Crete, Ill. The poor and afflicted feel the passing of a kind friend, and the community is a loser to the extent of his power to inspire deeds of blessing. When opportunity and health permitted he preached with fervor and acceptability up to within a short time of his death. He left a widow and two daughters, one the wife of Joseph Caldwell, of the Rock River Conference. He glorified Christ on the earth, and by him is now glorified and crowned.

Thomas Van Etten Sweet was born in Freeport, Ill., August 3, 1849, where he was educated in the public schools and learned the printer's trade. His father was one of the leading members of the bar of Freeport, and he thus had many opportunities for the development of effective public speaking. In February, 1870, in a wonderful revival at Embury Church, Freeport, he was converted. He immediately felt a call to the ministry and entered the Northwestern University. He joined the Rock River Conference in 1875, and successively served as follows: Dundee, Seneca and Marseilles, Kankakee, La Salle, Warren, Amboy, Morrison, Princeton, Richard Street, Joliet; Austin, Embury, Freeport; Freeport District, where death overtook him November 6, 1899, in the midst of abundant labors. It is seldom, if ever, that a man's name appears upon a church record in such a sequence of events as does his on the records of Embury Church, Freeport. He is successively entered as probationer, full member, and local preacher; and this followed by his recommendation for admission into the traveling connection, his marriage, his service as pastor and presiding elder, and his death and funeral. After all this useful life his body reposed in the casket at the same altar rail where he first found a Saviour's power. He leaves behind a blessed memory. His wife and two sons survive. A useful servant of the Church has fallen.

William F. Stewart was born October 21, 1824, in Athens County, Ohio, his father being John Stewart, of the Ohio Conference, and died at Sea Breeze, Fla., on Easter Sunday, April 15, 1900. The struggle of the early itinerant with poverty characterized his childhood; but with it were the influences of a heroic father and a mother whose life showed a holy zeal for godliness and intellectual development. He received his education at Augusta College, graduating with honors in 1843. Later he was called to a professorship, and for a time was acting president, but owing to frail health was compelled to resign. In 1850 the Ohio Conference, which he joined in 1843, appointed him agent of the Ohio Wesleyan University, and much of the success of that institution is due to the endowment he helped to secure. When he went West he was elected a trustee of the Northwestern University, and served with great acceptability until his permanent removal to the South. In connection with his brother, the late Hon. John W. Stewart, of Chicago, he endowed the Sarah Stewart Missionary Scholarship Fund of $10,000 in Garrett Biblical Institute, named for their mother. And this same spirit impelled him to consecrate a large block of property to the establishment of the Stewart Missionary Foundation for Africa in Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga., "to disseminate missionary intelligence and to train American negroes for missionary work in Africa." His religious experience began when as a lad of seven he sought God in childish prayer. Thereafter the Saviour was an intimate companion. Joining the Ohio Conference at eighteen, he was known as "the boy preacher," and, being full of zeal, he saw the revival spirit on every charge. Among his appointments were Newark, Ohio, Athens, and Zanesville. In 1854 he was transferred to the Rock River Conference and sent to Court Street, Rockford. Later he served First Church, Chicago; City Missions, Freeport; the Galena (now Freeport) and Joliet Districts, Ada Street, and other charges in Chicago and vicinity. With health impaired, he superannuated in 1886 and removed to Florida. In 1849 he married Miss Julia Ann Hutchins, of Maysville, Ky., and she with four sons survives him. His sermons were direct appeals for a life of righteousness, and were often carefully prepared, short heart-to-heart talks. With much skill he delivered a large body of truth as systematic theology in consecutive sermons, making abstract doctrine glow with practical illustrations, so that the people received the solid meat with appreciation. His humble spirit, vigorous service, pious life, and broad-minded liberality endeared him not alone to the family and community, but to the larger circle of society, which felt the power of his Christlike life.

Samuel Lauver was born in Potter's Mills, Pa., on January 7, 1847. He was converted at the age of nine, and reclaimed at the age of eighteen, when he was called to the ministry, to which he subsequently devoted the last twenty-five years of his life. He received his first appointment in 1875, and joined the Rock River Conference in 1876. He served the following charges: Kent, Thompson, Leaf River, Savanna, Elizabeth, Scales Mound, Winnebago, and Napierville. On September 23, 1875, he married Miss Fietta Bobb, who with three children now survives him. As a preacher he was fearless and efficient. Out of a heart impelled by the love of his Master he proclaimed the unsearchable riches of Christ. He enjoyed the respect of all who knew him, the unselfishness of his life giving force to his utterances. Invariably he left the churches he served better than he found them. In the courts, where faithfulness is the badge of honor, he stands among the sons of God. On August 4, 1900, he was seriously burned, but the news was accompanied by assurances of recovery. Human care and skill proved, however, unavailing, and after seventeen days of suffering, borne with the utmost Christian fortitude and patience, trustingly, on the morning of August 21, 1900, he entered into the joy of his Lord.

Joseph Swallow David was born near Scranton, Pa., July 17, 1822, and died in Joliet, Ill., January 4, 1900, of pneumonia. He was converted at seven, his mother dying about the same time. When fourteen he and his father made the journey from Pennsylvania to Ohio on foot, the father dying shortly after. His youth was one of hardship and change. He was educated at Wyoming Seminary, Kingston, Pa., and was admitted to the Wyoming Conference on probation in 1852. The same year he married Miss Sarah Krouse, who died while he was pastor at Ashton, Ill. In 1855 he moved to Illinois and joined the Rock River Conference. In Pennsylvania his charges were: Newton, Beech Pond, and Moscow; in the Rock River Conference he served nineteen different charges faithfully and successfully. In 1892 he took a supernumerary relation, and in 1895 was superannuated. He was married in 1880 to Miss Allie Pyatt, who with three children survives him. His health failed four years before his death, from which time he was a great sufferer with heart failure and other complications. He bore his sufferings patiently, and his end was peaceful. In his death the Rock River Conference has lost a most esteemed minister. He will long be remembered for his faithful service, his unswerving integrity, and his genial Christian life. Grievous disappointments, loss of property, and failing health in his last years—which would have filled the life of most men with gloom—failed to disturb the serenity of his faith.

Jonathan C. Stoughton was born in Ohio in 1820. He was converted at an early age, being the eldest of seven children, and joined the Rock River Conference on trial in 1846. In 1854 he was appointed to First Church, Aurora, and during his pastorate occurred the greatest revival of its history, out of which came the present beautiful edifice. He also served Grace Church, Chicago; Galena Street, Aurora; Rock Falls, Rochelle, and Wyanet. He then went to New Mexico and took charge of the English Mission at old Santa Fé. Subsequently he served Asbury, Winter Street, State Street, and Fifty-fourth Street, Chicago; and Sugar Grove. He superannuated in 1895, and settled in Aurora. He was a member of the General Conference of 1860. His Alma Mater was Knox College, where he graduated in 1846. In 1856 he was instrumental in erecting Jennings Seminary. In 1864 he started a temperance paper in Chicago, which was wiped out by the great fire in 1871. As a lecturer on temperance he attained much celebrity. In the civil war he went out as chaplain of the One Hundredth and Twenty-seventh Regiment of Illinois, and was present at the sige of Vicksburg and other important engagements. Crowned as he was by the snows of eighty winters, his mind was untrammeled by contact with decay. He never spoke of dying. He loved this bright and breathing world. He was an optimist. He believed the days we are living in are the best, and lived not in the achievements of the past, but in the triumphs of the future. His prayers were vibrant with faith and resonant with conviction. The last few weeks of his life he seemed to be pluming his wings. He took his flight amid the voices of the Sabbath, and passed to the symphonies of the upper sanctuary.

Festus Perry Cleveland, D.D., was born in Masonville, N. Y., July 13, 1817, and died June 4, 1900, in Rogers Park, Chicago. He was converted at thirteen, and worked on a farm until seventeen. He then entered Bainbridge Academy, N. Y.; later he taught school, and then supplied the charge in his native village and in other places in the Oneida Conference until 1845, when from ill health he sought the rest of keeping the post office in his home town. After four years he again begun to supply small charges in the vicinity. In 1855 he was compelled, on account of continued sickness, to seek a home in the West. In 1856 he joined the Rock River Conference, and was stationed as follows: Wilmington, Kankakee, Ottawa, Waukegan; Court Street, Rockford; First Church, Freeport; Joliet, Batavia, Oak Park, Grant Place (now Wesley), Chicago; Dixon, Freeport District, and Rogers Park. In 1890 he superannuated. He was a delegate to the General Conferences of 1876 and 1884. As an adviser of Governor Yates, during the war, he assisted in raising volunteers and in organizing the Fifty-third Regiment Illinois Volunteers. He married Mary Lyon, August 30, 1840, who survives him, after nearly sixty years, with seven children. He was tall and well developed, in his later years quite outgrowing the frailty of his earlier years. Few men are as well preserved at eighty. He was a stanch defender of the "faith once delivered to the saints," a courageous soldier on moral and spiritual battlefields, but broad enough in his sympathies to allow others to differ from him and yet remain brothers beloved. He grew old gracefully, growing more sweet as he approached the parting hour. A prince has fallen in our Israel.

John Williamson, M.D., D.D., was born in Meadville, Pa., May 24, 1839, and died in Chicago January 14, 1900. He went West in early manhood, and was a student in Mount Morris, Ill., Seminary. There, on November 20, 1864, he married Miss Elizabeth F. Harlow, who with a daughter is left to mourn. He was elected associate principal of the Rock River Seminary in 1865, which position he satisfactorily filled for two years. He then went to Chicago for a course at Rush Medical College. Showing remarkable aptitude for this profession, and graduating in a year less than the prescribed time, he was chosen valedictorian of his class. Yet, though the calling of medicine was congenial and he soon obtained a lucrative practice for a young physician, he felt the call to preach. He was admitted to the Rock River Conference, and became a full member in 1874. His first appointment was Franklin Grove. After this he served Dixon, Wabash Avenue, Chicago; Michigan Avenue, Chicago; and First Church, Evanston. He then served the Aurora District for four years, when he was recalled to Michigan Avenue, and during his ministry the successor to Michigan Avenue—the South Park Avenue Church—was planned. His pastorates were always successful, and he had the love of his people. For some years previous to his death he devoted his entire time to evangelistic work, in which he was signally successful. He supplemented this with Bible readings at Sunday school assemblies and Chautauquas. His power as an expositor of the Scriptures found recognition in the Sunday School Journal and the Northwestern Christian Advocate, to which periodicals he contributed largely. This outline tells little of his large influence in different States. Hundreds were converted under his ministry. Notwithstanding heart trouble and other severe physical ailments, he worked on when others would have given up in despair. His influence will long be felt by those touched by his strenuous life.

Genesee Conference.

Schuyler Seager Ballou was born in Lockport, N. Y., December 14, 1842, and died in Dalton, N. Y., February 18, 1900. He was converted at fifteen and joined the Church. In 1861 he enlisted in the Forty-ninth Regiment New York Volunteers, and served three years and nine months, participating in many battles. After the war he was for some time a machinist, pursuing a course of study at the same time, and also superintending a Sabbath school. He married on June 20, 1867, Miss Emma Wheeler, of Lockport, who died July 21, 1870. On December 4, 1871, he married Miss Alice M. Patch, of Wales, N. Y., who with two children survives. He joined the Genesee Conference in 1869 and was stationed as follows: Pendleton, Hartland, Cambria, Kendall, Middleport, Chili, Parma, Pike, Dalton, Alabama, Groveland, Wiscoy and Fillmore, and Johnsonburg. In 1899 he took a superannuated relation on account of impaired health. He made up for the defects of his early education by wide reading. He was a logical thinker, a good preacher, an excellent pastor, and had the faculty of winning the affections of all who knew him. His Christian experience was very clear, and throughout life he was known as a fully consecrated man. During his last sickness he was often heard to say, "The anchor holds." His ministry bore fruit in the conversion of many souls. He was active in Grand Army circles, serving one year as chaplain of the Department of New York. After thirty years of faithful labor he awaits the resurrection of the just.

Henry Vosburgh was born in Kinderhook, N. Y., July 28, 1827. He was converted and joined the Church when eight years of age. He entered Genesee Wesleyan Seminary, at Lima, in 1848, and Genesee College in 1850. He afterward entered Wesleyan University, where he graduated in 1855 with honors. After this he became principal in succession of the following seminaries and academies: Dansville, Carlisle, Walworth, Newark, Webster. He was also for five years superintendent of the city schools at Mount Pleasant, Ia. He joined the East Genesee Conference on probation in 1868. His appointments were as follows: Hammondsport, Tyrone, Cohocton, Tonawanda, Mansfield, Middleport, Scottsville, Cohocton again, Perry, Naples, Lawrenceville, Kendall, Chili, Belmont, Whitesville, and Belfast. He became superannuated in 1899, and died in Oramel March 29, 1900. His work was truly successful. He found only seven members at Hammondsport, and during the two years of his pastorate the membership was largely increased and a new parsonage built. He had revivals at Tyrone, Cohocton, Tonawanda, Naples, and Kendall. He also built a parsonage at Scottsville, and rebuilt the church at Perry. He was a man of scholarly habits and positive opinions, candid and conservative in dealing with the questions of the day, an original thinker, and of solid but unassuming piety. The thirty-one years of his ministry were unreservedly devoted to his work.

HORATIO MARSH RIPLEY was born December 12, 1812, and was born again in 1829. His early life was spent in the town of Livonia, N. Y., being his birthplace. The parents were Christians of the Calvinistic faith, but the preaching of the early itinerants won their hearts, and they became Methodists. There were six sons and two daughters in the family. Three of the sons became members of the Genesee Conference, and one daughter the wife of a Methodist preacher. Horatio Ripley joined the Genesee Conference in 1840, having served as a supply for the two preceding years. The charges he served during the twenty-eight years of his active ministry were Franklinville, Eden, Aurora, Ridgeway, Darien, Wilson, Somerset, Ridgeway again, Clarkson, Caryville, Spencerport, Carlton, Hulberton, Byron, Gainesville, Macnias, Sardinia, Franklinville again, and Wiscoy. Never in robust health, his strength was taxed to the utmost by the hardships of those early days, and in 1866 he was compelled to ask for a superannuated relation. From that time he had his home in Lima, maintaining his ministerial character with becoming dignity. His ministry was blessed with several extensive revivals in his early years. His last days were serene. After a lingering illness, due to the infirmities of age, he passed quietly on March 3, 1900, through the mists and shadows into the eternal day. He married in 1833 Mary M. Reynolds, who with a daughter still survives. His pastor at his funeral preached an appropriate sermon from the text, "The righteous hath hope in his death."

JOSHUA THOMSON was born in 1825, and was converted at eighteen. He joined the East Genesee Conference in 1859, and was successively stationed at Frenchtown, Cameron, Pultney, South Dansville, and other places. In 1869 he was severely injured and was never again able to perform active pastoral service. He took a supernumerary relation till 1872, when he permanently superannuated. Much of the time since his home was in Rochester. He endeared himself to all by his kindly bearing, fidelity to the interests of the Church, and sympathy with every good work. He was rarely absent from any religious service. He was an earnest student of the Scriptures, and within the last year published a very helpful synopsis of the gospel of Matthew. The young people were very fond of him, and he was very helpful to them. His only son, F. C. Thomson, is a member of the Genesee Conference and now pastor at Oakfield, N. Y. He was ill for two or three weeks before his death, but during all his moments of consciousness triumphed in redeeming grace. On February 3, 1900, he entered into rest.

HENRY BUTLIN was born in Great Brighton, England, March 24, 1820, and died in East Aurora, N. Y., December 9, 1899. His father's house was open to all ministers, and many religious services there conducted were seasons of revival. At a watch-night meeting there held he, at the age of fifteen years, through the efforts of a sister, was clearly converted. Soon afterward he became superintendent of a Sunday school. In 1842 he was licensed as a local preacher, and for two years preached in England. On April 8, 1844, he married Miss Dorcas Cornish, in St. Giles Church, Northampton. A little later in the same year he came to America. He received his education in the common schools of England. Though he did not have the educational advantages enjoyed by others, yet his studious habits made him a well-informed man. He united with Genesee Conference in 1850, and served the following charges: Wales, Bethany and Roanoke, East Aurora, Riverside, Williamsville, Darien, Akron, Springville, East Aurora again, Otto, Machias, Allegany, Portville, Springville again, Machias again, Whitesville, Andover, Birdsall, Dansville, and East Elba. During thirty-seven consecutive years he lost but one service on account of sickness. This fact he attributed to his habit of early rising. In 1886 he took a supernumerary relation, making his home in East Aurora, and supplying Holland charge one year, and Spring Brook charge about four years. He was a man of spotless reputation. As a preacher he was plain, practical, and entertaining. As a pastor he was both wise and kind. He had a peaceful and triumphant close of life. He was conscious to the last. And the last utterance was a note of praise.
